MORTGAGES.

NOTE —The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

IT looks at last as if the long-needed organization of the property owners of New York City would become an actual fact. A call has been issued to property owners to meet at the Knickerbocker Trust Co., No. 66 Broadway, on Wednesday, March 18th, at 3.30 P. M., and signed by such influential men as Mr. C. T. Barney, Chas. A. Peabody, Clarence H. Kelsey, Henry Morganthau, E. W. Coggeshall, Robert E. Dowling, W. F. Havemeyer, D. B. Ogden, W. H. Chesebrough, John D. Crimmins, and Edgar J. Levey. These gentlemen represent the largest interest and the progressive ideas that exist in the real estate field—the very element that is absent in existing organizations—and their support of the movement practically ensures it efficient management and a large measure of success. The need of such an organization, which has been so frequently insisted on by the Record and Guide, was never more patent than at the present time. The interests of property owners are more than ever menaced by the proposed legislation at Albany, and the real estate owners will need all the influence, all the commanding authority, and all the large resources of a thoroughly representative organization to save themselves from the grave dangers of the present situation. Property owners should and will rally to the support of the new movement.

SO far as the movements of money this week are known they point to another bad bank statement to-day, but there are circumstances which indicate that the loss of funds will not be as great as they appear by crude reckoning. There is the offsetting influence of liquidation of loans, the accommodations extended by foreign houses and an attitude of representative bankers and of officials that invite patience with and confidence in the situation. Under these circumstances the market strengthened toward the end of the week, and money became somewhat easier. It should also be stated that some loans were made by out of town parties and this, though the terms were attractive, contains an early promise of a return eastward movement. This should come in the ordinary course of things in a week or two, and high rates may expedite it. Be these matters as they may, it must not be forgotten that from this on all business and speculation will be tempered by the thoughts of what may occur in the fall, if the market is again subjected to a simultaneous commercial and agricultural demand as it was last year. This thought will keep loaners cautious, and make accommodations more or less dear, and, while temporary abundance of money may at intervals bring down call rates to much lower figures, its effect upon time rates will be very much less pronounced. There are no signs of a contraction of general business, and it is, of course, too soon to be figuring upon crops, but these are the two things upon which all calculations regarding the course of the money market for the next six months must be based. There is no fault to find with the immediate business outlook; the course of prices, particularly those of metals, shows this to be satisfactory. Business has to pass through the labor test usual to the spring of the year, and unfortunately in this respect the season does not open any too well.

LATEST advices from Europe record an improvement in the security markets. This is due to causes similar to those that are favorably affecting our own. There is an increasing activity in the great lines of manufactures and the stringency in money is abating. There was a drop in consols to figures corresponding to those made at the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war and this break was closely connected with sensational reports of the approach of something like a crisis in the affairs of Great Britain and Russia in Persia. Reports were that the Viceroy of India and the Commander-in-chief of the Indian forces had protested against any curtailment of defensive allowances, and it is not improbable that Lord Cranborne's statement regarding the advisability of an agreement with Russia as to their respective positions, may not have been intended to prevent the mischief that such reports were intended to create. The statement of the Secretary for Foreign Affairs may too have had the object of preparing the public for an admission as to Russia's claims which may be unpalatable, but as inevitable as were the movements of the latter in Northern China. Whatever their object, it is obvious that the adjustment of positions as related to Persia by these two powers is to be the next phase of the Eastern Question to bother folks' minds and move the security markets. Of immediate affairs, the most important is the closing of the British Government's fiscal year, and the bringing nearer budget propositions and the new loan. In the former it is expected there will be found a reduction of the income tax and that should improve the price of consols somewhat. It would be quite appropriate that the reduction of interest, which takes place next month, should be accompanied by relief from taxation, especially as the Government cannot but be concerned at the shrinking of the quotation while they have new demands to make upon the market. The revival of business will be assisted by the large appropriations for new naval construction, which will be additionally welcome, owing to the depressed state of the shipyards generally. Railroad and bank dividends both in Great Britain and on the Continent afford further evidence of the improvement that has been growing up in business for some little time past, and its continuation is guaranteed by advances in the prices of staple goods. Of interest to our readers is also a movement that has been inaugurated to effect an understanding as to prices and output among German manufacturers of Portland cement. This has been tried off and on for two years, but recently it was possible for the first time to get a representative meeting of producers. At this meeting the suggestion of fixing uniform prices was favorably received, but a proposition to limit the output of each concern raised opposition, finally a committee was appointed to go over the whole ground and find an acceptable basis for co-operation.

IN another column will be found a very complete summary of the changes in the tenement-house law, which are sanctioned by the Department, and embodied in the bill introduced into the Senate by Mr. Marshall. These changes represent the utmost concession which the Department believes that it can safely grant to the builders in the outlying boroughs; and it may be safely said that since the Governor and the Mayor agree with Mr. De Forest in this matter, this bill is the only remedial legislation which has a fair chance of passing. These proposed concessions, while falling a good deal short of what the Brooklyn builders have demanded, still represent a very real purpose to meet, so far as possible, any genuine grievances. The more important ones are concerned chiefly with the three and four story tenements, containing two families on a floor, the apartments running through from front to rear. The 8x14 court, which last winter was legalized for the three-story tenements, is under the proposed amendments authorized for the four-story tenements also. The court required for a single three-story tenement is not reduced, but, where two three-story tenements adjoin, the 8x14 court is deemed sufficient to ventilate them both, provided the houses do not occupy more than 65 per cent. of the lot. Furthermore three-story three-family frame buildings are permitted outside the fire limits. All these concessions may be approved, in that they enable builders to erect these classes of houses with more profit to themselves and yet without any threat to wholesome conditions of residence within the houses. But the Department goes further and makes even more liberal concessions with respect to fireproofing provisions. Bulkheads in new tenement houses less than five stories in height may be constructed of wood, if covered with metal on both sides. New four-story houses, which do not contain more than two families on a floor, may have wooden stairs, provided the backs or soffits of the stairs are covered with metal, and the floors of the stair halls are filled with deafening to a depth of five inches, and that such stair halls are inclosed with fireproof partitions, constructed on four-inch terra cotta blocks with angle iron construction. On the other hand the three-story tenements, which were allowed wooden stairs, floors and partitions by the amendments of last year, must under the proposed modifications be made semi-fireproof. Inside cellar stairs will be permitted in three and four story buildings, provided they are enclosed with brick walls, and furnished with fireproof doors. All these changes with the exceptions of those concerning bulkheads lower the existing standards with respect to four-story buildings, but raise them with respect to three-story buildings. Taken altogether they will enable the builder to save a good deal of money in the erection of the four-story tenement.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE regrets very much that the Tenement House Department has decided to acquiesce in any lowering in the standard of fireproofing four-story eight-family tenement houses. The Department is naturally interested more in obtaining wholesome living conditions for tenement house residents than it is in maintaining for its own sake the highest practicable standard of building construction, but the fight for slow-burning buildings, while not so lively, is as important in its way as the fight for wholesome conditions of residence, and in the long run it is business-like as well as humane not to recede a step in the necessary task of raising the standard of New York building construction to a higher and safer level—the level which it has reached in the great cities of Europe. The Department's general purpose deserves, however, the most cordial support. It wishes to bring into existence wholesome and habitable tenements, but it wishes also to place the building of wholesome and habitable tenements upon a thoroughly business-like basis. A law which established so high a standard that it made tenement-house construction unprofitable, and so permanently decreased the amount of tenement house accommodation placed on the market would be under existing conditions one of the worst of calamities. What Mr. De Forest claimed at the dinner of the Board of Real Estate Brokers was that in Manhattan at least the new-law tenement was both a good building "proposition" and a profitable investment. His claim is finding the fullest confirmation in the rate in which new tenements are now being projected and erected in Manhattan, and the object of the amendments is doubtless to place the building of new tenements in the Bronx and Brooklyn upon a similar commercial basis. It is because Mr. De Forest has so thoroughly understood that he must work with the builders and operators rather than against them, and because he has shown himself so ready to make all reasonable concessions that he has mollified opposition in the most important Borough of the city; and by so doing he has given tenement house reform a permanent and practicable foundation in the economy of New York building operations. In this respect his attitude compares favorably with that of some of the other reformers who can see nothing in the attempt of builders to put their business on a profitable basis but a "shining example of rapacity and greed." The people must be housed, and housed as cheaply as is compatible with wholesome conditions, and the one agency which can supply them with this "housing" are the builders and operators. If their work were stopped for a couple of years, the pressure of population on available accommodations would bring with it evils more distressing than those of the present day.

THE old Hall of Records has been at last entirely demolished. Its columns are, so it is stated, to be carried away to a city junk-yard, there to remain until some opportunity occurs to set them up again. May that opportunity be long postponed! For the columns in question belong to one of the worst periods of American architecture, and are as ugly in design as they are structurally incongruous with modern buildings. Let us be satisfied with the good work of destroying such a monument of bad architecture, unpleasant associations, and municipal corruption, and keep that destruction permanent. That the room of the old Hall of Records is much to be preferred to its company is sufficiently obvious from the most cursory inspection of its site. The sense of space, which its removal gives to the area east of the City Hall, is in marked contrast to its former blocked and confined appearance. It gives one an idea of what the result will be of destroying also the two old brownstone buildings which still interfere with the dignity and spaciousness of the Park and the approach to the new Hall of Records, and it even suggests the enormous advantage of the still more ambitious, but alas! less practicable projects of getting rid, also, of the Court House and the Central Post Office. No one can have any idea at present how charming, appropriate and dignified the situation of New York's beautiful City Hall would be in case its surrounding Park were freed from the ugly and objectionable buildings which shut it in and off on every side; and the time will assuredly come when public opinion will insist upon a restoration of the City Hall Park to early spaciousness and distinction. In the meantime, much can be done to carry on the improvement of the area to the east of the City Hall, which has been begun by the destruction of the old Hall of Records, and which should be continued not only by the demolition at the earliest possible time of the brownstone buildings, but also by the clearing of the block, partly for terminal purposes, on which the Staats-Zeitung Building is situated.

IN connection with the desirability above noted of clearing off the architectural debris in the City Hall Park, it is interesting to note that the preliminary steps are being taken toward the construction of a new municipal building. The Hall of Records Association has set the ball rolling, and the building will assuredly be undertaken, for both the Mayor and the Comptroller have expressed themselves in its favor. The main outlines of the plan are well settled in advance. The one possible site for the new building will be the Chamber street frontage between Broadway and the new Hall of Records; and in height and design it will have to harmonize with that very dignified building. The only important question that remains to be determined is the fate of the old Court House and the site of the new one. It is admitted that the old building is not only unsanitary and inconvenient, but that it is altogether too small for the purposes for which it is used. A mere renovation of the old structure will not suffice; and its enlargement has fortunately been finally abandoned. It has been proposed to find a new site uptown, but as the Bar Association has refused to sanction the proposal, it may be considered settled that the new court house and the new municipal building will both be placed on the land between the Hall of Records and Broadway. Doubtless the necessary legal steps will soon be taken to acquire title to this property, but before the building is begun, it should be clearly understood what the expenses of the proposed improvement will be. It has been assumed hitherto that the $300,000 a year which will be saved in rents downtown should be sufficient to pay interest on the borrowed money required for the site and the construction of the new building. A little calculation will show, however, that this is by no means the case. The assessed valuation of the land, which it is proposed to acquire, amounts to no less than $4,835,000, and it assuredly could not be purchased for less than $6,000,000. As to the cost of the new building it can be roughly estimated on the basis of the price per cubic foot of the new Hall of Records. Leaving out decorations and furnishing that building will cost $4,106,650, or 73⅓ cents for each of the 5,614,402 cubic feet in the building. The number of cubic feet in the new building, or buildings, would be about 12,300,000, which at the same price would make their cost not far from $9,000,000. Thus it may be safely predicted that the new buildings would cost not less than $15,000,000 all told. We fully believe that the new buildings would be worth this much to the city, but the fact that their cost will be so great should make the administration pause about undertaking the work immediately. The cost of building operations is excessively high at present. The whole trade is in a very congested condition. The city will necessarily be a large borrower for transit, school and dock improvements. By postponing the operation for some years until money can be more cheaply borrowed, and until the cost of building is lowered, the city would surely save a very substantial sum of money, as well as provide employment and work for laborers and their employers at a time when they will need it much more than they do now. It will be economical to take title to the land as soon as possible, but it will be even more economical to postpone building operations until easier times.

NOW that the bill intended to impose a tax upon conveyances of real estate has been abandoned, realty interests will be able to concentrate their efforts to procure the defeat of any bill that may be introduced to tax mortgages. They may find encouragement in the hesitation that seems to affect the people at Albany regarding their mortgage tax bill. A week ago it was expected that a bill providing for a tax of five mills would be introduced on Monday. Apparently support of the bill was not as strong as its framers wished and a reconsideration of the matter was in order. Then came the news of the Republican caucus, and of the proposition to make the tax on mortgages four mills instead of five and accompanying it with a bill to raise license fees fifty per cent. As either of these measures would raise the indirect income of the State to the amount required to meet its expenditures, the suspicion arises that they are now put forward as alternative measures, and that which on presentation appears likeliest to succeed-is to be pushed by the administration forces, so that if it is in anyway possible, the Governor may be able to redeem his promise to his friends up the State, to provide the State's income from indirect taxation. So far as the tax on mortgages is concerned, the difference in the rate is not likely to appease the opposition of real estate interests. The organizations representing those interests in this city have recently put themselves again on record as opposed to any tax on mortgages and there is not sufficient of a compromise in the latest proposition to make them recede from their position, especially as the undecided attitude of the Legislature makes it appear only a matter of perseverance to win. As to the additional liquor license fee, except as an alternative measure and to remove the reproach made against Gov. Odell that he sought to make permanent the burdens upon real estate which he originally set out to relieve, the expediency of this is very doubtful. It invites the agitation of a powerful interest at a period of the session when the members, anxious about their other occupations, their farms or other business which must soon call for their personal attention, are more desirous of closing the legislative program than of opening up new numbers, and it is, therefore, not easy to see where the support is to come from that is to put these tax propositions into law.

The Dinner of the Board of Real Estate Brokers.

IT is an interesting consequence of the very close association between real estate and questions of municipal and state policy that the discussion which follows a dinner of the Board of Real Estate Brokers always assumes an exceedingly serious character. Other trade associations when they assemble at some annual festivity, make a practice, as a rule, of unbending, and, if they discuss trade matters at all, do so rather in a humorous and irresponsible spirit. But the real estate brokers represent gentlemen, whose interests are so closely connected with all the important policies of the municipal and state governments, and are so frequently threatened by new administrative or legislative schemes that the speeches after their annual dinners are exceedingly serious affairs. They naturally turn chiefly upon the particular way in which their propertied interests are being relieved or punished at the time of assemblage, and the conference is all the more important, because it is almost the only occasion in the course of the year in which large numbers of representative real estate men meet together partly for the purpose of talking over their interests.

The matter uppermost in the minds of most of the speakers was that of the full assessment of real estate. Mr. Lawson Purdy and Mr. James L. Wells, devoted practically the whole of their addresses to defences of the administration policy in this respect, and if we may judge by the manner in which these speeches were received, the majority of real estate brokers, whatever their early opinions may have been, are prepared now to acquiesce in that policy. Both Mr. Purdy and Mr. Wells defended it on the ground chiefly that it very much helped the chances of getting a more equitable assessment, just because the market value of real estate is necessarily the standard of value, and the attempt to assess it at any percentage of that value, being illegal and arbitrary, necessarily produces inequalities. This is unquestionably true, and there can be no doubt that property-owners are more likely to secure a uniform level of real estate assessments in the future than they have had in the past, and that in addition the publication of the assessment lists will do a great deal to bring about uniformity. The separation of the land and value of a parcel from its total value is also another step in the direction of a scientific and accurate assessment list, but it has, as we have already pointed out, the serious disadvantage of complicating and rendering more difficult the work of a set of men, whose present work is, as President Wells has said, already strains their time and ability. It is the general opinion of real estate brokers and operators, whose business leads them to scan the tax lists most closely, that the work of equalization will never be thoroughly done until a board of assessment review is established within the office to check and assist the Deputy Assessors in their work.

The effect of the growth of real estate corporations upon the New York real estate market, and upon the interests of brokers also bulked large in several of the speeches made. President Francis E. Ward referred in his opening address to the growing importance of these corporations, and to the gradually increasing unit of building and ownership. Mr. Robert Dowling followed soon after with what may be regarded as an official expression of the purposes and beliefs, by which the policy of the larger real estate corporations is inspired. Mr. Dowling in effect declared that the development of these corporations was still in its earliest stages. Manhattan was now the centre of a population, including Essex and Hudson counties of New Jersey, of about 4,500,000. Existing values of real estate are adjusted to the business opportunities and earnings that this number of people can give. In twenty-five years the present population will almost have doubled, and the business opportunities which they create will have correspondingly increased. Indeed they will have increased at even a higher ratio, because New York will have become by that time even more than it is now the business centre of the whole country. Consequently Mr. Dowling confidently predicts that the average value of the really gilt-edged Manhattan realty will be nearer $500 than $250 per square foot, that some or one of the companies operating in this real estate will possess assets as large as those of the bigget life insurance companies at the preent time, and that the securities of these companies will be widely distributed among thousands of small holders.

This expression of opinion is extremely interesting. It is not that the opinions themselves are very original, for, to go no further the Record and Guide has frequently made very much the same predictions, on very much the same grounds; but it is nevertheless interesting to hear one of the most successful operators in New York real estate, the Vice-President of the biggest of all the realty and construction companies, state so explicitly and so much as a matter of personal conviction, his view of the fundamental conditions which make for high and ever higher values. It is an indication of a truth, which has received more ample illustration in this country than in any other —the truth, viz., that a little imagination and a little faith are as useful to a business man as they are to a clergyman, or a man of letters. The difference between a man who makes a good deal of money and a man who makes only a little money is the difference a man who does unite good business judgment with thorough belief in a large idea and one who does not. The good business judgment is in either case indispensable to success, but when sound judgment and methods are united with the ability to take large views, we have the combination that lies behind the stupendous achievements and collosal fortunes of American business leaders. There can be no doubt that the larger real estate companies of New York have behind them an idea as comprehensive, as fruitful, and as sound as the idea which lies behind railway consolidation. It is possible that some of the present companies, like some of the big railway consolidations, will have to endure certain vicissitudes before they become thoroughly well established in public confidence; but provided their operations continue to be moderated by sound methods and good judgment, their future is just as secure as the future of New York itself. They have been organized chiefly for the purpose of keeping continually active and alive the business opportunities that lie hidden in high-class Manhattan land, and they will grow just as long as New York grows, and they are wisely and safely managed.

ON the general question of taxation there is no doubt that further time should be given for its discussion and meantime, that no specific measures should be passed, which would have a tendency to make results of that discussion abortive. The question is one that is plainly and decidedly before the public. It is occupying the thoughts and attention of many able men and the views brought out must before very long crystallize into an expression of opinion as to the direction that tax legislation ought to take. Most of the great business associations have committees especially selected to consider this question, who issue illuminating reports from time to time. One of these reports was the very able document adopted by the Bar Association this week, and as a consequence of which the Association approved the policy of providing for separate statements of values of lands and improvements in assessment of real estate, and for the publication of the annual record of the assessed valuation of real estate in the City of New York; and, also endorsed the Chamber of Commerce proposals for the apportionment of State taxes and for local option in taxation. This action of the Bar Association is referred to only as an illustration of what is going on and not as an endorsement of its action. Every one of the matters covered by their resolution deserves separate discussion, which would doubtless result in disclosing a variety of opinions. For the present it is sufficient to insist that the discussion should proceed and that the Legislature should not do anything which would have either a tendency to check it, or place difficulties in the way of attaining its conclusions when they shall be reached. As matters stand to-day, the collection of taxes is the cause of injustice in many directions. It is unjust that real property should bear eighty per cent. of the public burdens, as is the case in this State to-day; it is unjust that the few who have to pay upon personal property should pay in the proportions that they do; it is unjust that corporations existing under and living upon the public favor should pay as little as they do, or that some should pay and some not. This list of evils might be extended, and it is unnecessary that the Legislature should now enlarge them by adding to a tax upon the fee of real estate a further tax on that part of it that is represented by borrowed capital, not only thereby creating a duplicate tax, but also depriving the subject of its prospects for ever obtaining relief, which might otherwise come from wise deliberation and a threshing out of the whole question. In this question is also involved the right of the State to obtain its income from indirect taxation, upon which opinion is by no means decided, and it may as well be settled with the other matters involved.

The Readjustment of the Sinking Fund and Its Consequences.

THE bill readjusting the Sinking Fund payments has passed both houses of the Legislature, and will doubtless be promptly signed by the Governor. It has met practically with no opposition. Never was an important financial reform consummated with less friction. The credit for it rests not with any one member of the administration, but with several of its leading members, and with one gentleman who was connected with the last administration. It was Mr. Edgar J. Levey, formerly Deputy Comptroller, now President of the Title Insurance Company, who first called attention to the fact that New York City was locking up in the Sinking Fund over $8,000,000 a year more than was necessary to extinguish the debt at its maturity. Mayor Low had the good sense to discern what an excellent opportunity was offered by this fact, both to reduce taxation, and to provide money for necessary improvements, and in his first message he called attention to the subject, and stated that the Finance Department would do its best to propose some acceptable remedial measure. The Finance Department proved equal to the emergency, and in the person of Deputy Comptroller Stevenson suggested the device of issuing a new class of bonds which could be purchased by the Sinking Fund excess, and the proceeds of which could be used to reduce taxation. Finally Comptroller Grout did a great deal to popularize the reform by skillfully obtaining approving opinions both from eminent lawyers and financiers, and by his full and clear explanations of the need of revision and its results.

It is estimated that the immediate addition from the revenues of the city from this source will be some $8,500,000, and the returns from the new source of income may be expected to increase regularly hereafter until eventually they will reach several million dollars more. Consequently, other things being equal, there will be a tax-rate in Manhattan for next year of 1.45, and a decrease of some ten per cent. in the average tax bill; and all this will be clear gain to the property-owner. Rents are being strongly held all over the city, and in many cases advanced; the taxpayer can simply put the saving in his pocket. The investment value of real estate in the Greater New York, provided taxes are not otherwise increased, should be expanded in consequence of this saving as much as $200,000,000. It should, indeed, help very considerably to give real property a better investment standing than it has had at any time during the past six years or more, for a decrease of ten per cent. in taxes means an increase almost of one per cent. in an owner's return upon his capital. The administration could not ask for a better record than this on which to appeal to its constituency.

These results are sure to be accomplished, provided only the franchise tax is not tampered with. Unfortunately this element in the calculation remains undetermined. The Governor is awaiting the decision of the Court of Appeals, and has not stated whether he does or does not propose to insist on his substitute for the franchise tax. There are some indications, such, for instance, as his intention to press the proposed mortgage tax and increase of licenses, that he is seeking other methods of raising state revenues, and may leave the franchise tax to be settled by the Court of Appeals, and by whatever additional legislation which the decision of that court necessitates for the collection of the tax. If it is true that he has abandoned his opposition to the franchise tax, it will mean that this tax can be made even a larger revenue producer, so far as New York is concerned, than it has promised to become in the past. For the local assessors will undoubtedly be able to raise the franchise valuations. On the other hand, if the Court of Appeals should, by any chance, invalidate the constitutionality of the franchise tax, or if the Governor should refuse to give the power of assessing the franchise valuations to the local assessors, probably fifty per cent. of the profit, which promises to accrue to the taxpayers on account of the readjustment of the Sinking Fund, would be lost. Such is the way in which the matter stands at present; and the property-owners of the city should undoubtedly do everything in their power to keep the franchise valuations upon the tax books, for they can be made a most valuable and a constantly increasing source of local revenue.

On the whole it must be admitted that real estate will soon be getting more from the city government, and paying less for it than at any time since consolidation. Everyone of the large number of improvements, which are now underway, will be a direct benefit to real estate. The new Subways and Bridges will be clear gain to the propertied interest. They may in the beginning tend to equalize the values of property in certain residence districts to the disadvantage of Manhattan, but this effect will be only temporary, for in the end they will make Manhattan real estate much more valuable for many business purposes. In the same way the new docks, schools, municipal buildings and baths, will directly and indirectly increase the value of land. All these improvements will keep the workingmen well employed for many years to come. They will make residence in Manhattan pleasanter and more convenient, more desirable from every point of view, and consequently worth more to the resident. Every one of them occupies a little more of the limited space on Manhattan Island, and so far augments the value of the remainder. In the mass they will provide an abundance of money-making opportunities both for the real estate owner and the builder; and the city administration will be in large measure responsible for these opportunities. Almost for the first time in the history of New York, its government is preparing to aid rather than impede local growth in business and population; and it is doing so, not in an extravagant and reckless way, but with prudent foresight as to the profitable expenditure of the taxpayer's money. It may be confidently said that the astonishing developments of the past few years are in truth only a slight indication of what may be expected after all these improvements are actually completed and yielding results; and it should be added that scarcely any of them could have been undertaken had it not been for the administration policy of full real estate assessments and Sinking Fund readjustment.

BY many the continued decline in the price of consols is looked upon as a matter requiring attention. It is so protracted as to be unexplainable by the temporary movements and conditions of the money market, because ease in money has not been accompanied by recovery in the price of this security to the extent that we have been previously accustomed to see. It is stated by the British financial press that investors have been realizing in anticipation of the reduction of the interest to 2½% in April in order to put their money into securities that will make better returns. It is also stated that there has been realizing from Paris in fear that the reduced bond will have to pay a one per cent. tax, notwithstanding that the bonds already out have paid such tax. But as a matter of fact, all European government bonds have been and are more or less depressed with the exception of those of higher denominations than 3%, such as Spanish 4s, whose rise to 91 was remarked recently The circumstances suggest the question whether the investor is quite as anxious for safety of principal and as regardless of return as he once was. The commercial demand for money is so general and the inducements for placing it in that and other directions so great, that it is really not surprising that the owner shows indifference to low-rate bonds, in spite of their undoubted attractions in the way of security, and is regarding favorably others that pay more, and besides afford all the security required for practical purposes. If this correctly reflects the attitude of investors, the public borrowing may have to be done on a different basis of values for money or applications to the market postponed indefinitely in the hope that sooner or later better terms can be made than would now be possible. The act under which consols are to be reduced was passed in 1887, we believe, and the first steps were not only very successful, but the price of the security was ten years later as high as 114. But this interval was one of large accumulations of idle money at the financial centres and low rates, at times as low as ⅝ of one per cent. on call. Since that time industrial and commercial development throughout the whole civilized world has drawn away those accumulations, and rates have been relatively high without interruption, so that capital could be employed more profitably in the open market than when in the securities whose edges are most highly gilded. In this connection it is especially notable that the depression of business that followed the European boom of the late '90s, and which now appears to be passing away, did not reproduce the monetary conditions, the chief feature of which was extreme ease, that prevailed throughout the last previous decline in commercial and industrial activity. But that new conditions intervened money would have been easy, and high-class investment issues have had their advance before now when, not only is the United States offering paying use, for every dollar that can be coaxed into business, but Europe is reviving from the depression from which she has been suffering for three or four years, and will, therefore, require further capital. The situation is a highly interesting one, not only in its bearing upon the prices of low return gilt-edged securities, but also upon the ability of the world's capital to meet the present and prospective extended demand.

The Theory of Urban Land Values.

AN ATTEMPT TO SET FORTH THE PRINCIPLES AND CONDITIONS THAT DETERMINE THE PRICE OF CITY REAL ESTATE.

CHAPTER IX.—GROSS AND NET RENTS.

By Richard M. Hurd, President of the Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance Company.

While gross rents are fixed by competition, the question arises how do bidders determine what they can pay? The basis differs radically between business property which earns income for the occupant as well as the owner, and residence property, which for the occupant consumes income only.

The gross rents of business property are gauged from the economic standpoint, these being in the long run the normal proportion of what the property can earn for the tenant. The proportion of gross receipts which a shopkeeper pays as rent varies according to his ability as a tradesman, the condition of his business, and the character of the location, a fair average being from 20% to 40%. The better the location for retail trade the higher the proportion of receipts paid for rent. For retail trade the location and the consequent advertising perform the vital function of selling the goods, and the shopkeeper can largely devote his energies to selecting what the people want. Similarly, though in a less marked way, prominent office buildings help to advertise the business of their tenants. On the other hand, mercantile property not on traffic streets, wholesalers, etc., pay but a small proportion of their receipts as rent, the saving, however, going to the hire of drummers to sell goods.

The gross rents of residences represent the proportion of income which various classes can afford to pay for house rent. While the return for such expenditure is chiefly the satisfaction of suitable surroundings, social ambition influences all classes to live in the best neighborhoods within their reach. The proportion of rent to income varies from 15% or 20% among the wealthy, up to 25% or 35% among tenement dwellers. Taking as gross rents the amounts actually received and not the full rental value, from which an allowanace for vacancies must be made, we observe first the great difference in the proportion of operating expenses according to the class of property, varying from 10% for one or two story brick store buildings, up to 50% for office buildings or apartment houses.

Explaining this difference is the fact that in office buildings and apartment houses, from 20% to 25% of the rent represents the payment for services, such as light, heat, elevator, janitors, cleaning, &c. If from gross rentals all service charges are deducted, the other charges, taxes, insurance, repairs and rent collecting, approximate in percentage quite closely in all classes of property.

Average taxes vary somewhat in different cities. Taxes on individual properties in the same city vary more sharply owing to irregular assessing by tax officials. Figuring the average of a large number of American cities, taxes range from 1¼% to 1½% of actual value, the chief exceptions being Washington, 6-10%, where the U. S. government pays half the taxes, and San Francisco, 8-10% which has no bonded debt. The chief errors of assessors come from their over-estimate of external appearances and from the habit of following former assessment rolls, so that quite uniformly property which has been valuable but which is deteriorating is assessed higher than property in the line of growth and yielding larger rents.

The cost of insurance is usually so slight that it can be disregarded in making up the budget of annual expenses. Rates range from .15c. to .30c. per $100 per annum for first-class risks in the larger cities, .50c. to .75c. per $100 on first-class risks in the smaller cities, $1.00 per $100 on stores and office buildings in the smaller cities, and so on up.

Leases vary in their provisions as to payment for repairs by landlord and tenant, but if paid by the tenant the rent is proportionately reduced. Average repairs vary from one-half of 1% of the value of the building per annum in the case of the highest type of fireproof buildings, 1% for ordinary mercantile buildings, 2% for older property or that of cheaper construction, 3% to 4% for old tenements, and so on up in proportion to the age, character of construction, and lack of care of the buildings.

The cost of rent collecting averages from 2½% to 3% of the rent receipts in the larger cities, according to the class of property, and about 5% in the smaller cities, according to the class of property. Owners who are competent to manage real estate may save agents commissions by so doing, but instances are not uncommon, especially as to large business property, where owners managing their own property lose their time and from 20% to 30% of the income which an expert rental agent could have obtained.

An estimated scale of proportion of total operating expenses and net rents would be as follows, the cost of services where rendered, as in office buildings, apartments and some tenements, being included in expenses:

| | Expenses. | Net rents. |
|---|---|---|
| Low retail or wholesale buildings | 10-25% | 90-75% |
| Residences | 20-30% | 80-70% |
| Non-elevator office buildings | 25-35% | 75-65% |
| Tenements, non-elevator and elevator | 25-45% | 75-55% |
| Elevator apartments | 40-55% | 60-45% |
| Fireproof office buildings | 40-55% | 60-45% |

It is clear that the lower the cost of the building in proportion to the value of the land, the nearer the income approaches to pure ground rent, against which the sole charge is taxes. On the other hand, the more expensive the building the higher the maintenance cost, owing both to the greater number of services rendered and to the higher standard of accommodation. Since the operating expenses of a building, whether fully or only partly occupied, vary but slightly, the larger the proportion of expenses to gross rentals the more marked will be the rise or fall of net rentals as gross rentals fluctuate. Ordinarily, expensive office buildings are properly located, the chief errors being in the erection of expensive buildings in small cities, or in poor locations in larger cities. When hard times cause a sharp drop in rents in the smaller cities, instances have been known of the upper floors of such buildings not earning sufficient rent to pay for the mere services rendered, so that it would be better for owners to close the buildings above the ground floor. Such conditions have occurred even while the ground floor stores are in active demand. The danger to owners of heavy fixed charges is shown in the following table:

| With percentage of expenses to gross inc.: | If gross rents rise or fall | Then net rents rise or fall. | If gross rents rise or fall | Then net rents rise or fall. | If gross rents rise or fall | Then net rents rise or fall. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 10% | 20% | 22% | 40% | 44% | 60% | 66% |
| 20% | 20% | 25% | 40% | 50% | 60% | 75% |
| 30% | 20% | 29% | 40% | 56% | 60% | 85% |
| 40% | 20% | 33% | 40% | 66% | 60% | 100% |
| 50% | 20% | 40% | 40% | 80% | 60% | 120% |
| 60% | 20% | 50% | 40% | 100% | 60% | 150% |

The next charge against gross rents is for interest on capital invested in the building, this being figured at the same rate as the capitalization of the ground rent, after an allowance for depreciation has been made.

The final residuum constitutes the economic or ground rent, which represents the competitive premium paid for location. Where there is no residuum of ground rent in city land it does not follow that the land has no value, but usually that the improvements are not suitable, so that the value must be estimated under a different utilization. If the improvement is a suitable one, absence of ground rent may be due to temporary drop in rentals or bad management, all city land normally yielding some ground rent.

With an established economic rent, the sole remaining factor to transform this into intrinsic value is the rate of capitalization. As capitalization rates vary with securities, Government bonds selling below a 2% basis, railroad bonds and stocks on a 3½% to 5% basis, and industrials on a 7% to 10% basis, so the rates of capitalization of urban rents vary from 4% for the highest class property in the largest cities, to 5% and 6% for second-class property in the same cities, or for first-class property in smaller cities, 7%, 8% and 10% for tenements in the largest cities, and 12% to 15% for temporary utilizations or disreputable purposes in the smaller cities. The great power of capitalization rates on values is due to the fact that for every change of 1% in the rate of capitalization, values may change from twelve to twenty-five times the difference in interest. For example, a property with a net income of $10,000 would sell on an 8% basis at $125,000, on a 6% basis at $166,000, and on a 4% basis at $250,000. The lower the capitalization rate the greater the effect of any change of values: For example, a fall from 8% to 7% adds but 14% to the value of the property, while a fall from 5% to 4% adds 25% to the value of the property. Moreover, as large interest rates apply to the largest properties all further fractional lowering of low interest rates results in an enormous mass of values. The marked difference between capitalization rates of high class and low class property in the same city indicates the large number of people who desire to own high class property, and the few who desire to own low class property. The reason for such preference is that with high class property, rents are more stable and easily collected, the property is more quickly and certainly convertible, it can be mortgaged at a lower rate of interest and for a larger percentage of value, the buildings depreciate much less rapidly and the prospects of increase in value are better.

That land, even of the highest type and in the largest cities, is a slow asset, is due to a number of causes, among them being that land is not easily passed from hand to hand as are stocks and bonds, land involves personal or directly deputed management, where stocks and bonds do not, there is no exchange with daily quotations giving the values of land, as with stocks and bonds; and finally the value of land is influenced by many complex changing factors, whose effects are differently estimated by different people. Because land is a slow asset, convertibility, or certainty and speed in selling it, produces a high premium for the best property by lowering its capitalization rate.

Real Estate Situation.

Some Changes in Real Estate Operations.

The present activity is very extraordinary, and appears to be increasing rather than diminishing. There have been recorded this year already some 230 more conveyances in Manhattan than there were recorded during the corresponding year of 1902—a year which largely surpassed all previous years. But of this increase almost twenty-five per cent. took place during the first week in March, and if one may judge by the current announcements, the proportion of increase will be even larger during the first week in April. In truth under existing conditions the demand for all kinds of real estate is too large and too strong to be denied. It is not daunted by any of the usual obstacles. The high prices of building and land do not stop it, although they doubtless modify its direction; and there is no reason why they should. The majority of pieces of Manhattan real estate are doubtless returning a better income at the present time than at any time for years past. New business buildings are filled up very soon after they are erected, the demand for good residences does not fail; and most wonderful of all the proportion of vacancies in West Side and Harlem flats has very much diminished. The great evil of former years, viz., the taking of tenants rent free for a while, in order to fill up the buildings, no longer prevails because it is no longer necessary. Consequently the building of new tenement and apartment accommodations is beginning again on a very large scale. They are the only class of building operations which are showing a substantial increase over the figures of last year, and every week a large number of new projects are announced. We have no doubt that the improved electric service of the Manhattan elevated trains has also contributed to the happier conditions which are making the West Side and Harlem property-owner easier and more prosperous.

It looks, also, as if the small man was coming in for a larger share of this prosperity. For the last two years the real estate market has been remarkable chiefly for the magnitude of the individual operations which it offered. It has been a season of large speculative transactions, which called for huge improvements, and which advanced chiefly the price of real estate on the main avenues and streets. But so far the year 1903 has been less remarkable in this respect. Prices have indeed continued to advance on 5th Ave., lower Broadway, 34th and 42d Sts, and there are many notable improvements foreshadowed, but still these spectacular transactions have not been bulking so large as formerly. They are swallowed up in the great mass of smaller business. A remarkable illustration of this may be discovered in the smaller average cost of each building projected in Manhattan so far in 1903. Last year the average cost of a building erected on the island was just a little less than $100,000, for the first 10 weeks of 1903, it is only a little more than $57,000. It is very probable that this average will be increased later, because the larger coming improvements have not appeared as yet in the records, but still there is a manifest tendency toward the erection of smaller business and residence buildings, and away from the predominance of the very big building project. This is only natural, because the increased cost of buildings is felt much more severely in large fireproof structures than it is in smaller semi-fireproof ones. Then, too, the money market conditions and the threatened taxation of mortgages discourage the large speculator more than they do the small investor or business man.

WE observe with gratification that the opposition to the route of Mr. Parson's west side extension south of 42d St. is growing. At the meeting of the Rapid Transit Commissioners last Thursday, the dry-goods men along the line of Wooster and Church Sts. entered a vigorous protest against the proposed route, and the Evening Post has added the weight of its opposition to this part of Mr. Parson's plan. More than two tracks south of 42d St. are certainly needed, and Seventh Ave. has many advantages for the purpose over Broadway. The route south of 14th St. is the difficult part of the matter, but if Hudson St. is too far west and the other streets too narrow, a street improvement west of Broadway, similar to the widening of Elm St., which has often been breached before, is worth consideration.

The Dinner of the Board of Real Estate Brokers.

Last Saturday evening, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, was held the seventh annual dinner of the Board of Real Estate Brokers; and it proved to be perhaps the most successful reunion which the Board has ever had. Some two hundred members and their guests were present, the dinner was an excellent one, and was promptly served; the souvenirs in particular caused much amusement; they were imitations of city lots, each bearing the legend:

For Sale.

At about 9.15 President Francis E. Ward rose to make his opening speech. After a description of the work of the Board during the past year, a statement of the attitude which its committee on legislation had taken in reference to some of the proposed bills, and after making a particularly vigorous protest against the threatened mortgage tax, Mr. Ward went on to say: "We are citizens of no mean city. The rebuilding of the metropolis is being undertaken on a new scale—a new unit of measure. In the past unit of building was the city lot. A tenement erected on a lot was a good investment for the capitalist, a bank or corporation was well housed and established with dignity upon a corner lot.

"A merchant, a tradesman, who owned his store, was well content with what now seems the meagre measurement of 25x100. Theatres, concert halls, churches alone covered two, three, four lots, while exceptional hotels, two or three of them, public buildings, and the stores of Stewart, the merchant prince, alone covered a block front.

"Slow was the progress of the merchant prince, as viewed today, marvelously rapid it appeared then, as year by year he acquired piecemeal the entire block at Broadway and 10th st, but when that block was included in one huge building, then was the unit of building made manifest for the greater New York. An entire block is now that unit.

"When John N. Stearns erected the Tower building, more than two decades ago, the seed was sown which has blossomed in the colossal structures of to-day. The dazzling height of the clock platform in Trinity's spire, where the city-bred youth took his country cousin, or some other fellow's sister, to view the harbor, is now scarce above the foundation portion whence arise the superstructures of the neighboring buildings, and the spire itself —the old landmark on entering "The Narrows"—is completely hidden, deep buried amid the hill of surrounding roof tops. The clock holds its hands before its face in utter humiliation at its long-lost glory."

The next speaker was Mr. Lawson Purdy, Secretary of the New York Tax Reform Association, who devoted his time almost exclusively to a justification of the assessment of real estate at the market value. He was followed by Mr. Charles O. Maas, who made a humorous address, and kept his hearers in a lively state of amusement, as long as he remained speaking.

Mr. Robert E. Dowling, vice-president of the United States Realty and Construction Co., succeeded Mr. Maas, and explained to his listeners what the attitude of realty companies was toward brokers; and protested against the taxation of mortgages and the assessment of real estate at its full value. Going back to the time when the island of Manhattan was sold by the Indians for $24, he stated that it is not possible to find anything in the United States that the people had lost less money in than in the real estate of New York City. The time was coming, he said, when this city would have a population of 10,000,000 people within a radius of twenty miles from the City Hall. He spoke of the present price that real estate in the financial district was bringing, and prophesied that within fifteen years land in that district would sell as high as $500 a front foot.

Tax Commissioner James L. Wells spoke next. He said that he was not present to defend the Tax Department, as it needed no defense. He called attention to the meagre salary given deputies for the large amount of work which they did, and said that if they were paid $10,000 a. year, as suggested by the previous speaker, a loud protest would be heard from the real estate broker over the large increase in the budget. He defended his own position by stating that he had to act according to the law, and continued: "Taxation at the market value of the property is here, and it has come to stay. I believe that it is the first step toward equalizing taxation."

Mr. Robert W. de Forest followed with a half-humorous, half-serious explanation of the work of the Tenement House Department. He particularly insisted upon the point that the new-law tenement had proved to be excellent business investments, and that it was the particular wish of the tenement house reformers to place the whole matter of improved tenement construction upon a business-like basis.

The last speaker was Mr. Thomas L. Feitner. The former head of the tax department entered into a very close examination of the financial policy of the city since consolidation. His general position was that the increased burden of taxation which Manhattan had been obliged to bear was due to saddling upon that borough of the debts and responsibilities of Queens and Brooklyn. Mr. Feitner also took occasion to criticise the assessment and Sinking Fund policies of the present administration. In all these criticisms he showed the thorough grasp upon the details and principles of municipal finance which have in the past made him such a valuable city official.

Public Hearing on Ordinances.

The Committee on Buildings of the Board of Aldermen will hold a public hearing on Thursday, March 26th, at 2 o'clock, in relation to the following matters before the committee:

First: An ordinance to amend Sections 48 and 97 of the Building Code in relation to the construction of light, vent and dumb-waiter shafts.

Second: A petition from property owners, requesting an amendment to Section 65 of the Building Code in relation to the construction of furnace flues.

Third: An ordinance to limit the height of buildings in the City of New York to one hundred and fifty feet.

Fourth: An ordinance to amend Section 4 of the Building Code in relation to the filing of statements, specifications and plans, and the revocation and cancellation of permits and approvals.

Fifth: An ordinance to amend Section 144 of the Building Code in regard to the construction of fences, signs, billboards and sky-signs.

Sixth: An ordinance to amend Section 102 of the Building Code in relation to stand-pipes and pumps, allowing the use of electric pumps.

Tenement House Law Changes.

PROPOSED BY TENEMENT HOUSE DEPARTMENT BILL OF 1903.

(Important changes are marked with a *.)

FIRE ESCAPES.—Several minor changes in this section are made so as to make the provisions more definite, and also so as to permit a lighter form of fire-escape upon a wooden building, the present fire-escapes having been found to be too heavy for a wooden structure.

*BULKHEADS.—It is proposed to permit a bulkhead in a new tenement house less than five stories in height to be constructed of wood and covered with metal on both sides. The reason for having a fireproof bulkhead is to prevent sparks from a fire in some adjoining building burning out the bulkhead and spreading through the halls and stairs of the house and thus destroying the house. If such a bulkhead is covered with metal on both the outside and the inside it would seem to be, in a building where there are no more than eight families, a sufficient protection against fire.

*STAIR HALLS.—It is proposed to permit in new four-story houses which do not contain more than two families on a floor, or eight families in the whole house, wooden stairs, provided the backs or soffits of the stairs are covered with metal, and the floors of the stair halls are filled in with cement deafening to a depth of five inches, and that such stair halls are enclosed with fireproof partitions constructed on four-inch terra cotta blocks with angle iron construction.

The present law requires in buildings of this class fireproof stair halls; that is, iron or stone stairs, iron beams in the halls with fireproof floors, and the entire stair hall enclosed with brick walls.

This involves an additional expense of about $1,000 in the cost of construction, and it is proposed to provide for a method of semi-fireproof construction which, in the opinion of many persons, will be adequate for a house of this type.

In buildings over four stories, or in any building which has more than two families on a floor, the halls and stairs must be entirely fireproof, and be enclosed with brick walls, as at present.

In three-story buildings, the law was amended last year to permit wooden stairs and wooden floors, and to have the stair halls enclosed with ordinary wooden stud partitions. This change went too far, and it is now proposed to require that even in three-story buildings there shall be semi-fireproof construction. That is, the soffits of the stairs shall be metal-lathed, the floors of the stair halls shall have the space between the beams filled in with cement, deafening to a depth of five inches, and the wooden stud partitions enclosing the stair halls shall be covered with metal lath on both sides and filled in between the studs with incombustible material.

*CELLAR STAIRS.—The law was amended last year to permit in new three-story buildings inside cellar stairs. It is now proposed to extend this provision to four-story buildings, provided there are not more than two families on any floor, or eight families in the house. It is felt that in a building of this type with this limited number of families the danger from inside cellar stairs is not so great as in the large tenement house occupied by more people. The inside stairs, however, are only to be permitted where they are enclosed with brick walls and provided with fireproof doors at both the top and the bottom. This is a change in the present law as respects three-story houses, as there is no provision that such stairs in three-story houses shall be enclosed with brick walls and fireproof doors. It is thought that this provision is necessary so as to give the tenants all the protection possible without subjecting builders to unnecessary expense.

WOODEN TENEMENT HOUSES.—It is proposed to permit in outlying districts of the city, that is, chiefly in the Bronx, Queens and Richmond, and in certain parts of Brooklyn, the erection of three-story wooden houses outside of the fire limits, with not more than one family on a floor, or three families in all.

At the present time, a wooden tenement house with two families on each floor, or four families in all, may be erected. It is thought that the three-story house, with only one family on a floor, is a desirable type of house to encourage in the outlying sections, and that such houses should be permitted to be erected, provided, of course, it has proper fire-escapes and that certain other simple precautions are taken in its construction.

It is only fair to state that the Building Code, which governed this subject from 1899 to 1901, permitted the erection of such three-story houses in the outlying sections, and even permitted them to be occupied by as many as six families, or two families on each floor. This, in the judgment of the Tenement House Department, should not be permitted, but the Department thinks that the three-story house with only one family on a floor may be safely encouraged if frame tenements are to be permitted at all.

SCUTTLES, BULKHEADS, LADDERS AND STAIRS.—Certain changes are proposed in regard to the section governing scuttles and bulkheads, chiefly correcting the language of the section.

A number of new provisions, however, are added to this section: One provides that no scuttle shall be located in a closet or a room, and that access through the scuttle to the roof must be direct and uninterrupted. Also that, when necessary, scuttles shall be hinged so as to readily open. The Department finds that in a number of cases the only means of reaching the roof is by means of a ladder which is located in a closet which is locked up, or in a room which is kept locked. This means that the scuttle as a means of egress in case of fire is useless to the tenants of the building.

STAIRWAYS.—It is proposed to require that if any new stairs are constructed in a tenement house, leading directly from the first floor to the cellar, such stairs shall be enclosed with brick walls and provided with fireproof doors at the top and the bottom. The law does not state, at the present time, how such stairs shall be enclosed, and it is important that it should so state, as the fire risk in an existing building should not be increased.

It is also proposed to prohibit the diminution in width of existing halls and stairs beyond the minimum width of new halls and stairs. It is obvious that a hall or stairs in an old tenement house should not be so narrowed as to render it insufficient as a means of egress in case of fire.

WOODEN BUILDINGS WITHIN THE FIRE LIMITS.—The present law forbids the construction on the same lot with a tenement house of any wooden building, inside the fire limits. It fails to prohibit, however, the alteration or extension of an existing wooden building on the same lot with a tenement house. It is obvious that this should not be permitted, as the fire risk should not be increased. There are, however, many wooden tenement houses within the fire limits which are now provided with school sinks, which will have to be removed and water closets provided in the houses. A small extension to such wooden tenement houses for the purpose of a water-closet should be permitted, as it would be unreasonable to require such a brick extension to a wooden building.

COMBUSTIBLE MATERIALS.—The present law prohibits the storage of certain combustible materials in a tenement house or on the premises. It has been felt advisable to make the language of this section more clear, and to add one or two kinds of combustible materials to those mentioned in the act.

PERCENTAGE OF LOT.—It is proposed to permit in three-story and four-story buildings, where there are not more than two families on a floor, and the apartments run through from the front to the rear, seventy-two per cent. of the lot to be occupied on the same principle that courts decrease in size as height decreases, and to permit larger rooms in low buildings of this type.

It is also sought to provide for the case of a building which runs through from one street to another street where the lot is not deep and where there should be no limiting percentage of the lot occupied, provided the courts required by law are constructed so as to leave no interior rooms. There are some lots in the city that are only twenty-four feet deep and that run through from one street to another street. On such a lot an ideal tenement house can be erected, with one room on one street and one room on the other street, and could cover one hundred per cent., which should be permitted.

OUTER COURTS.—Last year, the law was amended to permit an outer court to be four feet wide in the case of a three-story building, which is occupied by not more than two families on a floor, and in which the apartments extend through from the front to the rear, thus creating through ventilation.

It is now proposed to extend the same privilege to a four-story building of the same type, provided such an outer court does not exceed thirty-six feet in length.

It is also proposed in all buildings to limit the length of an outer court to sixty-five feet, or to require that where it exceeds such length it shall be made wider, it being the experience of the Department that where an outer court is very long it is necessary to widen it; otherwise, light rooms will not be secured.

*INNER COURTS.—Last year, in order to encourage the construction of the buildings in Brooklyn, with not more than two families on a floor, the law was amended to permit an inner court of a size not less than eight feet by fourteen feet. A number of houses have been built in Brooklyn with this size court. The results, from the point of view of the Department, are entirely satisfactory, and a court of this size in this type of building gives well-lighted and well-ventilated rooms. It has been thought that a court of similar size would be ample for a four-story house, provided there are not more than two families on each floor and the apartments run through from the front to the rear, securing through ventilation.

It is also proposed to permit in three-story buildings which do not occupy more than sixty-five per cent. of the lot, thus securing a large back yard and consequently more light and air, a reduction in the size of the inner court, so that when two buildings are built adjoining each other and each has an inner court opposite, the total size of such court shall be one hundred square feet, or not less than eight feet wide by twelve and one-half feet long. This size court is only permitted where the two buildings actually do adjoin each other. Otherwise, each court must be eight feet wide by fourteen feet long. Such houses will be comparatively shallow and will usually be four or five rooms deep.

It is proposed also to modify the requirements of this section somewhat as to three-story buildings of this type, so as to permit a bathroom extension of a certain limited size in the eight by fourteen courts in three-story buildings.

INTAKES.—One of the most advantageous features of the present law is the provision that in inner courts there shall be at the bottom a horizontal intake to permit a through draft or current of air. When the law was first framed, it permitted either a passageway or metal duct. The experience of the Department has shown that metal ducts are not satisfactory, and that the passageway gives the best results.

It is proposed to provide a passageway three feet wide and seven feet high leading from the inner court to the street or yard, and thus always securing adequate ventilation.

ROOMS, LIGHTING AND VENTILATION OF.—It is proposed to require where a room in a new house opens on an outer court which is less than ten feet wide, that such a room shall also have a sash window of not less than ten square feet connecting with another room, thus securing additional light and insuring that such rooms shall be well-lighted and ventilated at all times.

It is further proposed that no existing room in a tenement house shall have its light or ventilation materially diminished. The law is not entirely clear on this subject, and it was thought wise to prepare a definite provision that would prevent any such practice.

LIGHTING OF PUBLIC HALLS.—Last year, the law was amended so as to permit in new three-story buildings, where there were not more than two families on a floor, a public hall that should be lighted by a skylight in the roof and by glass panels in the doors on each story. The amendment was not sufficiently definite in regard to the size of the glass panels, or to the circumstances under which they should be required.

It is now proposed to permit in four-story buildings of a similar type a similar method of lighting the halls and stairs, and to specify in detail the size of the glass panels in the doors as well as of the skylight.

*SKYLIGHTS IN NEW BUILDINGS.—The present law requires that in every building there shall be a ventilating skylight in the roof, and that each skylight shall contain twenty square feet of glass, and also shall be provided with ridge ventilators and fixed louvers.

It has been found in the better class of apartment houses and flats that this provision for fixed louvers is disadvantageous because it draws all the heat out of the halls in winter and renders the halls extremely cold. In many cases the owners have been obliged to close them up by putting wrappings around the skylight.

The Department thinks that in new buildings where halls and stairs have a window to the outer air on each floor, and therefore have means of ventilation, it is not necessary to require fixed louvres, but that a skylight with a ridge ventilator of an adequate size is sufficient.

In new buildings where the stairs and halls are not provided with windows to the outer air on each floor it is proposed to require that there shall be both ridge ventilators and either fixed or movable louvres. This would permit the owner to keep the louvres closed in the winter during the cold weather and to have them open in summer.

*PERCENTAGE OF LOT IN OLD BUILDING.—The present law provides that in all new buildings the percentage of lot occupied may be taken at the level of the second tier of beams. This amendment was made to the law last year. It is now proposed to put the old buildings and new buildings exactly on the same footing in this respect.

YARDS OF OLD BUILDINGS.—An amendment was made last year to permit the yards of corner houses in new buildings to be covered over on the ground floor for store purposes. It is now proposed to put yards of old buildings and new buildings exactly on the same footing in this respect.

ADDITIONAL ROOMS AND HALLS IN OLD BUILDINGS.—The present law provides that every additional room or hall that may be created in an old building shall comply with the provisions of the new law. In some cases where it is proposed to construct an extension to an existing building, in which extension there is perhaps one room on each floor, it is obvious that it is impossible to make the new rooms nine feet high where the old rooms were only eight feet high. It is, therefore, proposed to amend this section so as to make the new rooms the same height as the existing rooms on each floor.

INTERIOR ROOMS IN OLD BUILDINGS.—It is proposed to perfect the language of this section so as to make it perfectly apparent that no interior room may be occupied unless it either has a window to the outer air or a sash window to another room.

This section of the law was amended in committee at the eleventh hour of the last session of the legislature, and the language of the section was obscure.

LIGHTING OF PUBLIC HALLS IN OLD BUILDINGS IN THE DAYTIME.—The law of 1895 provided that wherever a public hall did not have a window to the outer air and the hall was dark, that a gas light should be kept burning during the day. It is proposed to return to the old law in this regard so as to provide that halls that are very dark shall have artificial light during the daytime.

LIGHT AND VENT SHAFTS IN OLD BUILDING.—The present law provides that when a new light shaft or vent shaft is placed in an old building it shall have an intake at the bottom so as to provide sufficient air. It has been found that the size of this intake is inadequate, and it is proposed to slightly increase the size.

SKYLIGHTS IN OLD BUILDINGS.—The present law has exactly the same provisions for skylights in old buildings as for skylights in new buildings. This the Department finds to be an undue hardship to owners of tenement houses without any compensating advantages to the community. It is proposed, therefore, to differentiate between different classes of houses in regard to skylights. As has been previously stated, a new provision has been framed in regard to skylights in new buildings. In regard to skylights in old buildings, it is proposed in the first place, that the amount of glass in the skylight shall be dependent upon the height of the building. The present law requires twenty square feet in every skylight.

It is proposed, to require never less than twelve square feet of glass in any skylight. Fifteen square feet in four-story buildings; eighteen square feet in five-story buildings; and an increase of three square feet for each additional story.

In regard to the ventilation of such skylights, it is proposed that in old buildings where the halls are heated by steam heat to have ridge ventilators, and also either fixed or movable louvres, as the owner may desire, so that in winter the heat will not be drawn out of the halls, but having either fixed or movable louvres, in summer the halls can secure a greater amount of ventilation than they need in winter.

In old buildings where the halls are not heated by artificial heat, and where the buildings are over three stories high and contain more than four families, it is proposed that the skylight shall have both ridge ventilators and fixed louvres.

VENT SHAFTS.—The present law provides that every new vent shaft constructed in any building, whether old or new, shall be of a certain size, and shall have an intake or duct of a certain size to insure adequate ventilation.

The Department has found that the size of the intake or duct as specified in the present law is insufficient, and it is proposed to slightly increase the size of this duct.

VENTILATION OF BASEMENTS AND CELLARS IN NEW BUILDINGS.—The cellar is the danger point of a tenement house, because it is generally the most neglected portion of the house, and it is there that the Tenement House Department has its chief trouble.

The present law does not require the proper lighting and ventilation of all parts of the cellar, and it is proposed to insert a requirement that cellars of new buildings shall be properly lighted and ventilated, so as to prevent in the future many of the bad conditions that exist in the old houses.

SHAFTS, COURTS, AREAS AND YARDS.—The present law requires that all shafts, courts, areas and yards shall be concreted, graded and drained. All yards in tenement houses should be graded and drained, but in the outlying sections of the city where the owner desires to have a large yard with a flowegarden and walks, it is entirely unnecessary to require that the entire yard shall be concreted.

It is proposed to amend this section so as to require the concreting of the yards only when the Department may deem it to be necessary.

WATER-CLOSET ACCOMMODATIONS.—It has been found necessary to prescribe more definitely the conditions under which new water-closets may be placed in old buildings. When the original act was framed, it was thought that the building code, a local ordinance, was sufficient provision in regard to this matter. The experience of the Department, however, indicates that the Tenement House Act should be amended so as to clear up any doubt on this subject.

For example, the present law requires that every water-closet compartment shall have a window to the outer air. If this provision were interpreted technically, it would prevent the construction of the ordinary, general toilet-room of a saloon which might be located in a tenement house. Such a toilet-room, as is well known, is generally provided with dwarf partitions between the closets, and with one general window for the whole room, which is adequate.

Similarly, the present law says that every water-closet compartment must have a window to the outer air. There are circumstances where a water-closet has a skylight directly over it, which is quite as good as a window, and in many cases better. Such a method of construction should be permitted.

As has been stated, the cellar of a tenement house is the danger point of the house, and cellar water-closets are especially apt to become a nuisance. It is proposed not to permit a water-closet (without a written permit from the Department) in a cellar.

PLUMBING PIPES.—The present law requires that where plumbing pipes in new buildings are not exposed, there shall be removable panels at each floor, giving access to such lines. This provision of the law has caused a great deal of trouble to builders, and, in the opinion of the Department, has not given satisfactory results.

It is proposed to eliminate the requirement for these removable panels, which are apt to become, in many cases, a harboring place for vermin, and to require plumbing pipes to be exposed only whenever the Department may so require.

BASEMENTS AND CELLARS IN OLD BUILDINGS.—One or two slight changes are proposed in this section. For instance, the present law requires that no room in the basement or cellar shall be occupied without a permit from the Tenement House Department, and that such permit shall be kept readily accessible in the room. If this were interpreted literally, it would mean that there must be a permit in each room. Every practical result is accomplished if there is one permit for the apartment, which may consist of three or four or five rooms.

Similarly, the act provides that no room in the basement shall be occupied unless there is an open areaway extending along the entire front of the room. What is evidently meant to be required is, that an areaway shall extend along the entire front of one of the rooms, as it is obviously impossible to have it extend along the entire front of the room.

The present law requires that the windows of such basement rooms shall be made so that half will open. The entire window should open, of course, and it is proposed to amend the law so as to require this.

PLASTERING OF CELLAR CEILINGS IN OLD HOUSES.—The present law requires all cellar ceilings to be plastered. The Department finds that there are many cellar ceilings that are well sheathed with boards, having been so sheathed in accordance with an earlier law. The purpose of this requirement being to keep out the cellar air from the upper stories. If cellar ceilings are tightly sheathed, they would seem as good as a plastered ceiling.

It is proposed to amend this section so as to permit the Department to determine when the plastering of the ceiling may be necessary.

WHITEWASHING OF CELLAR WALLS AND CEILINGS.—It is proposed to amend this section so as to permit the Department to require cellar walls and ceilings to be whitewashed whenever it may be necessary.

REPAIRS.—The Tenement oHuse Act now requires that the roof of a tenement house shall be kept in good repair. It is proposed to correct this section so as to require that all parts of the tenement house shall be kept in proper repair.

DOOR AT BOTTOM OF SHAFTS AND COURTS.—The present law requires a fireproof self-closing door at the bottom of all shafts and inner courts.

The purpose of this was to provide a ready means of access to the bottom of a court or shaft so as to enable it to be cleaned out. Where the court is a large court, there is no necessity for the door being fireproof and self-closing. Where the court, however, is a very small one and there is no door now and a new door is to be constructed under this provision, the new door should be fireproof.

WHITEWASHING OF SHAFT AND COURT WALLS.—It is proposed to amend this section so as to permit the Department to require the whitewashing or painting of light shaft walls only whenever necessary, instead of at fixed periods.

KEEPING OF ANIMALS ON PREMISES.—The present law prohibits the keeping of horses on the same lot with a tenement house. This is entirely proper within the built-up sections of the city. In the outlying parts of The Bronx, Richmond, Queens and Brooklyn, where it is not built-up, it is obvious that one or two horses might, with propriety, be kept on the same lot with a tenement house, provided they are not stabled in too close proximity to the house.

The other changes in the act are verbal, and are all in the direction of making more precise and definite the language of the act.

There are a number of changes proposed in regard to the part of the act which deals with remedies. The changes in these sections seek to harmonize the present provisions of the Charter in regard to the powers of the Tenement House Department with the existing provisions of the Tenement House Act in regard to violations of law and other similar matters.

CHARTER CHANGES.—In addition to the changes proposed in the Tenement House Act, a bill has been introduced by the administration to amend the Greater New York Charter in regard to the Tenement House Department, making one or two necessary changes.

For example, there is some question as to the right of the Commissioner to suspend an employee against whom charges have been preferred. It is perfectly obvious that such right of suspension should be granted to the Department, and it is proposed, therefore, to amend the chapter on the Tenement House Department by giving to the Commissioner exactly the same powers in this respect now possessed by the Superintendent of Buildings, and by practically every other city Department.

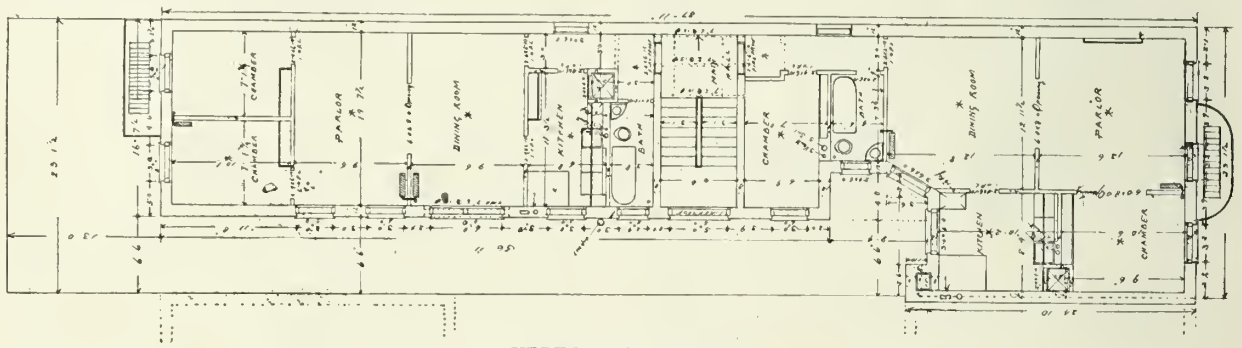
The proposed amendment is copied, word for word, from Section 406 of the Charter affecting the Bureau of Buildings.



The Charter at the present time places the responsibility for the enforcement of the Tenement House Act jointly upon the Bureau of Buildings and the Tenement House Department. The Superintendent of Buildings of the Borough of Manhattan has recommended, in his annual report, that the responsibility for the entire enforcement of the Tenement House Act be placed upon the Tenement House Department. The Tenement House Department concurs in this view, and the proposed amendments to the Charter seek to accomplish this result.

Other changes in the Charter are necessitated because of the fact that many of the powers of the Tenement House Department were conferred by referring to existing powers of the Health Department. In order to simplify somewhat the method of procedure in the Department, it has been deemed advisable to re-enact in the Charter, under the chapter on the Tenement House Department, certain of the powers that the Department now possesses, but using slightly different language.

Built for Less Money.

EXPERIENCE OF A FORMER SUPERINTENDENT OF BUILDINGS IN NEW-LAW CONSTRUCTION—A CASE IN POINT.

As having a bearing on the Tenement House Law that went into effect a year ago, in April, it is interesting to observe that at least one architect, Lorenz J. Weiher, formerly a Superintendent of Buildings in Manhattan, has drawn plans under which one of his clients, Mr. Charles Adams, is actually building a modern 6-sty tenement house, having accommodations for two families on a floor, on a lot 23½ ft. wide. The site is on the north side of 117th st, beginning 150 feet west of 5th av.

UPPER FLOOR PLAN.
117th Street, Near 5th Avenue.

Charles Adams, Owner. Lorenz J. Weiher, Architect.

On looking over the plans we find that each of the six floors contains one front and one rear apartment of five rooms, bath and private hall, high-class open plumbing, steam heat, and separate dumb-waiters.

Middle rooms are as light as though at the front of the house, being lighted by an open court, 6.6x65.4 ft., and the rear yard, 13x23.1½. The plan is considered superior to anything ever attempted in this borough under the old law; and as regards cost, the architect has closely approximated former conditions, considering the advance of building material and labor.

Mr. Weiher estimates that THE EXCESS COST IS EIGHT PER CENT. LESS in this instance than a building of similar proportions would have cost when the old law was in force, as the brick walls above the first story are but 12 inches thick, the second floor construction throughout, except the portion forming the roof of the main entrance hall, of non-fireproof material, and the floor beams in all the stories, by grace of the shortness of span, are but 3x8 spruce.

But as offsetting these savings there is to be considered the additional expense of fireproof doors and windows in the main hallways and one additional tier of fire-escape, which altogether bring up the cost to about 8% less than a house of the same bulk could have been erected for two years ago in this borough.

Mr. Weiher's conclusion is this: "This proves the fallacy of builders and others demanding the repeal of the present law, which has just begun to spread its beneficial influence to landlord and tenant alike."

Status of the Delancey St. Widening.

A subscriber at Marlborough writes:

"Can you inform me whether anything further has been done in the matter of widening Delancey st since the statement in the Record and Guide of Feb. 7? Or, do you know how I could learn as to when the matter will probably be decided? Having property on the line of the proposed widening, with leases expiring May 1, I am trying to ascertain how or when the question will be settled."

No advance in this matter has been made since the statement in the Record and Guide of Feb. 7. At a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, to be held Friday, March 20, the subject will again come up for consideration. The present propositions were concisely expressed in the Mayor's Annual Message delivered a fortnight ago, as follows:

"It is proposed to widen Delancey st to a width of either 125 or 150 ft, and to carry a new street, in line with Delancey st, from the Bowery through to Elm st. This will secure free movement from the bridge to the westward, and will command good connections with the 2d and 3d av Elevated roads and with the subway. It is also proposed to widen either Suffolk or Clinton st, and 100 ft in width, both to the north and to the south. The southern widening will give ready access to East Broadway, which is a wide thoroughfare, leading to the very heart of the downtown district; the northern widening will make easy communication to the north by way of Avs A and B. These changes ought also to provide important relief for the Bowery by making Elm st and these new thoroughfares available not only for access to the bridge, but for north and south traffic."

Mortgagor and Mortgagee.

MORTGAGOR WHO CONVEYS THE MORTGAGED PROPERTY, TO BE SAFE, SHOULD NOTIFY THE MORTGAGEE TO FORECLOSE WHEN THE MORTGAGE FALLS DUE.

During the past year several subscribers to the Record and Guide have addressed the law editor to inquire what steps they should take, being mortgagors who had conveyed the mortgaged property, in case the mortgage was not paid off at maturity. To these, as well as to many other readers of the Record and Guide, the case of Gottschalk v. Jungmann, recently decided by the Appellate Division in the First Department will be of interest. (78 App. Div., 171.)

The facts in this case are as follows: On the 30th of April, 1897, Jungmann delivered to Gottschalk a bond, whereby he agreed to pay the sum of $8,000 on the 30th day of April, 1900, and as collateral security he gave a mortgage for the same amount on property on 133d st, in the Borough of Manhattan. On the 10th of September, 1897, Jungmann conveyed the mortgaged premises to Wrenkow, subject to the mortgage, Wrenkow, however, not assuming payment of the same. The mortgage was not paid at maturity, and on the 8th day of May, 1900, within ten days after it became due, Jungmann notified Gottschalk in writing that he had conveyed the mortgaged premises, and directed that she (Gottschalk) immediately foreclose the mortgage, to the end that he might be relieved from further liability upon the bond and mortgage. The mortgagee failed and neglected to foreclose the mortgage, as requested, and did not take any action or proceeding to foreclose the same until December, 1901. Jungmann appeared and answered in the action, setting forth the facts above stated, and averred that after the said notice had been served upon the mortgagee he then stood in the relation of surety to the debt, and on account of the neglect of the mortgagee to comply with the notice to foreclose, he was released from liability for any deficiency which might arise upon a sale of the mortgaged premises; that the mortgagee, after such notice to foreclose, had allowed Wrenkow, his grantee, to collect the rent of the premises, and also allowed taxes, assessments and water rents to accumulate against the property, and also interest upon the mortgage.

The foreclosure action proceeded to a decree, and upon the sale of the premises in February, 1900, a deficiency arose of $1,919.67. The court below directed judgment against Jungmann for the amount of this deficiency, and from this judgment he took an appeal. The Appellate Division has reversed the judgment.

The opinion of the court in part is as follows: "We think the court was wrong in holding that there was no relation of surety between the mortgagor and his grantee of the premises. It seems to be well settled that where a mortgagor sells and conveys premises subject to the mortgage debt, with no covenant on the part of the grantee to pay the same, there is not created by such transaction the technical relation of principal and surety; but as the land is the primary fund for the payment of the debt, in respect thereto and to the extent of its value the grantee of the premises stands in the relation of a principal debtor, and there is raised out of such situation an equity in favor of the mortgagor similar to that of a surety. Where the mortgagee after a transfer of the title of the premises covered by the mortgage, extends the time of payment of the mortgage debt, or refuses upon the request of the mortgagor to take proceedings to collect the mortgage debt, the mortgagor will be relieved from liability for any subsequent deficiency, if it appears that the whole debt could have been collected from the land, or that it was in value equal to the mortgage debt, and protanto to the extent to which the property had depreciated between the time when the request was made and when the mortgage was foreclosed. Under such circumstances the mortgagor is equitably entitled to the protection of a surety, and possesses all the rights inherent in such relation. * * * * It would seem, therefore, where the land is only equal to the payment of the mortgage debt, or is in value insufficient for that purpose, and the mortgagee has been requested by the mortgagor to foreclose the mortgage and collect the debt after the same has matured, that if the mortgagee disregards such notice and permits incumbrances to be created thereon, which are superior to the lien of the mortgage, to that extent he permits an act to be done which reduces the value of the land for the discharge of the mortgage. It also seems to follow that if he omits to take legal proceedings to secure the full value of the land, he is guilty of an omission distinctly prejudicial to the right of the mortgagor.

*The debt of the city of Paris is 2,178,475,594.98 francs, or $435,695,118.99. The state pays all the expenses of the judiciary.

RECEIPTS FROM REAL ESTATE.

| | | Francs. |
|---|---|---|
| Tax on real estate | | 45,649,540.26 |
| Of which the state receives | 4,851,470.98 | |
| Of which the county receives | 16,712,179.30 | |
| Of which the city receives | 24,085,889.98 | 45,649,540.26 |

The total tax collected on real and personal estate business, licenses, etc., amounts to 142,425,000.00 francs, as follows:

| | Francs. |
|---|---|
| Besides the above tax collected on real estate there is an additional tax of | 14,242,123.03 |
| Collected on doors and windows, paid by tenants; furthermore, the personal taxes amount to | 27,815,320.50 |
| And the business license taxes amount to | 54,717,279.84 |

So in all, the real estate taxes, personal taxes and business license taxes in Paris amount to, in round numbers, 142,425,000.00 francs, out of which amount the city receives 67,867,370.02 francs, the state and county the balance.

An examination of these figures shows such radical differences between Paris and New York in the methods both of collecting and spending money, that it is hard to find any common terms of comparison. Thus, Paris derives more than half of its revenues, viz., 161,991,130 francs, from the octroi tax, to which, of course, there is no parallel in this city. It collects only 67,867,370 francs directly from real estate. It derives proportionately much larger sums of money from miscellaneous sources than does New York. It is worth while, however, to set down for the sake of comparison, however superficial, the chief items in the income and expense accounts of New York. These figures are those of 1901:

| RECEIPTS OF NEW YORK. | |
|---|---|
| Property tax | $76,886,091 |
| Franchise tax | 2,364,636 |
| Liquor licenses | 5,557,593 |
| Other licenses | 592,587 |
| Fines and fees | 671,337 |
| Trust funds, interest and dividends | 4,151,709 |
| Water works | 8,050,900 |
| Docks and wharves | 2,571,584 |
| Ferries and bridges | 780,949 |
| EXPENSES FOR MAINTENANCE AND OPERATION. | |
| Police Department | $10,199,206 |
| County jails, workhouses, etc | 1,310,411 |
| Fire Department | 4,739,992 |
| Health Department | 1,162,256 |
| Hospitals and charities | 4,754,380 |
| Schools | 19,731,629 |
| Libraries, art galleries and museums | 736,111 |
| Parks | 1,367,086 |
| Sewers | 423,104 |
| Municipal lighting | 2,734,276 |
| Street cleaning | 2,906,767 |
| Other street expenditures | 4,399,078 |
| Garbage removal | 2,625,668 |
| Interest on debt | 13,693,155 |
| Water-works | 3,000,990 |
| Docks and wharves | 863,229 |
| Ferries and bridges | 889,283 |

It will be seen from this table that Paris, with about three-fifths of the population of New York, spends only one-third as much on education. Its police expenditures are proportionally about the same. On charities it spends, not relatively, but absolutely, a larger sum; but this may be because it performs certain services, such as the care of the insane, which is in New York performed by the State.

Why Some Gas Bills are High.

There are some people, alas! who after a winter of some distress, caused by a pinching coal famine, wonder why their gas bills are higher than usual. It is strange that some remembrance of long evenings spent exceedingly close to the gas heater, or range, has not survived the presentation of the company's bill. The Consolidated Company has never, to our knowledge, advocated the continuous use of gas as a substitute for coal in heating dwellings and apartments. The service for which the gas heater was designed was that of an auxiliary. Early last fall, when there was an indication of a great coal stress, the President of the Consolidated publicly said that his company could not undertake to heat New York during the winter. After October the company's stove stores were shut and no purchases were invited during the rest of winter. But there were other places where gas stoves could be obtained, and the department stores seem to have had a large trade in what in its proper place is a singularly useful article.

That some people used them when the icicle and the coal speculator flourished, and the coal trains and barges were held up, and the prices also, is very evident. One could doubtless pick out many who considered that the gas range was a success as a heater as well as a cooker, from the protestations they are making. There seems to be an innate desire with many people to get the best of any public-franchise corporation. These are, they who would just like to "get square" with a gas company. From the best observation, New York is well and conscientiously served by her gas companies. It is easy to complain and make unfounded statements; it is easy to say that the pipes are full of air, when any one versed in the manufacture and distribution of gas knows that such a circumstance is a myth. The pressure of the gas is such as many years of experience shows is required to equalize distribution in all parts of the town.

In a business view, it is to the interest of a gas company to keep bills low. They could not afford to jump a man from three to eleven dollars if they could, without having actually furnished and delivered the quantity represented by the figures in the bill. Managers of metropolitan gas companies are not built on that plan; neither are meters. The experience of most experts teaches that meters are slow in registering against customers, which is the natural tendency of this piece of mechanism under the conditions where it is used. Criticism of corporations seems to be a fad, but even that sort of criticism should be discriminating and reasonable.

Bridges for the Millions.

CONTRACTS FOR TWO TO BE LET IN JULY AND SUBSTANTIAL PROGRESS IN CONSTRUCTION THIS YEAR.

The prompt and decisive report of the commissioners appointed by the Mayor to examine the plans of the Manhattan Bridge will enable the Department of Bridges to complete details and invite bids for the construction about May 1st. At the same time bids will be invited for the superstructure of the Blackwell's Island Bridge. After July 1st the city will be in a position, financially, to award contracts, and in each case there will be but one contractor responsible to the municipality. The delays and annoyances that have been encountered in building the Williamsburgh Bridge will not be in the path of the other two. Manifestly, it is to the interest of the present city administration to advance these great works, and substantial progress in actual construction is expected during the present year. The report of the committee approves of the plans on these four specific points:

1. The plans are in accordance with advanced knowledge of suspension bridge designing. They are likely to be as economical in construction as other forms of suspension bridges. They provide fully for temperature stresses. They provide for a structure of unusual rigidity under concentrated loads. Ample provision is made for wind pressure. They are consistent with the best protection from corrosion.

2. The strength, stability and carrying capacity of the bridge will be adequate for any congestion of traffic which may occur on the railroad tracks, roadways and promenades if the provisions for loads laid down heretofore are followed.

3. The structure as designed will be incombustible.

4. The design favors speedy erection of the superstructure after the masonry is ready.

Bridge Commissioner Lindenthal would have personally preferred to arrange for a competition of designs, and would have appointed a jury of experts to select the best, a practice largely followed in Europe; but having no authority or appropriation he did the next best thing and asked for the appointment of a commission of well-recognized engineers to pass on the plans of the Department.

"All the questions asked the commission are favorably answered," said the Commissioner this week. "One was whether the bridge could be erected in a shorter time if the eye-bar chains were used than if the cable wire was used. The decision of the commission is unanimous and is a great victory for the eye-bar over the cable. I am glad that the contract can be let in one lump sum, as this will mean that the work can be done quicker and will be much easier to hold the contractor responsible."

STRUCTURAL FEATURES.

The Record and Guide presents this week views of all three bridges that are under construction or planned. Very soon the world will witness the remarkable spectacle of three immense suspension bridges under construction side by side at the same time. The Manhattan Bridge begins on a line near the intersection of the Bowery and Canal st, crossing the East River at Pike Slip in the Borough of Manhattan, reaching the Borough of Brooklyn at the foot of Washington st, and ending at Fulton st of the same borough. The main structure consists of one main or river span and two side or land spans of equal length, the whole structure being symmetrical to the middle of the main span. The length of the main structure is as follows: River span, 1,470 feet; two land spans. 725 ft. each, 1,450 ft.; total length of main structure, 2,920 ft.; the total length of the bridge structure, including both approaches, is about 9,900 ft. The bridge and approaches will be the longest city bridge in the world. The grade of the bridge structure is 3.1, rising from each end. The superstructure is made up of four chains of eye-bars properly stiffened and braced from which the floor system is suspended. These chains have their ends anchored in masonry anchorages and are supported by two steel towers 1,470 feet apart and rising to a height of 400 feet above high water.

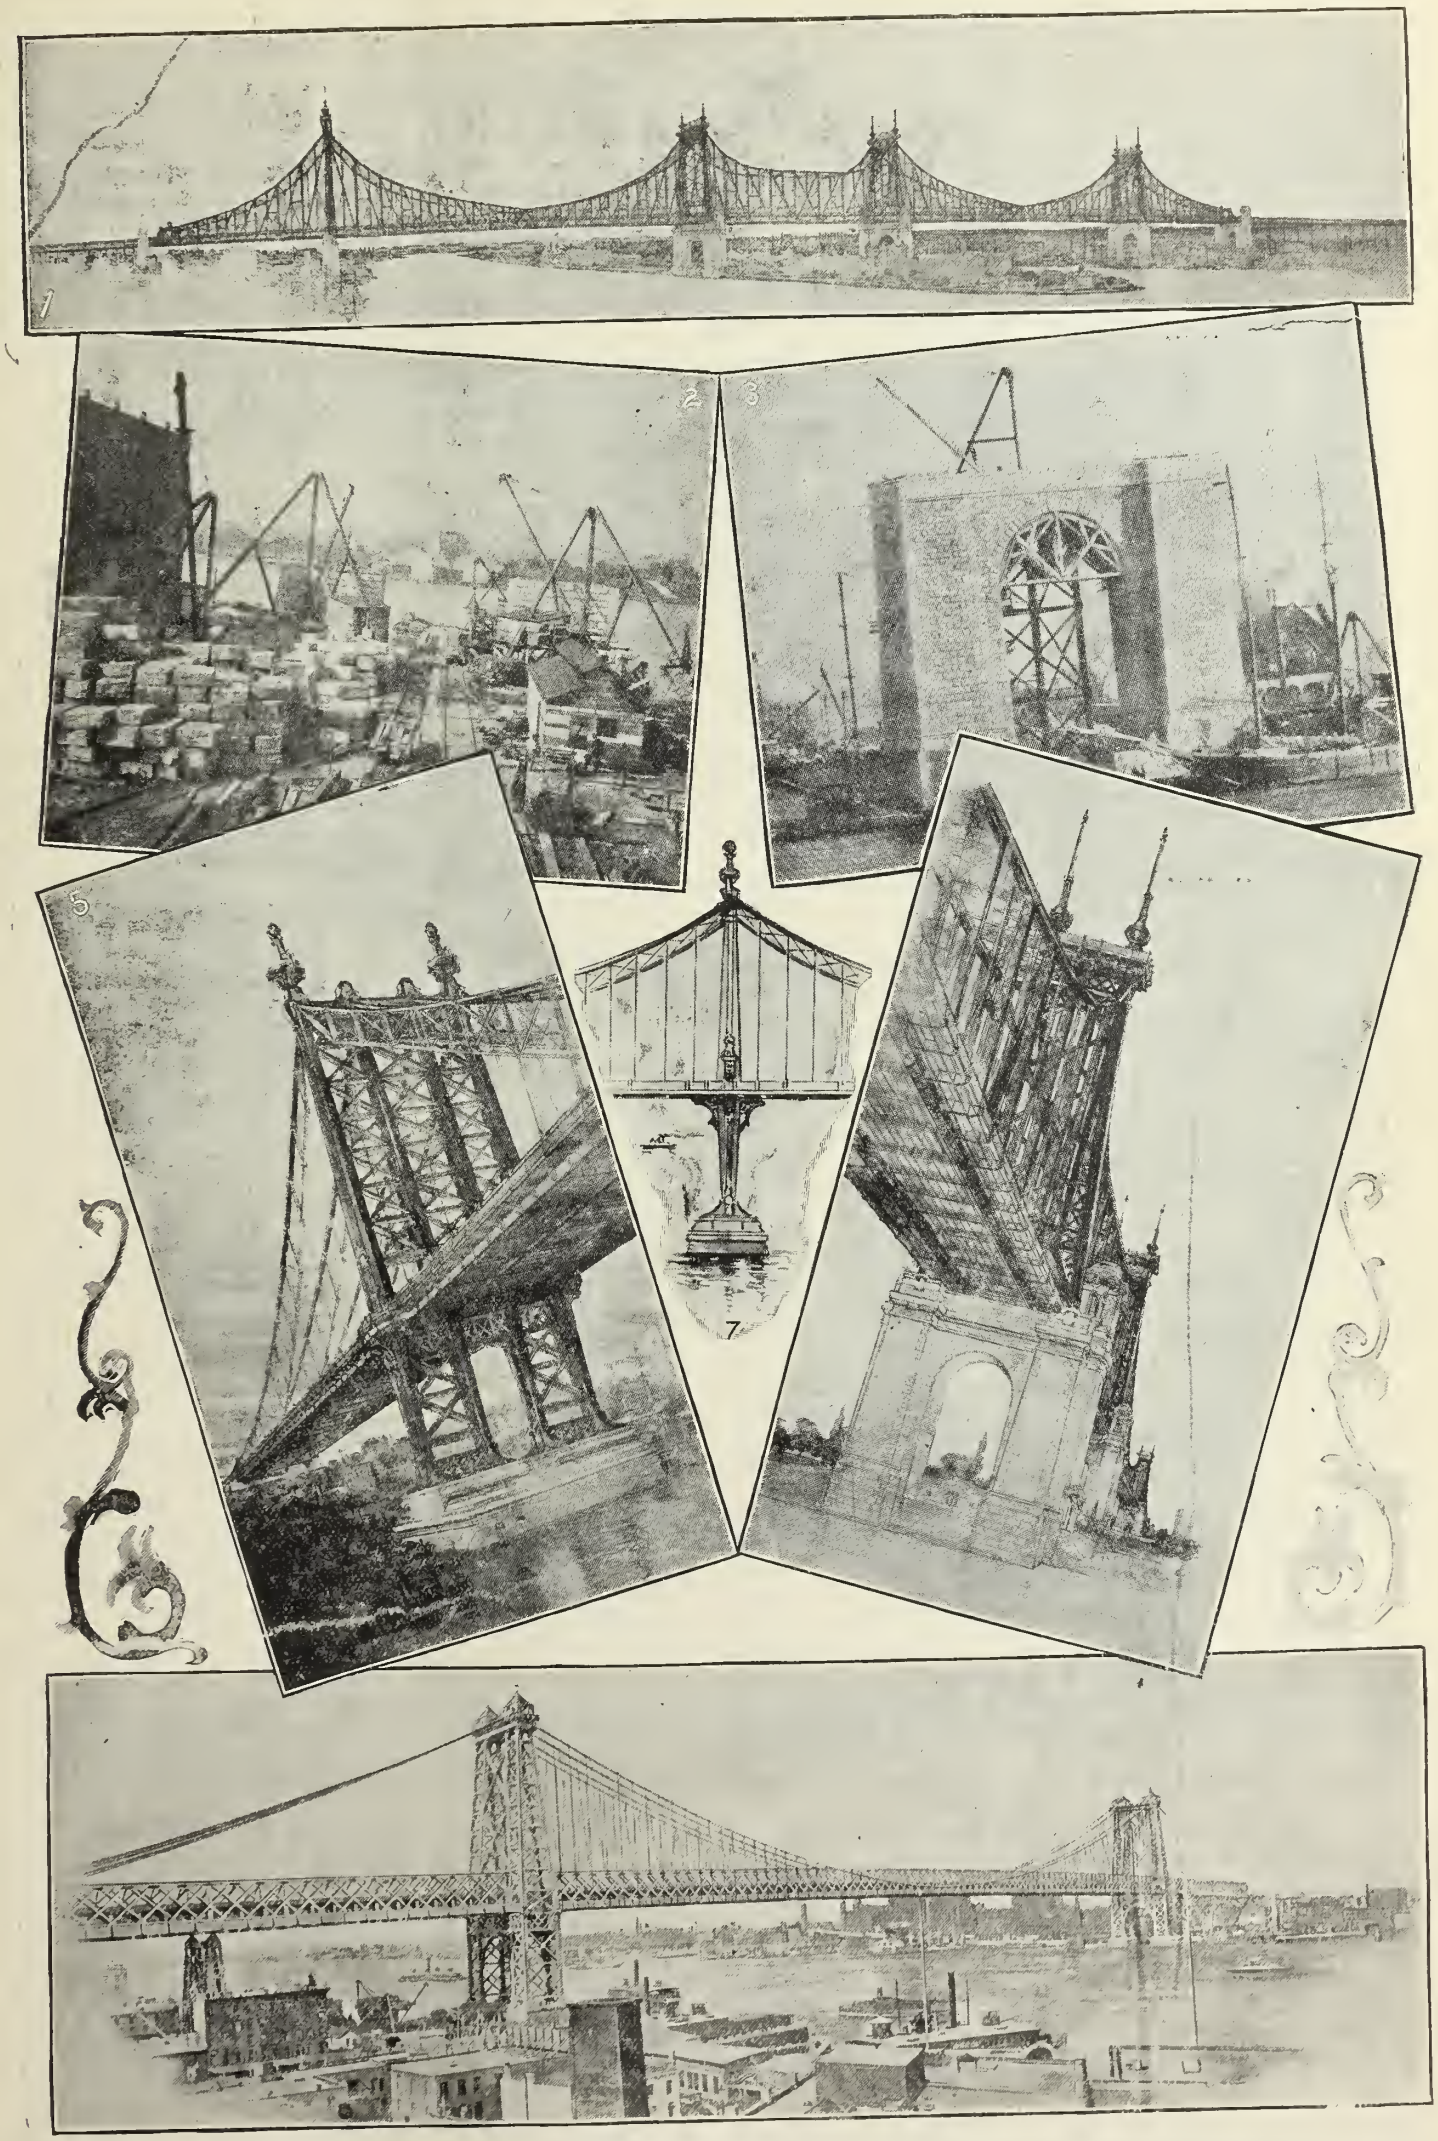
There will be one roadway, four trolley tracks, four elevated railroad tracks and two promenades. Stairways are provided at several points of the bridge to take the passengers to the promenade in case of accident to the elevated railroad cars on the upper deck. The eight tracks across the bridge are estimated to have a capacity of 200,000,000 passengers per year under ordinary conditions of traffic.

The Blackwell Island Bridge, the farthest north of all the East River structures, will be the heaviest and most capacious long-span bridge ever constructed, and, with one exception, the longest truss span ever built. The total length of the main structure will be 3,714½ feet, which will include one span of 1,182 feet over the main channel, one of 984 feet over the east channel, a connecting span of 630 feet over the island and two shore spans of 459 and 469½ feet. The main spans are carried by four intermediate piers and two anchorage piers, all founded on rock and built of ashlar, backed with concrete at anchorages. The contract for the substructure was awarded to Ryan & Parker, June 27, 1901. In building the superstructure it is proposed to erect a considerable portion on trestle falsework, and then to erect the channel spans by the cantilever method, without falsework. The bridge will be accessible from Blackwell's Island by elevators in the towers. The estimated total cost of the bridge is $12,500,000, of which $3,000,000 is for right of way. In the six main piers there are about 50,000 cubic yards of masonry, at an estimated cost of $745,547.

The main floor system of the Williamsburgh (or East River) Bridge was joined about a fortnight ago. The feat of placing the centre floor beams in position was accomplished with the aid of two travelers, working toward the centre from each tower and running on rails near the sides. This method is much different from that pursued in the old bridge, where the floor beams were tied to the wire suspenders, then swung out and the permanent connections made. The side portions of this bridge project beyond the suspender rods from the cables. Moreover, as in the old bridge there are four sets of suspenders, one for each cable, and four separate rows of stirrups, in the new there are but two lines of stirrups, which will allow the centre space to be free from obstruction.

Status of Legislative Measures for New York City.

Measures in the Legislature affecting New York, which seem to have been unnecessarily detained in transit by animosities between the forces of the Governor and the senior Senator, have latterly been advanced, following conferences and adjustments. The central idea of the State's administration during this session has been to efface the necessity for all direct taxation by enacting various indirect tax measures, while that part of the political machine over which Senator Platt presides has sought to prove to the parts controlled by Governor Odell and Mayor Low that it is indispensable to the working out of the plan. With the Republican majority so slender, this has been at length quite satisfactorily demonstrated.



The railway measures embodying the agreement reached between the city authorities and the New York Central have passed the Assembly intact, and are now before the Senate Railroad Committee, but the bills affecting the Pennsylvania Railroad, including the one transferring authority to close streets from the Board of Aldermen to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, were laid over in the Assembly. The bill for a local railway commission, being stoutly opposed by the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, as well as by the State Railroad Commission, has been recommitted; and the alternative measure providing for an enlargement of the State Commission by two New York City members has made no better progress, under doubts as to its constitutionality.

The Stevens bill, taxing the direct heirs of the owners of real or personal estate worth above $10,000, passed the Assembly on Wednesday, being the first of the Governor's indirect tax measures to be so favored. The rate of tax specified is 1 per cent. on the clear market value, and the amount expected to be raised is $700,000. The other propositions that have been adopted as party measures are: Fifty per cent. increase in the present liquor tax fee, half to go to the State, $5,000,000; a four-mill annual mortgage tax, including a tax upon mortgages held by banks, insurance companies and like corporations, $6,000,000. The mortgage tax bill has not yet been introduced.

In regard to the New York City bills, the first of any importance desired by the administration to pass both houses and be sent to the Mayor is the Sinking Fund bill. The Senate concurred in the Assembly amendments on Tuesday. Senator McCarren's bill authorizing the appointment of a water commission, to examine and acquire available watersheds, has been reported favorably.

Hearings were given by the Senate Cities Committee on Tuesday in regard to various bills to help solve New York City's transportation problem. Comptroller Grout spoke in favor of his Rapid Transit law amendment, enabling the Mayor to appoint a Rapid Transit Commission to take office next January, and providing that contracts for the construction of the railway may be let separate from its equipment and its maintenance and operation. Representatives of the Citizens' Union favored the Elsberg bill for the letting of contracts for the construction of rapid transit lines hereafter in sections.

The New York City Bar Association is supporting a bill providing for the appointment by the Mayor of a commission to select a site for a new county court house in the immediate neighborhood of the present one. The Association has also passed a resolution stating that "the unequal assessment of real estate in this city has become a notorious evil," and recommending the passage of the bill before the Legislature providing for the publication of the annual record of the assessed valuations of real estate.

The premises No. 29 West st, and 52 Washington st, advertised for lease on another page, are very well located in the district referred to.

Chas. E. Duross has leased for Conron Brothers Co. the 4-sty building, 40x100, at Nos. 454-456 West 14th st. The building will be occupied by the Cudahy Brothers, of Chicago, Ill., as their wholesale beef and provision headquarters.

D. Colucci has leased for Julia O'Hara No. 217 East 73d st, a 5-sty tenement house, for a term of 5 years, at an annual rent of $1,800.

Herman A. Schmidt has leased to the United Cigar Stores Co. a plot, 50x200, on the south side of 125th st, extending to 124th st, 150 feet east of 8th av. The lease is for forty years. The lessees now control a plot under lease, 100x200.

OUT OF TOWN.

G. W. Barry sold for Mrs. O. W. Richardson 400 acres of ocean front land at Bayhead, N. J.

Real Estate Notes.

J. P. Whiton-Stuart has opened an office at 509 Fifth av, above 42d st. His downtown office is at No. 25 Broad st.

Joseph P. Day will make his debut as a real estate auctioneer next Thursday, when he will offer for sale the mercantile building Nos. 231 and 233 Bowery.

The Alpha Realty Co. is the buyer of Nos. 10 and 12 East 60th st adjoining the Harmonie Club's new site. The company owns Nos. 14 to 18, adjoining, a 12-sty apartment house.

At the meeting of the Longacre Realty Company held Thursday, the following officers were elected for the year 1903: Eugene Clifford Potter, president; Frederick G. Potter, vice-president; Henry J. Braker, treasurer, and Benjamin Mordecai, secretary.

Senator Elsberg has introduced a bill in the Legislature permitting Archbishop John M. Farley of New York to dispose of lands on which the Institution of Mercy is located, provided that the proceeds be used for securing a new site for that institution.

Among the conveyances of the past week the sale of the northwest corner of Lexington av and 82d st, 102.2 on the avenue and 5 feet on the street, is recorded. This is the spite house built by the late Benjamin W. Richardson, Dellaripha G. Richardson transferring it to Florence W. Clark, of Brooklyn, for $9,250.

The long established and reliable firm of James R. Waterlow, real estate agents and brokers, continue business at the old stand, No. 81 West 50th st, corner 6th av. The same painstaking care that has always characterized their work in the way of managing estates and collecting rents is continued on behalf of a large clientele. Mr. Waterlow established the business in 1862.

The report of the New York Mortgage & Security Co. on March 1 makes an excellent showing. The net earnings for nine and a half months (the company began business May 16, 1902), were $54,277.41, and undivided profits $26,841.94. A dividend of $25,000 was paid to stockholders in January. Mr. Edgar J. Levey is president; John D. Crimmins and Charles T. Barney, vice-presidents; Cyril H. Burditt, secretary, and Henry R. Steele, treasurer of the company.

Mayor Low has approved the act to authorize the city to change the terms under which the Nursery and Child's Hospital holds its title to the land at 51st st and Lexington av. The hospital occupies the land under a perpetual lease from the city at the nominal rental of $1 a year. The hospital directors want to sell the property that they may build elsewhere, and the Legislature, by the act under consideration, gives to the city the power to permit them to do so.

The Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance Company, who issue guaranteed mortgages to investors at a rate that nets four per cent. on Manhattan loans to investors, has been circulating an attractive pamphlet, in which the buildings, which secure the mortgages offered are illustrated, and which contain all the essential details in connection with the property. The loans offered for sale vary from $5,000 to $900,000. This is a novel and effective way of placing these securities on the market.

The Alumni Association of P. S. No. 69, No. 125 West 54th st, of which Mr. Andrew J. Whiteside is principal, will have their annual dinner at Shanley's on the evening of March 21. Many noted men are members, and an enjoyable time is anticipated. Prominent men in professional and business life will be present and will address the old graduates. Dr. Matthew J. Eljas, the former principal, and many of the old teachers have signified their intention to be present. Mr. Jerome Siegel, No. 65 Wooster st, the chairman of the committee on dinner, will be happy to hear from any of the graduates desiring to attend.

In connection with the foreclosure sale this week of the Coronet, at the northeast corner of 6th av and 58th st, for $500,000, a few of the actual facts may be interesting. While Mr. Burgess, the plaintiff, bid and got it for $500,000, the mortgages, interest and tax claims to date were $569,900 and he, of course, gets a deficiency judgment for $69,900. In addition to this there were leins filed aggregating $93,749.47, which are wiped out, and he gets the benefit of that amount. The estimated gross rental of the building if fully rented is $93,240. On Dec. 1, $34,640 was rented, two floors of it being to the New York Athletic Club for ten years.

An agreement has been reached in the litigation affecting the big apartment house at Nos. 43 to 53 East 58th st, 480 Park av and 54 East 59th st, known as the Antoinettes, and erected by a company headed by Peter Herter. The litigation was started by a lis pendens being laid on the property by Mr. Minrath, who petitioned to have a receiver appointed on the ground that a contract was in existence through which Messrs. Minrath, Adler and Lauterbach, of Hoadley, Lauterbach & Johnson, were entitled to an interest in the Antoinettes in consideration of money loaned to Mr. Herter on a mortgage on 7 and 8 Chatham square. Mr. Herter opposed the petition, claiming that the contract was conditional, that the conditions were not fulfilled, and that therefore the plaintiff was obliged to accept a tender of the sum secured by the mortgage. The money was offered in court by Mr. Herter's attorney, and Judge Fitzgerald denied the motion for a receiver. The plaintiff has now accepted the equity in Nos. 7 and 8 Chatham square in settlement of the claim. William Seellgsberg conducted the negotiations which resulted in the settlement.

We will give ten cents each for the following numbers of the Record and Guide, brought to this office in good condition: Nos. 253, 1298, 1399, 1400, 1401, 1454, 1460, 1504, 1507, 1554, 1556, 1689, 1702, 1713, 1714, 1715, 1716, 1725, 1731, 1768, 1791, 1799, 1766.

The World of Building

STRUCTURAL MATERIAL.

New business is not particularly heavy, and there is no marked scarcity of material. A heavy business is in prospect as soon as there is assurance of no awkward interruptions, either from labor or weather sources. Apprehension regarding strikes is marked, and the general disposition of manufacturers and contractors is to resist. Prices are firm though unchanged.

In sheets the volume of business is enlarged, with indications of higher prices.

A general stiffening in those prices which in mid-winter were weak is the rule in hardware. Wire and wire nails have advanced, also cut nails.

The value of the ingots, blooms, slabs, billets and bars of steel, and steel in forms, imported into the United States last year was $7,888,309; the value of the importation of 1901 was but $1,340,-112. The value of the iron ore imported in 1902 was $2,583,077, which exceeded the imports of the previous year by $923,804. The value of the pig iron imported in 1902 was $10,935,831.

CEMENT.

During the year 1902 the United States exported 13,037,564 lbs. of cement, valued at $48,747, and imported the following amounts:

CEMENT: ROMAN, PORTLAND, AND OTHER HYDRAULIC (lbs., dutiable).

| | 1901 | | 1902 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Imported from: | Quantities. | Value. | Quantities. | Value. |
| United Kingdom ... | 14,956,381 | $58,570 | 31,634,974 | $105,294 |
| Belgium ..... | 121,272,340 | 377,517 | 246,317,433 | 724,690 |
| France ..... | 4,708,591 | 20,421 | 5,968,900 | 24,705 |
| Germany ..... | 224,238,353 | 804,710 | 503,706,165 | 1,692,684 |
| Other Europe ..... | 7,631,163 | 20,730 | 7,182,550 | 21,393 |
| British No. America | 2,426,645 | 12,180 | 1,444,776 | 8,223 |
| Other countries.... | 2,723,471 | 11,564 | 1,661,400 | 5,494 |
| Total ..... | 377,956,944 | $1,305,692 | 797,916,198 | $2,581,883 |

The totals for last year are not as large as expected, and fall short of the totals for the year 1900, when 954,673,411 lbs., valued at $3,330,453, came across.

Manufacturers and dealers expect an increased use of cement this year, if constructive operations are not hindered by unforeseen circumstances, and we think they secretly look for prices slightly lower on the whole than are quoted to-day. This would be satisfactory to the consumer, and would enable the trade to compete with the materials that concrete has been displacing. As railroad companies are among the heaviest purchasers in round lots, the statement made by President Ingalls, of the Big Four railway, is in point. He said "that Portland cement is adaptable and desirable for public works and all permanent improvements is sufficiently proven by the fact that leading railways have discarded other materials for cement. A possible objection to cement is that it is next to impossible to tear down or make changes in structures built of Portland cement concrete. It is likewise the greatest fire-resisting material we possess."

The railway companies of the United States, it is said, have or are rapidly installing concrete construction departments, and are yearly increasing their orders for cement, and purchase only under rigid specifications at the lowest market rates. Early in the season, with options on more or less of a number of barrels, when prices take a sudden rise, they avail themselves of their options to the fullest extent. When prices decline below the contract, they purchase elsewhere at the lower figure.

It is apparent that the mills this year are exercising more caution in making sales than last year. The entire output of the mills for 1903 can be sold to advantage if conservative methods are pursued. The old, well-advertised brands will be given the preference by the consumer, even at higher figures, over the unfamiliar trade-marks.

BRICK.

The Hudson runs unvexed to the sea, bringing large measures of the products of the valley to this market. Owing to the inclement weather and to the suspension of work on a number of buildings on account of strikes by hoisting engineers and housesmiths, the demand is not taking up all the bricks that now arrive; but prices, being within moderate bounds, have a determination to maintain the rights of the manufacturers.

On Wednesday afternoon of next week the Association of Brick Manufacturers and Agents, of which Mr. William K. Hammond is the president and Robert C. Boyd secretary, will have a meeting at Haverstraw, which was the germinating point of the recent strike of the brick handlers. The employers reluctantly yielded to demands which a depressed market does not warrant, and action of a nature to sooner or later restore the former basis of expense is expected. Notice may also be taken at this meeting of threatened strikes in various building trades, as there is a feeling prevailing in all circles of employers that the exactions of trades unions have reached, if they have not passed, the limit.

Decorative Projections on Buildings.

At the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen an ordinance was passed by a vote of 47 in the affirmative to 5 in the negative which proposes to allow decorative projections on buildings so long as the same do not extend beyond the stoop line, the stoop line being usually six feet out from the building line. The text of the ordinance is as follows:

An ordinance amending section 332 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of New York of 1897, by adding thereto a new section to be known as section 332B.

Be it ordained by the Board of Aldermen of the City of New York, as follows:

That section 332 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of New York of 1897 is hereby amended by adding thereto the following section to be known as section 332B, so as to read as follows:

Section 1. Nothing contained in the Revised Ordinances of 1897 applicable to the City of New York, shall be deemed to prohibit the owner of property to construct upon the face of his buildings, except upon buildings situated upon Broadway to the south of Fifty-ninth street, and upon buildings situated upon Fourteenth street, between Broadway and Sixth Avenue, decorative projections so long as the same do not extend beyond the stoop-line, subject to the approval of the Superintendent of Buildings and Borough President.

Sec. 2. All ordinances of the former municipal and public corporations consolidated into the City of New York, inconsistent or conflicting herewith, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 3. This ordinance shall take effect immediately.

A public hearing is to be given by the Mayor on Tuesday next, the 17th inst, at 12.30 noon, when this proposition that in effect establishes a new building line will be discussed. A goodly attendance of property owners and those interested in building operations is expected at the hearing.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

An exceptionally fine lot of brownstone taken from the Jaffray Building, corner of Broadway and Leonard st, now being demolished, can be bought at a low price of the Candee & Krekeler Co., contractors for the removal of buildings, Hamilton av, opposite 15th st, Brooklyn.

An effect of the indisposition to build for investment in the villages surrounding Greater New York, because of the high cost of material, especially lumber, is illustrated in the case of Haverstraw, an hour's run up the West Shore, which is described as being in "a sad and awkward position," because of the inadequacy of houses. A report from there says: "Houses and apartments with any attempt at modern improvements are unobtainable at any rent."

The construction of the New York & Portchester Railroad, to extend from a connection with the Subway system, at 177th st and Willis av, to the Connecticut line, will begin in April. The road will have four tracks and touch Mount Vernon, Pelham Manor, Rye, New Rochelle and Harrison, with a three-mile branch to the East River, at Classon Point. Ultimately, the expectation is, this road will become part of the Interborough system. As the fares will be one-third those of the New Haven road, the importance of the new line and the immensity of the traffic assured to it are apparent.

The Snead & Co. Iron Works, of Jersey City, have completed and are now working on considerable ornamental iron. They have just about completed the exterior ornamental cast-iron work for the Woodward & Lothrop Building, Washington, D. C.; cast-iron front work for a building at No. 22 West 34th st; stairs and elevator fronts in the addition to the Barnett store on Columbus av; ornamental iron in the Alpha Realty Apartment House, 14 East 60th st; ornamental railing, entrance gates and marquise for the residence of Mr. M. Taylor Pyne, 265 Madison av; structural and ornamental iron work for the Thorne residence, 84th st and 5th av; and other work. They also have the contract for the ornamental iron work in the Newark City Hall. The officers of this company are. Udolpho Snead, president; Jacob F. Arnold, general manager, and E. H. Patton, secretary and treasurer. In a previous issue the Snead & Co. Iron Works were confused with the Snead Architectural Iron Works, a Louisville concern, with which the Jersey City Company has no connection. The latter are at present erecting a 60-ft. addition to their fitting shop.

The local Board of Public Improvements of the Bushwick district, decided to recommend the laying out of a new small public park in the East New York district. The proposed park will be triangular, bounded by Broadway, Fulton st, and William pl. It will be known as Jewell Square.

The Long Island Railroad Company did not buy the old Thirteenth Regiment Armory when it was put up at auction on Wednesday in the Real Estate Exchange. It bid in a lively manner, but Henry Roth, a builder of this borough, went $300 higher than the railroad company's final offer, and the armory was knocked down to Roth for $140,500.

William H. Baldwin, Jr., president of the Long Island Railroad, attended the sale and did the bidding for his company. After Auctioneer Hovenden had read the terms of sale, etc., President Baldwin bid $125,500 for it, and after twenty-eight bids it was knocked down to Henry Roth, a builder, at $140,500. The Long Island Railroad Co. owns practically all the property adjacent to the armory.

South Brooklyn's Water Front.

When estimating the growth and the popularity of South Brooklyn as a residential section, the fact that the ferry running between 39th st, Brooklyn, and Whitehall st, Manhattan, is no longer an adequate carrier for the traffic that is offered, should be taken into consideration. It seems but a little while ago since the builder of the first boat ran her ashore when on her first trip. Unfortunately, under the present system the ferry capacity cannot be adequately extended, and the difficulties of transportation must either be conquered by bridges, car tunnels or traffic subways, the last meaning practically subaqueous streets. Dock Commissioner Hawkes, for one, is strongly in favor of the subways, and has urged the local board to unceasingly advocate them, as they would supply the demands of the building trades for conveniences in trucking material.

None too soon, apparently, are the preparations of the Dock Department for improving the water front facilities of the section. Plans and specifications are being prepared for a pier at 50th st that will be nearly 700 feet long and 40 feet wide. The Department is also negotiating with owners this side of 39th st, with the object of acquiring title, presumably having in view larger ferry terminals and docking facilities. Plans for a pier at or near 28th st await the acquisition of land either by purchase or condemnation proceedings, and the city also proposes to build piers at the foot of Bay Ridge av, 79th st, 88th st, and below 99th st. Moreover, the present public piers at Bay Ridge av and Fort Hamilton will be rebuilt to a length of 500 and 650 feet, respectively.

It is said that most of the water front property remaining undeveloped along the Bay Ridge shore is under negotiations, particularly the Kent and Langley holdings. The West End Board of Trade favors keeping open every fifth street to the water side for public piers, and closing the rest for the sake of manufacturing interests.

Apprehension of Serious Labor Troubles.

The strike of bridge and structural workers against the American Bridge Company continues. Sixty iron workers on the Atlantic av elevation of the Long Island Railroad in East New York went on strike yesterday for some reason connected with the bridge company. The men themselves had no grievance, but a delegate told them to quit. Terry & Tench are the contractors in charge of the work, and the men belong to Local No. 2, with headquarters in Manhattan. At the office of the American Bridge Company it was said yesterday that no change had occurred in the situation since the strike began, so far as this city is concerned. The strike originated with the hoisting engineers, who asked for pay by the day instead of by the hour. The housesmiths, who intended to strike on May 1 for an increase of pay if not then granted, anticipated the time in the case of the American Bridge Company both on work in this city and elsewhere, in order to help the engineers.

It was announced in this journal some months ago that the bridge and structural workers had made demands which they expected would be granted on May 1. The secretary of the International union, who is now making his headquarters here, says the union will wait until a week or two before May 1, when employers will be asked what they intend to do. Among employers of all the building trades there are feelings of apprehension and resentment, lest the coming season be one of strife. They think that the strong unions have reason to be content and should let one season pass without inviting turmoil. The general sentiment among the employers is for a stern and combined resistance.

A sympathetic strike began on Thursday at the Mutual Life Insurance building in Cedar st, to force a contractor to hire Amalgamated as well as Brotherhood carpenters. Nearly two hundred men in ten trades quit.

Harlem Property Interests.

Representatives from nearly every association of property owners in this borough and the Bronx were in attendance at the mass meeting of the Harlem Property Owners' Association on Wednesday night at Marion Hall, 125th st and Lexington av. The speakers were President Cantor of the borough of Manhattan, Congressman Joseph A. Goulden, former Senator John Ford, Adolph Bloch of the law firm of Ettinger & Bloch, Edward J. Murray and others. The principal purpose of the meeting was to protest against the official method of assessing the cost of the Park av improvement upon the surrounding property, instead of upon the whole city, as provided in a bill which the Association has just introduced in the Legislature.

President Cantor, in his address, said he did not believe that it was right or just to assess the Harlem property owners for a railway viaduct that was of no advantage to them, but was of great value to the city at large and the traveling public. "There are occasions," he said, "in the life of a city like ours when it is to the interest of the public that work should be done, and on such an occasion it is the duty of the public at large to bear the expense, not the property owners who have not benefited by the change."

Congressman Goulden urged the necessity for the completion of the Harlem Ship Canal and the deepening of the river and the kills and declared the money now advanced meant that the work would not be finished for the next twenty-five or thirty years. He then told of the coming visit of the river and harbor committee of congress, which, on his invitation, would look over the ground, after which he hoped to see the demands granted.

The Safety of Steel Buildings.

Maximilian Toch delivered a lecture before the Chemists' Club last week on the "Permanent Protection of Steel and Iron." He illustrated the condition of some of the steel skeletons of the sky-scrapers, and said:

"There are some of the big buildings, with their iron and steel girders, which have been lately put up in this city that will last until the day of doom. There are others that I would give from fifty to seventy-five years of safety. Of course, the most of us will be gone before that time arrives, but it may be well to give a warning to builders and architects of the future.

"A great deal of guessing and experimenting has been done, and I consider has been done on wrong lines. The new paint, or the paint of the future, is to be a mixture of cement. Bed a piece of steel in properly-made cement and it will never oxidize. Bed the same steel in another kind of cement and it will corrode very quickly."

Mr. Toch then showed the picture of a part of a new apartment house in Central Park West, and said:

"In my opinion, from examinations I have made of this house, it will not last for fifteen years. Many of the girders are even now beginning to show corrosion. It will be but a few years when these girders will have to be replaced."

Questions and Answers.

We must remind our correspondents that we cannot answer anonymous communications. Readers must also remember that communications to us cannot invariably be answered the week they are received.

LICENSE LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you please inform me if there is a license law for architects in the State of New Jersey?

Answer.—Yes; Chapter 29, Laws of 1902, State of New Jersey, entitled "An act to regulate the practice of architecture," approved March 24, 1902.

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly advise if the right to file mechanic's lien for gas and electric fixtures furnished and installed exists? Also give reference to the latest decisions on the question.

Answer.—The right exists. As far as I know it has never been disputed; consequently there are no decisions on the question.—Law Editor.

NOTICE DOES NOT CONSTITUTE A LIEN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Provided a notice is received from the Tenement House Commission to enlarge an air shaft in a tenement house, does that constitute a lien on the property? If such a notice had been received, and an extension of, say, sixty days granted by this commission, if in the meantime I had sold this property, could the buyer of the same compel the seller to make good the cost of the alteration after title had been passed to him?

Answer.—(1) No. (2) No.—Law Editor.

WIFE SURVIVES HUSBAND.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question: I am about to pay off a mortgage of $3,000, which is past due, payable to G. O., and A. O., his wife. G. O. died about seven years ago intestate, leaving surviving him his wife, A. O., and three children, all of full age. Has the widow, A. O., a lawful right to receive the money for said mortgage, and sign the satisfaction piece all alone?

Answer.—Yes.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly send us the copy of your magazine in which it is quoted that a landlord was not liable on account of a person slipping upon zinc nosings on stairs whereby such a one was more or less injured.

Answer.—I recollect no such question in the department of Questions and Answers. If nosings of any sort are put upon the stair treads properly, and are kept in good order, it cannot be held, as a matter of law, that it is negligence or carelessness on the part of the landlord to maintain them.—Law Editor.

ORCHESTRAL MUSIC A NUISANCE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A great nuisance has lately been created by the owners of restaurants in the flat house districts by the engagements of orchestras playing until 1 a. m., to the annoyance of tenants over and facing the dining-room. The average time of retiring of a family is between 10-11 p. m., and a business man, working at daytime, is well entitled to his rest, but is disturbed by this nuisance. Is there any law which requires the restaurant-keeper to obtain the consent of the adjoining property-owners, or any other way to stop this nuisance?

Answer.—There is no such law, but those aggrieved have a remedy by applying to the Health Department or by bringing an action to abate the nuisance.—Law Editor.

BAY WINDOWS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I refer to page 154 (Jan. 24) of the Record and Guide, under the heading, "Bay Window Ordinance," the last paragraph: "If the projection of a bay window does not exceed 1 foot beyond the building line," etc. Does that refer to store front show-windows, and on what date was the amendment passed by the Board of Aldermen?

Answer.—In the words of the ordinance, a bay window "shall be taken to mean and include all projections on the face of a building in the nature of windows, such as are commonly called bay windows, show windows, oriel windows and bow windows, without regard to the material of which they are constructed, or to the purposes for which they are to be used." The amended ordinance went into effect January 30, 1903.

NUISANCE.

To the Editor of the Record and Guide:

I own a house and lot in the Borough of the Bronx, fronting on a street that is opened, regulated, graded, paved and sewered. The property in the rear and adjoining my land is a farm embracing many acres, on which there are numerous springs. In the winter and spring, the springs fill up and overflow my property, cutting the ground and damaging the property otherwise. What redress have I in the matter?

Answer.—You can bring suit against the owner of the property to abate the nuisance.—Law Editor.

OBNOXIOUS SIGN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please give me your opinion and advice on the following: My neighbor, who is located on the next block, being in the same line of business, has a large sign in front of his window, on which he has in large letters, the following: "Notice to the Public. How many a man takes a meat market and has no experience, and has to leave it to an inexperienced man. Not knowing himself, believes it is all right. But here we leave it to the public to judge for themselves." It appears that the sign certianly alludes to me, as I have been the past four years in the real estate business. I have a man who manages the place, and will add that we understand our business.

Answer.—The sign is not in very good taste, but you can do nothing about it.—Law Editor.

COMMISSION ON SALE OF BLUESTONE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Would like a legal answer to the following statement: A employed B as salesman in the bluestone business. B had been a salesman for five years or more at the time the sale in question took place. B looks up C and makes a bargain with him. C agrees to get the amount of stone for each street mentioned in the bargain, and to send it to B, when B is to place it on the order book of A. In the meantime A calls on C and offers to let him have the stone less B's commission, provided C will give him the order direct. C refuses to accept the offer, on the grounds that he had already given order to B. A left for the time being, but returned the next day and renewed his offer, and C finally accepted it. Now the question is, has B a legal right to his commission from A, and can he collect it in suit against him?

Answer.—B is entitled to the commission and should recover if he brings suit against A.—Law Editor.

RESTRICTIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following questions: (1) If a builder buys two private houses in a street which is restricted for private houses only, can he build flats or an apartment house on the site of the houses he bought? (2) Do restrictions hold good? (3) Would the builder have to get the consent of the other owners in the street? (4) Has not this (regarding restrictions) been declared null and void by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court? (5) Was not a case in the above decided in favor of the builder within the past year? (6) Would it be safe to buy private houses in a restricted street and build on the site of the same an apartment house? (7) Could the other owners in the street bring suit for damages, and do you think they would recover?

Answer.—(1) He cannot if the restriction applies to his property and is valid. (2) Some restrictions do, but I cannot tell whether they do in your case without an investigation and an inspection of the deeds. (3) If the restrictions are valid he would have to get the necessary consent or consents. (4) Restrictions generally have not been declared null and void by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. (5) There may have been a case decided in which the restrictions involved in the case were declared invalid, but I do not recall such a decision. (6) If the restriction was valid it would not. (7) If the restriction was valid they could sue out an injunction to prevent the erection of flats or apartment houses.—Law Editor.

FEATURES OF THE TENEMENT HOUSE LAW.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly decide the following argument: Is, according to the present new tenement house law, with the exception of the stairway, more fireproof provision required in building, than was necessary by the law in vogue before this new law was enacted, and what are the most important improvements?

Answer.—It is difficult to make a brief and intelligible answer to this question. Formerly non-fireproof tenement houses more than six stories in height and not exceeding 75 feet in height were required to have both the first and second-story floors constructed fireproof, and then the height was not allowed to be more than seven stories, nor to exceed 85 feet in height. Under the new law in non-fireproof tenement houses five stories or more in height, exclusive of the cellar, only one floor is required to be fireproof; if the height exceeds six stories, or parts of stories, in height it must be entirely fireproof. If the basement ceiling is more than 2 feet above the curb level it is considered a full story, and in that event a six-story and basement building would require to be constructed entirely fireproof. Formerly slow-burning bulkheads were required only on houses more than four stories in height. Now every new tenement house, regardless of height, is required to have a fireproof bulkhead. Formerly bins for wood and coal were allowed to be of wood construction. Now in all buildings which exceed three stories in height, unless the entire floor above the cellar is constructed fireproof, the bins must be constructed entirely of fireproof material. Formerly stair halls in tenement houses only when exceeding five stories in height were required to be constructed fireproof. Now stair halls in non-fireproof tenement houses when exceeding three stories in height are required to be constructed fireproof. Many other comparisons between the old ordinance and the new law could be drawn, but confining our answer to tenement houses of not exceeding five stories and basement in height, the new tenement house law contains more fireproof requirements than does the building code under its former provisions for such buildings.

DOWER IN PARTNERSHIP PROPERTY.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Where parcels of real estate for both business and speculative purposes are held by a business partnership, the partners in which have equal shares, is the law providing for the dower right of the wife of any partner in this real property applicable to property held in this way? Of course, it is understood that she has a dower right in property held by him individually, but is it also true where the property is held by a firm, either engaged in the real estate business or a general commercial partnership?

Answer.—The United States rule is thus stated in the American and English Encyclopaedia of Law: "The doctrine laid down by the courts of most of the States of the Union (including New York) is that the equitable conversion of real estate purchased with partnership funds for partnership purposes is limited strictly to the purposes which demand its operation, and that a widow is entitled to dower after the payment of the partnership debts and the settlement of the partnership accounts."

A New York decision (Dawson v. Parsons, 10 Misc. Rep., 428) is as follows: "Copartnership realty is not real estate is equity so long as it is copartnership property, and it remains copartnership property so long as the debts of the copartnership are unpaid, and so long as the remainder is not apportioned among the partners according to their respective interests. And so, when it has become necessary to appoint a receiver for the purpose of closing up a partnership, and the receiver, in the lifetime of one of the partners, and before the affairs of the partnership have been settled, sells the copartnership realty, such realty is not in equity real estate to which the right of dower would attach. Therefore, the wife of such partner has no inchoate interest in it, as such, which it is necessary for her to release to a purchaser. Any right which she may have as the wife of such partner cannot attach until after a settlement of all the partnership affairs; and if, for the purpose of such settlement, it has become necessary to sell the realty, her right attaches, not to the property so sold, but to the proceeds thereof, after the payment of all claims, both of the creditors and of the several partners."

The rule is the same whether the copartnership is engaged in a general speculative real estate business or a general commercial business.—Law Editor.

TAX ON BOND AND MORTGAGE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

(1) Was it contemplated by the Legislature, when the Personal Tax Law was passed, that under its provisions bonds and mortgages on real estate should also form subjects of taxation? (2) When was that law passed? Give chapter, etc. (3) What year was the first case tested? Give title of case and volume in which it can be found. (4) Can a mortgage be drawn to secure an interest or an amount of money on real estate which by its terms and conditions would not come within the provisions of the personal tax law?

Answer.—(1) It was contemplated that all kinds of property should be taxed. (2) There is no "personal tax law." There is a general tax law which subjects all kinds of property, real as well as personal, to taxation. This was passed at the first session of the Legislature, and has since been variously amended. The last amendment, which you probably have in mind, is published separately from the session laws by Banks & Brothers, and is known as the "Tax Law of 1896" (Chapter 908). (3) I fail to grasp the meaning of this question. (4) No; but if a lender desires, he may insert a clause for his own protection in the mortgage like the following: "It is hereby further agreed by the parties hereto that if, at any time or times before said bond is paid, any law or laws be enacted reducing the taxable value of land by deducting therefrom any lien thereon, or changing the laws in relation to taxes on debts secured by mortgages or the manner of collecting such taxes, the mortgagor agrees to pay to the mortgagee a sum equal to the tax or burden imposed by said law or laws on the holder of the said bond and this mortgage, in addition to the interest provided to be paid in said bond, within ten days after said tax is made payable by said law or laws, unless the amount of said tax added to the amount of interest provided for in said bond exceed legal interest, or unless the payment of said tax by the mortgagor or owner of the land is prohibited by law. If the amount of said tax and the interest aforesaid exceed legal interest, or if such payment by the mortgagor or owner of the land is prohibited by law, then said bond and this mortgage shall become due and payable at the expiration of thirty days after the enactment of any such law or laws. The additional amounts which may under the foregoing provision become due and payable, shall be regarded as interest, and shall be part of the debt secured by said bond and this mortgage, and all the provisions in reference to default in payment of interest contained in said bond and mortgage shall apply to such additional amounts.

"If a law be enacted under which the mortgagor shall be liable to pay an additional sum under the foregoing provisions, the mortgagor may pay off said bond at any time before maturity, if said mortgagor gives to the holder thereof three months prior notice in writing of the intention to do so. If such notice be given, said bond and this mortgage shall then become due and payable as if the time fixed in the notice had been named in the bond as the time for the payment of said principal sum."—Law Editor.

Paint.

A great many people insist on using nothing but strictly pure white lead and oil, considering that if it is pure it is the best article for painting purposes, but an article that is absolutely pure is not necessarily better adapted for a certain purpose than something else which is not strictly pure.

To-day it is admitted by many eminent chemists and painters that pure lead used alone is one of the poorest of painting pigments, as the acid of the dry lead in a short time commences to work on the oil and destroy its life, and as the oil is the life of the paint, when it is gone the paint will not endure, but will chalk off like whitewash. This is especially noticed in exposed places along our seacoast, where very frequently pure lead and oil will not stand more than a year.

Silex used with pure lead and zinc if of the right kind and specially prepared for the purpose, forms a combination which prevents any action of the acid or saponification of the paint and makes the best painting product known. Breinig's Lithogen Silicate Paint and Lithogen White Lead, which are manufactured on this principle, have been on the market for more than forty years, and The Bridgeport Finishing Co., of New Milford, Ct., New York, Philadelphia and Chicago, would be pleased to give any information or submit samples. The cost of painting is not so much the price paid for the paint as for the labor in applying it, and a great many dollars would be saved in repainting if the proper paint were used.

New Library at College Point.

Everything is now ready at College Point for the beginning of the construction of the first Carnegie library in Queens Borough. The site, which is on the corner of 1st av and 13th st, directly opposite the new public school, gives general satisfaction; the money with which it was purchased was raised by voluntary subscription. With the grounds cleared and the plans prepared, bids from contractors are now in order.

The size of the building will be 66x34 in the front portion, and 34x30 in the rear wing, which will be the stack-room. The material will be brick, stone and terra cotta, all of which will be represented in the façade. The ceiling in the reading room is 15 feet in height, and in the stack-room 13 feet. The floor is of a fireproof construction, concrete being used; the ceilings are plaster. The estimated cost is $20,000. Architects, Heins & La Farge.

Press Opinions on TenementLegislation.

Long Island Star: "It does seem to the people who own property in the unsettled sections of boroughs, outside of Manhattan, that a policy which may be applicable to a congested portion of the city, might be so arranged as not to operate to the injury of other sections that are awaiting development."

North Side News: "A crazy feature of the present law is a section which permits four families in a 2-sty house, but will not allow three families in a 3-sty house. The reasoning upon which this contradiction is based is hard to understand and can only be explained upon the principle that the reformer is fearfully and wonderfully made, and his way is past finding out."

Glass-Faced Brick.

Glass-faced brick is a new candidate for public favor, and is another form of the great variety of concrete building material that is now being manufactured. A glass plate is laid in the bottom of a mold, and the concrete mixer is poured in on top of the glass. The concrete hardens on the glass, thus forming a brick or building block with a brilliant exterior.

This kind of brick is for use in such places as courts and light wells in large buildings, where the glass becomes a reflector, and on account of its smooth surface, does not become soiled easily, and is readily washed.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

March 6, 7, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Registers office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 6, 7, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

German Brickmakers and the Proposed Large-Size Brick.

A subject which has been much discussed by German brick manufacturers is the circular issued by the Minister of Public Works to brick manufacturers, as follows: "In the building division of my ministry it has been urged for some time past that for brick buildings of a monumental character, that should present the most impressive appearance, and particularly for churches, the size of the bricks should be that which was in use during the Middle Ages, as by using this larger size a more imposing and worthier effect can be produced than with the standard size. An enquiry was addressed to provincial officials, and it appears that the dimensions which would be preferred are as follows: Length 11⅛-in., breadth 5¼-in., thickness 3½-in." The Brickmakers' Association considered the matter and came to the following conclusions: The present German standard size of 9⅞-in. by 4¼-in. by 2½-in. for building and front bricks is in every respect the most favorable and the most useful. If a more imposing and worthy effect is desired, then it would be better, instead of increasing the size of the bricks, to make them a suitable color. This has been done in the case of a number of churches for Berlin and with the happiest results. There the matter rests, but it would seem as if the Minister could use in his public works bricks of any size he cared to specify, for somebody would be found willing and able to make them.

—The subject of architects' fees for public buildings has recently been undergoing considerable discussion in Paris, with the result that a sliding scale has finally been adopted. In the future the commission on all buildings costing more than $150,000 will be at the rate of four per cent.; those between $125,000 and $150,000 at four and a-half per cent.; those between $75,000 and $125,000 at five per cent.; those between $40,000 and $75,000 at the rate of five and a-half per cent.; and for all buildings costing less than $40,000 six per cent.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

In these lists of Judgments the names alphabetically arranged and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real names being unknown. Judgments entered during the week and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

The Judgments filed against corporations, etc., will be found at the end of the list.

Vol. LXXI. MARCH 21, 1903. No. 1827

SO far as the news of the week has a bearing upon the security market it is on the whole favorable rather than otherwise. First in importance are the current reports of railroad earnings, which continue to reflect in increases the satisfactory nature of the business of the country, regarding which the second annual statement of the United States Steel Corporation will furnish further testimony. If, as is claimed with much plausibility, the iron trade affords the very best indications of general conditions, then the activity in that line and the orders on the books of the great manufacturing concerns ought to be highly encouraging for the immediate future. Foreign trade reports show that the adverse difference between imports and exports is being closed under a freer movement of corn and cotton, and as this has a distinct bearing upon the money situation and the question of American liabilities abroad, it is at this time more than usually interesting and important. As to the money market itself, though rates for both time and call accommodations continue high, there is not only no further fear of a pinch this spring, but rather a feeling that relief from present conditions is near. This is consonant with the operations of money usual at this time of the year, when the drain upon this centre should cease and a return movement shortly begin. The floods in the South are regarded with some natural anxiety, but they are not such as to have appreciable effect upon values. As to the outlook in the stock market, that is somewhat obscured by the fuss raised over Southern Pacific by the manager of the pool that has long been known to exist in that stock and whose prospects for a profitable result are dim. The publication of the facts relating to this pool will certainly warn the public against buying the stock, and as matters have turned out it is difficult to see where the market is to be found for their holdings. As to the merits of the question incidentially raised, whether Southern Pacific should be placed in the dividend ranks, those who are acquainted with the property and familiar with its affairs, and are at the same time disinterested, will agree with the management that the ultimate good of the property will be best served by using the profits from operation to increase its efficiency and facilities. Subject to the proviso that this quarrel has no disturbing denouement, prices ought to continue the process of gradual recovery begun this week.

DULLNESS is reported from the European Exchanges this week, and this does not encourage those who have been expecting help from that quarter to put up prices in our own. Still the view is held in some quarters that the inactivity remarked is simply due to the demand for money, and that a period of buying is about to supervene. Speaking of London "The Statist" says: There are many indications outside as well as inside the Stock Exchange that the public is tired of its inactivity during the past three or four years, and is once more preparing to invest upon a considerable scale. For the time being the market is held in check by the state of the money market, and probably until after Easter there will not be much activity." The same story is told in Paris, where it is apparent the public have abundant means and a desire to buy, but at the same time they want good returns. Thus the Servian loan which yields 5½% was taken up, and there is buying of what may be termed the cats and dogs of Governments, while the very best issues in that class go begging. This confirms what we said last week about Consols and what we have for a long time pointed out as the tendency of investment buying. It indicate a revival of courage among European buyers, and a fancy for speculative issues, which they have not possessed since the days of Argentine development and the consequent Baring failure. If they continue in this frame of mind United States Industrials, which pay more and are safer than some of the Governments so confidently bought, ought to come in for a share of attention. As to the business outlook there is no change. It is one of cheerfulness even if the signs of betterment do not loom up very large. Mathematical records of prices for staple commodities show that the movement is upward. The London "Economist" monthly index figure has risen steadily since last June, and at the beginning of this month stood higher than it has been since December, 1900. The Governor of the Bank of France is lately quoted to the effect that in 1901 the hope of a revival in the following year was expressed, but it was not realized in 1902 to any considerable extent. There was, however, with the opening of this year signs of improvement. There had been a good harvest, the prices of wines were good, imports of raw manufactures had been large and the exports had been most satisfactory; also there were increases in some directions of railway traffic returns. Germany also contributes evidence of a European industrial revival in a satisfactory report of foreign trade for the opening of the year, and in growing demand for industrial capital. In a revival of European security speculation the United States is bound to share.

WHILE awaiting the text of the Mortgage Tax bill introduced into the Legislature this week, it may be taken for granted that the descriptions of the measure sent from Albany are correct, as they agree with advance information of the probable contents of the bill, and that it is well drafted to secure the purpose of its promoters. There is no reason why technically the bill should not be a good piece of construction. The people up the State have had plenty of practice by now, this being the third attempt to impose a double tax on real estate, during which a dozen or more bills have been introduced. So far as the question involved in this bill is concerned it has been pretty well threshed out. It is simply one of whether this means should be taken to put the State upon an independent pecuniary basis in the face of a public opposed to a tax on mortgages, not yet convinced that it is best for the State that it should be made pecuniarily independent of the localities and who, while seeing that a reform of the tax system is necessary, are anxious that when made it should be made scientifically, and with due regard to all interests concerned. This being the position of affairs it is hardly worth while again going over the arguments put forward to justify the proposed new tax. There are two, however, that are employed so constantly that they ought to still receive attention. One is the widow and orphan argument, and the other the alleged reduction of interest that will follow exemption from all taxes but this one of four mills. The first is simply an absurdity, inasmuch as it amounts to a claim that because the few mortgages owned by estates under probate are taxed as personality, that a tax ought to be imposed upon all mortgages. The answer to this is, if the widows and orphans are unjustly treated provide legislative remedies. As to the matter of interest rates, there is certainly no guarantee that the imposition of a tax of four mills accompanied by exemption from other taxation will lower interest rates; on the contrary the conditions of the money market is such, and is likely to remain so for a good while longer, that any tax that has to be paid will increase the annual cost of the money borrowed, and that without diminution, because of exemption from a tax that is not paid, as is the personal tax on mortgages at the present time. There may be cases in which offsets will be found, but they cannot be sufficient to negative the general claim that the passage of this bill will increase the cost of money borrowed upon real estate to the extent of the tax imposed.

IT is very satisfactory to see that work has actually been commenced to make Elm street available for traffic and of some use to the property on either side. This it has never been since what can only be technically called the improvement was made, and it would be difficult to estimate the loss that Elm street property owners have suffered in the past six years that the roadway has been, either a storeroom for material, a dump for refuse or an open cut for the underground railroad. As it is the condition of work on the railroad and other circumstances will not permit the hope that the street will be ready for its destined use for some time to come; that is as an artery joining the southern part of the city with the great thoroughfares of the northern part. But as grading has been, or is being done, where the removal of obstructions will permit it and as when once the authorities have a clear way, work can be rapidly pushed, the property upon the street can now be regarded from the standpoint of ordinary uses and not as something kept outside of the ordinary influences of development. Its position therefore as marketable real estate must be correspondingly improved.

"Apartment House" and "Tenement House."

WE print elsewhere in full Assemblyman Farrell's Bill (Print No. 1089) and also a statement by Mr. Harder, of the firm of Israels & Harder, architects, in favor of the proposed measure. There is so much that is valid in Mr. Harder's general point of view that the Record & Guide has some reluctance in placing itself in total opposition to the proposed change in our laws. Nevertheless, after carefully analyzing the bill, there is nothing to be done but to squarely object to it as pernicious.

For many years past the idea has been current that some legal distinction should be made between the so-called "tenement house" and the so-called "apartment house." To many persons it has seemed an easy task to define this distinction, but every attempt that has been made so far has simply furnished evidence of how much easier it is to mentally recognize the difference that exists, than to define it in practical, legal and unequivocal terms. Certainly no proposition has yet been made towards arriving at this distinction, which will not defeat entirely the purpose of the Tenement House Law and permit it to be evaded. If such a change in definition as is contemplated in the Farrell Bill were to be adopted, no more "tenement houses" would be built. They would all be "apartment houses," because the apartment house is permitted by this bill to occupy a greater percentage of the lot than the tenement house, and the former is not compelled to comform to the provisions of the Tenement House Law. We cannot see how the Tenement House Department in passing upon a plan for a new house could determine how many persons would occupy each apartment. Architects and builders could, of course, state that the apartments would not be occupied by a greater number of persons than there are rooms in each apartment. By making such a statement the requirements of the Tenement House Law could be evaded. The distinction of an "apartment house" as one in which the apartments contain a kitchen, private bath-room and water-closet, also four other rooms, is, to say the least, extremely ingenuous. Nearly all the new tenement houses that are now built are arranged with five rooms and bath. Eighty per cent. of the tenement houses of all kinds built in 1902 had private baths for each family, and, as the law stands, it compels private water-closets for each family. Moreover, why should an "apartment house" not have as much light and ventilation, good sanitation, protection from fire as a "tenement house" so-called. The income of the tenants does not seem to us sufficient to render a bad thing desirable. Surely people who are well-off, or even rich, are as much entitled to light and air, proper sanitary conditions, protection from fire, as people who are not so well-off. Besides it must be always kept in mind that the fashionable apartment house of to-day may some time hence be a second-rate flat house, still later on it may degenerate into a cheap Tenement House.

Because the Building Code does not properly restrict the building of apartment hotels and bachelor apartments, should the Tenement House Law be broken down? As the proper remedy, would not Mr. Harder suggest that the Building Code be amended so as to place proper restrictions on the building of apartment hotels and bachelor apartments if the conditions under which these buildings may be constructed need to be made more stringent?

Our opinion coincides completely with the opinion of many well-informed authorities that the law is only partly responsible for the increase there has been in apartment hotels and bachelor apartments. The reason for the unusual activity in this line is that it has been the popular type. This class of house has been "in fashion." A reaction, however, is noticeable to-day and the records show that there has been a resumption of the building of apartment houses with a kitchen for each family. The number of apartment hotels and bachelor apartments projected is decreasing rather than increasing. This fact has been pointed out many times in these columns lately, and we publish elsewhere in this issue of the Record & Guide some statistics corroborating this view.

The Farrell Bill should not become law. It may not have an evil purpose, but it will certainly have a bad effect on a situation which is steadily improving.

THE present administration has certainly showed great wisdom in its dealing with corporations, and has steered clear of both of the two extremes, which have frequently characterized such negotiations in the past. Public policy and public opinion hitherto has alternated between an amiable and often corrupt acquiescence in the demands of franchise corporations on the one hand, and on the other a blind and unbusinesslike suspicion of them and prejudice against them. Mayor Low, however, in his dealings with both the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the New York Central did not treat them as public enemies, but as corporations, with whom it was possible and desirable to do business; and on that basis he succeeded in securing for the city improvements of the utmost value and in driving at the same time a good bargain with the companies. The same spirit and the same results have characterized negotiations with the New York City Interborough Company for franchises covering 36 miles of surface tracks in the Bronx, and three bridges across the Harlem. The contract which has been consummated with this company is a great improvement upon any similar agreement which has preceded it, and the improvement consists not so much in the actual compensation which has been extorted from the railroad company, as in the complete supervision and control, which the city retains over the future operations and earnings of the road. The implication of the whole contract is, not that a franchise is a piece of property of fixed value, which it is well for a city to sell for an indefinite period; but that it is a privilege of enormously varying value which affects public interests and convenience in many different ways, and which a company should hold only as subject to complete publicity of accounts and minute regulation of service. In other words, the interests of the city dominate the whole transaction. The company is merely a public servant, a useful agent, with whom it is profitable to do business, but who must expect to be granted privileges only upon good behavior, and not to make more than a fair return upon the capital and business enterprise, which is invested.

The Real Estate Association of New York.

THE preliminary organization of the Real Estate Association of New York, which was effected last Wednesday, gives every promise of good results. Three committees were immediately appointed—one to perfect plans for a permanent organization the second to take early action on pending legislation, and the third to voice the opinions of the Association on the financial questions. The meeting was attended by men representing all the large title and mortgage companies, nearly all the large real estate companies, a number of the big estates, and a number of important individual property-owners. It is safe to say that a more representative body of New York property owners could not be gathered together. They are entitled to speak in their own right for many hundred million of dollars worth of real estate, and their voice will carry the further, because they stand also for the most efficient and energetic contemporary methods of real estate improvement. In other words, they are the very people who are conspicuously absent from existing real estate organizations—the very people who are best qualified and able to obtain for the real estate interests the right of being fully consulted and the power of being effectively heard in reference to State legislation and municipal policy. If these gentlemen can also obtain the support of the small property owners all over the city, they will have at their disposal an organization, which can exercise a permanently and profoundly beneficial effect upon the growth and prosperity of New York.

The preliminary notice, which accompanied the call for the meeting held last Wednesday, emphasized chiefly the need of an association of property owners, which represented the general interests of real property owners, rather than the interests of any particular locality or any particular class. If the organization is to be a success it must remain true to this definition of its functions. The various local associations are fully capable of taking care of their own interests, and we do not believe that anything is to be gained by trying to make the general "Real Estate Association" a federation of these local bodies—chiefly because these local bodies have shown in the past that their views and purposes are as local as their interests. As contrasted with them the Real Estate Association should represent the whole city, and its larger function and scope must of necessity bring with it larger views of State and municipal policies. The property owners of New York are in effect the stockholders in a great corporate enterprise; and it is their particular interest to see that the business of the corporation is managed on business principles. So far as State legislation is concerned they should stand chiefly for local option in matters of taxation and government, and for the adoption of some definite and comprehensible policy in the distribution of taxation between real and personal property; so far as municipal affairs are concerned they should stand chiefly for the prevalence of business purposes and methods in the conduct of the city government. This will undoubtedly be the most ticklish part of the work of the Association. Upon matters of State legislation, New York real estate owners are generally pretty well united in the attitude they are likely to take; but in their opinions about municipal finance they differ very widely, and these differences will naturally rob the Association of influence, unless some common and settled point of view can in advance be made a matter of mutual agreement.

The point of view which they will naturally agree to take is the one mentioned above, viz., the business point of view. Property owners want the city managed, not in the interest of any political organization, but in the interest of economy and efficiency. Consequently the test which they will put to any large question of municipal policy, such as the question of assessment at full value, will be primarily not whether such a change of method puts them as operators and owners to some inconvenience, but whether it is a step in the direction of collecting taxes more equitably and of enabling the city to develop its resources sufficiently. It is safe to say that the influence of the Association will depend in the long run upon the rigor and spirit with which this business test is applied. If the Association will frankly recognize the fact that at bottom the interests of real estate are co-incident with the general interests of the city, and that the weight which its opinion carries depends upon its ability to avoid taking a narrow and extremely interested attitude on critical questions, its pronouncements will always be received with respect and will not be lightly disregarded by the city authorities. On the other hand to assume persistently a very short-sighted and selfish attitude toward municipal affairs, would be merely to restrict their influence to that of any other merely trade association.

Of course, organization is only a means to an end and has no virtue apart from the way in which the machinery which it brings into existence is used. It is essential in the first place that the Association should be able to apply to the work a certain amount of money, so that its officers can command a good permanent staff, and all the information they require to press home their declarations. It is essential also that the members of the various executive committees be ready to give a good deal of their very valuable time to the work of the Association. Finally it is essential that they should be prepared, not merely to approve or to condemn proposed legislative measures or financial expedients to urge, if necessary positive and constructive proposals of their own. In this respect they could not do better than follow in the trail that has been "blazed" by Mr. William F. King, with the "Merchants' Association, only the work should be done more systematically, and with more particular reference to the interests of real property owners. The work of the Chamber of Commerce also offers many points of desirable imitation, and there is no reason why in the course of time, the Real Estate Association should not become as respected and as useful an institution as the Chamber of Commerce is at present. Only it must take the initiative as that body has done, and become the chief source of wise counsel and practical suggestion in all general matters immediately related to the interests of real property.

The Theory of Urban Land Values.

AN ATTEMPT TO SET FORTH THE PRINCIPLES AND CONDITIONS THAT DETERMINE THE PRICE OF CITY REAL ESTATE.

CHAPTER X.—THE SCALE OF AVERAGE VALUES.

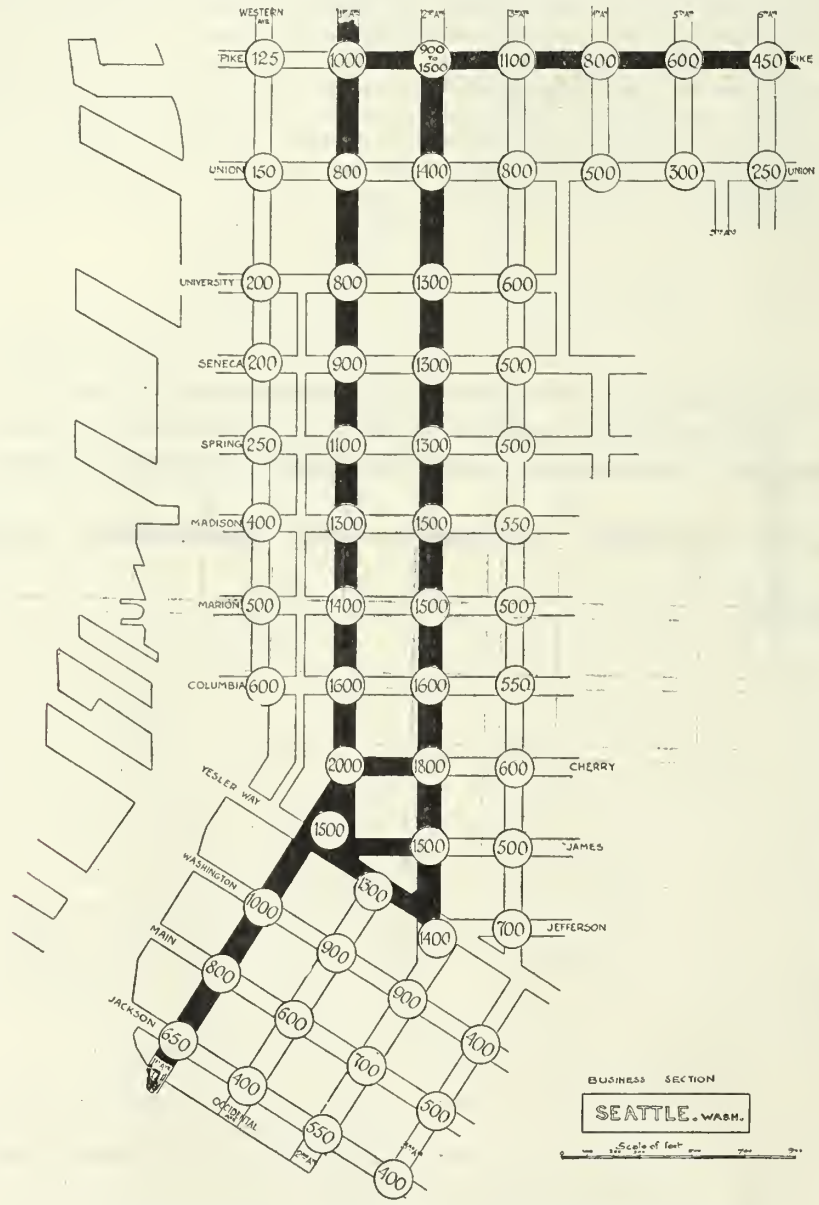
By Richard M. Hurd, President of the Lawyers' Mortgage Insurance Company.

Starting from the condition of no value in land when a city originates, let us consider the scale of average values of residence and business land in cities of various sizes, land used for other purposes being omitted as being more of an individual problem.

At the outer circumference of cities land is held as acreage, the prices per acre advancing from the normal value of farm land near cities, $50 to $150 per acre, up to market garden land, which may earn interest on $300 to $1,000 per acre, and, finally, to speculative tracts held at $500 to $5,000 per acre, whose prices are based on the estimated earnings of the land when it secures the anticipated utilization. Since the proportion of land occupied by streets averages about 35%, the conversion of acreage into lots means a loss in building area of that percentage, so that with the expenses of platting, opening streets, taxes, loss of interest, &c., it is generally estimated that property bought by the acre must sell by the lot for double the acre price in order to avoid loss in handling.

THE SCALE OF AVERAGE VALUES IN SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

The cheapest lots in any city are those utilized for workmen's houses, varying in smaller cities from $150 to $300. The larger the city the larger the number of well paid mechanics and the greater the effective demand for lots. A mechanic's lot on the outskirts of a small city differs from one on the outskirts of New York not only in price but in size, those in small towns having 50 to 60 feet frontage, and those in New York 15 to 20 feet frontage. Thus an average price of $150 for 50x100 foot lots in small cities would be equivalent to $1,300 per net acre after platting, or $850 per acre as acreage, and a price of $300 for 15x100 foot lots in large cities would be equivalent to $7,700 per net acre after platting, or $5,000 per acre as acreage. In the outskirts of the smaller cities platted land runs as low as $2 to $4 per front foot, and there are built up mechanics' sections with street car accommodation less than a mile from the centre of cities of 30,000 population, where land sells at but $5 per front foot, equivalent to 5 cents per square foot.



From this figure, land for detached residences grades upwards more in proportion to the class of people utilizing it than the size of the city, to land worth $20 to $30 per front foot for the residences of small shopkeepeers and clerks, and $40 to $75 for the more fashionable residences in cities of 75,000 population and under. Such residence property would have good street car service, graded streets, sidewalks, sewer, gas, water, electric light, etc., the cost of which may vary from $5 to $15 per front foot.

The best residence land in cities of 100,000 to 200,000 population runs from $75 to $150 per front foot, in cities of 200,000 population to 400,000 population from $300 to $500 per front foot, and in New York from $2,000 to $5,000 per front foot on the side streets and $6,000 to $9,000 per front foot on Fifth avenue.

The poorest locations utilized for shops in the small cities are ordinarily worth from $50 to $75 per front foot, from which point values rise to an average of $600 to $800 per front foot for the best business property in cities of 50,000 population, about $2,000 per front foot in cities of 200,000 population, $10,000 in cities of 2,000,000 population, and $15,000 to $18,000 in New York. Above these levels, land in the financial district of New York averages from $15,000 to $25,000 per front foot, this financial district having no counterpart in any other American city and being due to the supremacy of New York as a financial centre. The highest values in London are similarly in the financial district, while in Chicago and most of the smaller cities, shopping land, owing to the large amount of retail business and small amount of banking, is worth about twice as much as financial land. The average figures given represent corner lots having not less than 2,500 square feet, $350 per square foot (equal to $35,000 per front foot) having been paid thirty years ago for two small corners at Wall and Broad Streets, and recently for a small corner at Broadway and 34th Street. An approximate scale of normal values based on the consideration that each thousand of population adds from $10 to $12 to the front foot value of the best business locations and from $1 to $2 to the front foot value of the best residence locations would be as follows, it being understood that the application of any such scale is limited in practice by differences in wealth, character of industries and inhabitants, topography, transportation, platting, climate, etc. (See Table I.)

The proportion between land values due to different utilities varies widely in different cities, evidencing the response of special sections to special forces. Thus the best business and the best residence land in the same city shows in New York, with $35,000 per front foot for business and $9,000 per front foot for residence land, a proportion of about 4 to 1; in Buffalo with $4,500 for business land and $500 for residence land a proportion of 9 to 1; in Minneapolis with $2,500 for business and $100 for residence land a proportion of 25 to 1; and in Seattle with $2,000 for business and $100 for residence shows 20 to 1. When we turn to southern cities, Richmond with $1,600 for business and $300 for residence shows 5 to 1, and Atlanta with $2,000 for the best business and $200 for the best residence shows 10 to 1.

| City population. | Best business, per front ft. | Best residences, per front ft. |
|---|---|---|
| 25,000 | $300 to $400 | $25 to $40 |
| 50,000 | 600 to 1,000 | 40 to 75 |
| 100,000 | 1,200 to 2,000 | 75 to 150 |
| 150,000 | 1,500 to 2,500 | 100 to 200 |
| 200,000 | 1,800 to 3,000 | 100 to 300 |
| 300,000 | 2,500 to 4,500 | 200 to 500 |

| 2,000,000 | 9,000 to 16,000 | 1,000 to 2,000 |
| 3,500,000 | 18,000 to 35,000 | 4,000 to 9,000 |

As explaining this difference between western and southern cities, business is active and progressive in western cities, producing high business values, while residences are scattered by the trolley and are not held together by the old-established residence sections, whereas in southern cities the scale of business operations is less, partly owing to the diminished purchasing power of the negroes, resulting in low business values, while residence values are raised by the greater importance attached to social considerations and the greater age of the cities. The abnormally high values of residence property in New York testifies to its limited quantity and to the keen demand for it on the part of the many millionaires who make New York their home.

Heavy wholesale property responds but feebly to increased population, varying from $100 to $400 in value in cities of 300,000 people or under. Where values run above these figures the property would include some retail feature. The proportion of value between the best retail land and the best wholesale is, therefore, one which increases with the size of the city, ranging from 4 to 1 in the smaller cities, up to 10 to 1 in the largest. As examples of the value of the best retail, best wholesale and best residence land in various cities, the following list of front foot values is submitted. See table 2.

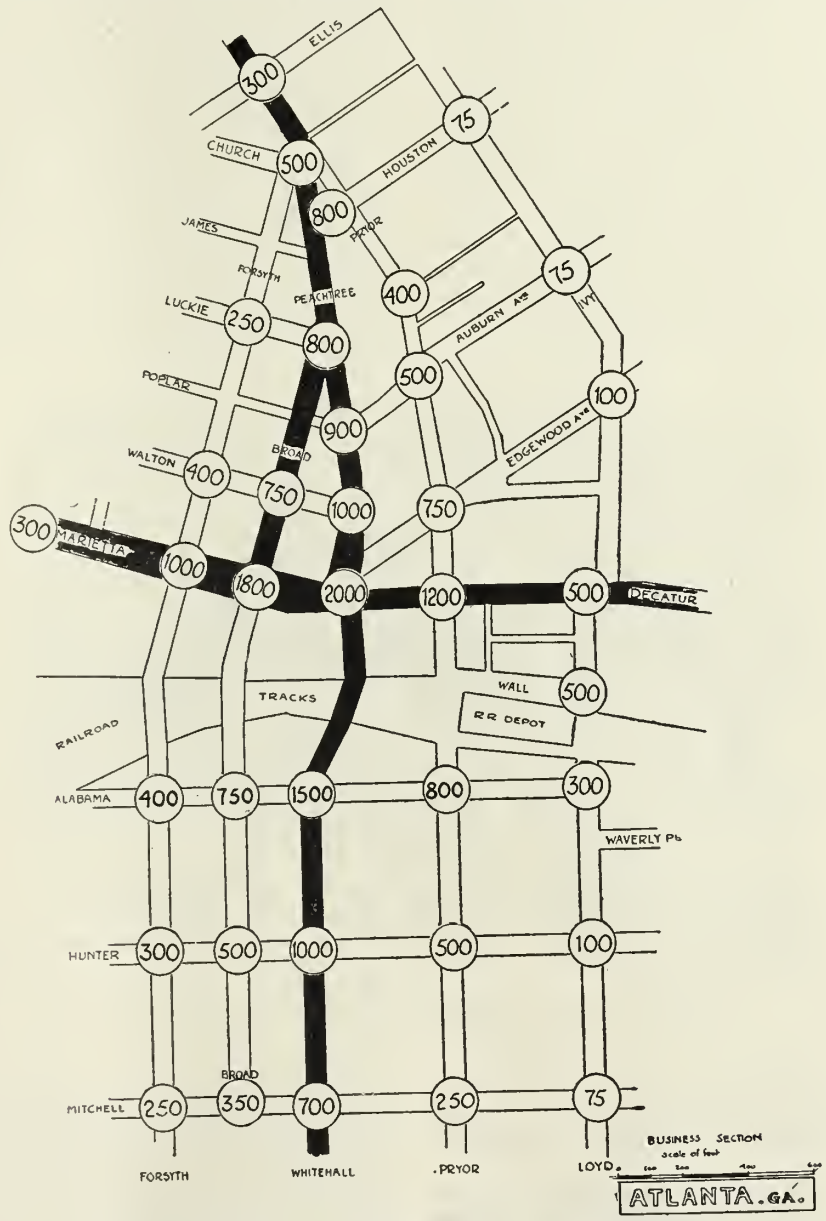
SUMMARY.



In reviewing the evolution of value in urban land, the first step is to conceive of the naked site apart from the buildings, having only the qualities of location and extension and without value until there is competition for land. Intrinsic value is the capitalization of the economic or ground rent, provided the buildings are suitable to the location. Exchange value consists of intrinsic value modified by future prospects. Ground rent is the residuum after deducting from gross rents all operating charges, taxes, insurance, repairs, rent collecting, and interest on the capital invested in the building. Ground rent is a premium paid solely for location and all rents are based on utility. Utilities in cities tend constantly toward specialization and complexity, business being first divided under distribution, administration and production, and then further subdivided; and residences being classified according to the number of occupants.

Insofar as land is suitable for a single purpose only, its value is proportionate to the degree to which it serves that purpose and the amount which such utility can afford to pay for it. When land is suitable for a number of purposes, one utility competes against another and the land goes to the highest utilization.

The total value of a city's site is broadly based on population and wealth, the physical city being the reflex of the total social activities of its inhabitants. Whatever the type of city, growth consists of movement away from the point of origin and is of two kinds: central, or in all directions, and axial, or along the watercourses, railroads and turnpikes which form the framework of cities. Modern rapid transit stimulates axial growth, producing star-shaped cities, whose modification in shape comes chiefly from topographical faults.

The factors distributing values over the city's area by attracting or repulsing various utilities, are, in the case of residences, absence of nuisances, good approach, moderate elevation and favorable transportation facilities; in the case of retail shops, passing street traffic, with a tendency towards proximity to their customers' residences; in the case of retail wholesalers and light manufacturing, proximity to the retail stores which are their customers; in the case of heavy wholesaling or manufacturing, proximity to transportation; and in the case of public or semi-public buildings, for historical reasons, proximity to the old business centre; the land that is finally left being filled in with mingled cheap utilities, parasites of the stronger utilities, which give a low earning power to land otherwise valueless.

Value by proximity responds to central growth, diminishing in proportion to distance from various centres, while value from accessibility responds to axial growth, diminishing in proportion to absence of transportation facilities. Change occurs not only at the circumference but throughout the whole area of a city, outward growth being due both to pressure from the centre and to aggregation at the edges. All buildings within a city react upon each other, superior and inferior utilities displacing each other in turn. Whatever the size or shape of a city and however great the complexity of its utilities, the order of dependence of one upon another is based on simple principles, all residences seeking attractive surroundings and all business seeking its customers.

While the outward glacial movement of a city continues, the daily currents of travel within alter its internal structure. The fluidity of daily traffic shifts utilities, creates plastic conditions in cities and keeps values in a state of unstable equilibrium.

To look at the problem from the individual standpoint, in attempting to state the value of any single property, the inquiry would seek first, upon what forces does the city itself depend, how permanent are they, how diversified, are they strengthening and what is the resulting index figure, to wit, the rate of increase of the city's population; next, what are the characteristics of the section of the city in which the property is located, its past history, its present stability, its future prospects; what is the central strength of the property, how near the main centre of the city or the various subcentres of attraction; what is its axial strength, the quantity, quality and regularity of the passing travel, what is the character of building on the property as to suitability, planning, physical condition, prospect of changing utility, management, convertibility, gross and net income; at what prices have surrounding property been selling, are they rising or falling, and do they suggest any factors not yet taken into account; is the property liable to be injured or benefited by changes in the building laws; is there any special enterprise or strength on the part of the owner or of surrounding owners likely to affect the property, what would be the probahle effect of any inventions or improvements in transportation or the consisting of redistribution of value, as one part of the city or another, or one individual or another, flourishes or declines, as in Charleston, S. C.

The principal causes of the redistribution of value in all cities are, increase in population and wealth, especially in causing relocation or extension of the best residence district, changes in transportation, such as new surface, elevated, or underground lines, new bridges, tunnels, ferries and railroads, and the readjustments of new utilities iu new areas harmonizing the complex contending factors.

Present tendencies point towards greatly increased values at strategic points, with relative and frequently absolute drops in value in locations formerly competitive. The quiet side streets, the back alleys and deserted nooks and corners where land has almost no value, despite its proximity to valuable laud, will doubtless continue at their present low planes, unless they are either reached by the spreading growth from some centre or are intersected by some new traffic street.

The point of highest value, responding in scale and location to the growth of the city, moves from the first business centre towards the best residence district, the crest of the wave being usually the middle of the retail shopping district, frequently strengthened by exceptionally large and handsome buildings, and occasionally checked by cross traffic streets. Apart from any factors which may deflect the line of growth, the land lying in its path is certain to increase in value, the time of such increase, however, being difficult to gauge, while the land left behind will usually sink in value, although in the largest cities, while decreasing relatively in value and utility, it sometimes struction of buildings, and, finally, what are the general commercial conditions as affecting the earning power of tenants, actual or prospective, and financial conditions as affecting the capitalization rate.

The problem is never a simple one, being as complex as city life itself, but it is not insoluble, since the forces creating cities are governed by uniform laws, like causes producing like results, apparent exceptious being due to the influence of factors not reckoned on. The popular impression that the ability to forecast future movements of city growth points a quick way to fortune is an over estimate, since real estate movements are slow, large capital is required to handle it, carrying charges are heavy, and even though the forecast may be ultimately correct, the rate of movement is uncertain, depending on the operation of vast economic forces impossible of exact prediction.

If business expands and population increases in a city, the sum total of land values is certain to increase. All the land, however, will by no means increase in value, the great mass of medium business and residence property advancing but slowly since it supplies the wants of a large number of people of moderate earning power who cannot pay beyond a certain price. Coincident with the gradual lifting of values as population becomes more dense, decaying sections, left behind in the onward march, drop down the scale of inferior utilities and values, sometimes to the point of extinction. Such worn-out property exhibits in its dilapidations both absence of utility and public confession of that fact. If population and business become stationary the sum total of land values will decrease in proportion to the previous discounting of future growth, subsequent movements consincreases slightly in absolute value. New York, the one financial centre of the country, is an exception in that its financial land is more valuable than its shopping land.

New inventions and new habits and customs will probably cause the most marked future changes other than those due to growth or transportation. All cheapening of the cost of buildings, all improvements in construction, all inventions, tend constantly to destroy the value of existing buildings. All improvements in transportation, such as the trolley, the elevated, the underground, the bicycle, the automobile—and in future possibly the flying machine—tend to destroy the value of these locations which depend on existing transportation. All changes in social customs, such as longer summer absences from the city, shift values, as in this instance from the city to the summer resorts. The great interchange of travel throughout the year from one city to another strengthens the radiating influence of the hotels, while the movement from residences to flats and apartments, concentrates population and augments the power of capital to attract.

Change is a law of life, and as long as humau activity continues to alter the conditions of city life, and human tastes, prejudices, fashions, habits and customs continue to vary, city structure and values will shift and change, but the study of the basic principles of city growth should reduce errors in forecasting to a minimum, permitting well equipped intelligence, whether in buying, selling, renting, loaning on, or in any way dealing with city real estate, to largely eliminate the power of chance.

The Real Estate Situation

It is obvious that a sudden and very considerable decrease has appeared in the business transacted in the real estate market. A much smaller number of sales than usual has been announced this week, and those which have been announced are usually of a small professional character. The large speculative companies have temporarily suspended operations, and the number of new buyers, which have been very much in evidence of late, have apparently disappeared. The conveyances are still very heavy, but they represent the business of a month ago. For the time being a blight has fallen upon the market, which can have only one explanation, viz., the proposed mortgage taxation. Whatever the ultimate effect of this tax—if passed—there can be no doubt that its immediate effect upon real estate operations would be practically paralyzing, and that it would disorganize the market throughout the coming spring. In the first place no lender will care to buy a mortgage until he is assured that the mortgage tax, either will or will not, be passed. But this is not all. So many mortgages have been given of recent years, which become due at the option of the mortgagee in case any mortgage tax is laid, that the passage of such a tax bill would cause a wholesale calling in of mortgage debts, and in many cases perhaps the negotiation of new loans, and with the threat of such necessary and expensive readjustments hanging over them, operators are likely to shut down on any transaction which would involve new responsibilities. The extent and degree of the danger may be inferred from the energy of the opposition it has aroused. The necessity for an effective organization of the real property owners has been obvious for years, but although they have been badly used many times before it was the proposed mortgage tax bill which finally excited them to active and authoritative protest. It seems scarcely credible that this protest will not be heeded in Albany, for it would surely be the height of folly for the State government to lay taxes which would fetch about $5,000,000 more income per annum than will be immediately needed. However that may be, it is manifest that the course and volume of real estate transactions during the coming month will be determined almost exclusively by the good or ill fortune of the proposed tax.

The Decrease and Its Causes.

Building operations continue to show a decrease from last year in most classes of improvement, but in no class is the decrease more conspicuous than in the case of apartment hotels. So far in 1903 plans have been filed for eight of these buildings, to cost about $1,500,000, while during the corresponding period of last year the number of hotels projected was thirteen, and their estimated cost about $5,000,000. On the other hand the number of apartment house for which plans are being filed is showing substantial increases, for the records of the building department show some 19 of them already this year, estimated to cost over $2,000,000. If this rate of construction is continued, as there is every indication that it will be, the number of this class of houses erected in 1903 will be perhaps three times as great as it was in 1902. The diminution of the proportional number of fireproof building projected also continues a noticeable characteristic of the filings, which cannot be considered a matter for regret. Builders and building material dealers who do this class of business, are filled up with work for some time to come; the prices of materials, which go into a steel building, are very high, and a lull in operations until a reduction is brought about in the excessive cost of these building materials will be beneficial all around, but particularly to the real estate investor. It is impossible to state as yet precisely how many new office buildings will be erected during the coming spring, but it seems safe to count on about ten altogether. The Century Realty Co. has finally announced its intention of building on 34th st, and it is possible that the Singer Manufacturing Company will undertake the long anticipated addition to its present building. Probably three new buildings will be constructed on Wall st., and at least one on Broad, while the Trinity Building is certainly coming down. This makes a very fair list, but does not in its aggregate compare with the achievements of recent years.

Building Operations and Prospects.

So far as the renting of buildings recently erected is concerned, there is no reason why any diminution of building should take place, because the demand for offices is as lively as ever. The new Orient Building, for instance, on Wall st., has been filled up as rapidly as the buildings erected last year. According to Mr. W. K. Aston, 95 per cent. of the total floor space is already leased, at prices running from $1.75 to $2 a square foot. In four cases whole floors have been leased to bankers, exporters or architects. The building will contain in the end chiefly bankers, lawyers, exporters, railroads and insurance companies, and it will be seen consequently that the location appeals to a large variety of tenants. The architect who has taken a whole floor is Mr. Cass Gilbert, which, considering the former tendency for architects to move up rather than downtown, is a particularly interesting instance, which can in another important case be duplicated. The renting of the new building on Exchange Place is embarrassed by the fact that only twelve floors will be completed on May 1st, yet in spite of this hindrance a large part of the space is leased and probably the whole of it will be, as soon as there is any assurance of the time when the offices can be delivered. S. H. Pell & Co. have taken the 24th and 25th floors at $15,000 each, the National Bank of North America the ground floor, the State Safe Deposit Vaults the basement, and other bankers a number of additional floors. Rents in the building at 41-43 Wall st., which will connect with the Exchange Place building, have in some cases been raised 50 per cent. of late without losing tenants. The new Forty-two Broadway building, although still far from completion, has already leased about $120,000 worth of space, at $2 a square foot, out of an aggregate rent roll of $600,000. The Kean, Van-Cortlandt Building, on Pine st., is about two-thirds leased at the present time. The Hanover National Bang Building is not filling up as rapidly as some of the others, because the high rental, which is naturally demanded for space in a building so well situated, but the agents profess to be fully satisfied with the demand for offices, and it is much the same case with the new Kuhn-Loeb Building, on the corner of Pine and William. Altogether there is no evidence that the new office buildings now being completed will do any more than satisfy the voracious demand for new space in the financial district and its neighborhood.

It is interesting to remark that a very decided increase in real estate and building activity is now taking place in Brooklyn. The number of conveyance during the first ten weeks of 1903 are some 250 more numerous than for the corresponding weeks last year—an increase of about 8 per cent., while there is twice as much money to be spent in the buildings projected. The chief centre of this activity is in the business section, within a radius of half a mile of the Borough Hall, but it is extending also into the residence districts. A number of Manhattan speculators have begun to pick up bargains in Brooklyn property, the prices for which still rule very low, and the buying is in anticipation of the effect of the new bridges and tunnels. Well situated property in Brooklyn is undoubtedly a good purchase at existing prices.

Activity in Brooklyn.

EVIDENTLY the question of the reform of our currency system is to be kept before Congress—we hope until reform has been embodied into legislation. Senator Aldrich announces that he will shortly appoint a sub-committee of the Senate Finance Committee to sit during recess to prepare a financial bill for presentation to Congress upon its assembling next winter. The question is already being considered by a committee of the National Bankers' Association, and their conclusions will undoubtedly be of great benefit to the Senate Sub-Committee. If the wisdom of the practical bankers and that of legislators is combined it ought not to be difficult to prepare a measure that will be satisfactory, both to the country and Congress. It is not unlikely, if business keeps up in the way it is now doing, and the crops are good, that Congress will meet while another demonstration of the necessity for currency reform is being made by the money market. It follows that a repetition of the causes of the stringency of last fall will produce similar results next fall, but it is to be sincerely hoped that the lesson will be better appreciated by Congress this year than it was last. This may be made possible, if business men from all over the country will follow the work of the committees, and if they approve their findings will urge their adoption upon their representatives in Congress. Politicians generally prefer to see through the eyes of the public, and this question of currency reform may afford a suitable opportunity for loaning vision. It is needless to say that the continuation of our prosperity depends largely upon the outcome of this question. It is also a fact that all financial conditions are more or less affected by sentiment, and if sentiment points to a prospect of reasonably early relief, any difficulties the money market may have before it will be less than if there is no such prospect. It is, therefore, important that public opinion as to the existence of evils in our currency system should be cultivated as well as that banking and legislative committees should sit to determine what practical remedies should be applied.

THE Mayor proposes to deal with the subway problem in the same spirit as that which he has shown in similar cases. He believes that the attitude of the city authorities toward the Interborough Company should frankly recognize the fact that it is very much to the advantage of the city to have the whole system operated by one company, and in this he has behind him all the achieved experience in municipal transportation of the last twenty-five years. Only in that way can the subway passengers get uniformity of fare and service throughout the various ramifications of the subway system, and only in this way can the system be put to its maximum use and be made to yield its maximum returns. Just for that reason, consequently the Interborough Company, which owns the lease for the two tunnels already under construction, can afford to pay more for control over the proposed extensions to the system than any other company. It is a matter of common sense and good business for the city to negotiate on this basis—always keeping in mind that an agreement is to the advantage of both the city and the company. If the company should prove to be unreasonable and demand more than its fair share of the profits to be derived from the subway privileges, it will be time enough then to take drastic action—the same kind of action which the administration proposes to take in reference to the lighting contracts. But there is no assurance as yet that such action will be necessary; and it should be possible, as the Mayor suggests, to enter into contracts with the subway company, to be renewed at short intervals, and to be based in general on the principle that the company get a fair return upon the capital it invests in brains and money, and the city get the rest. Certainly if Mayor Low can obtain from the subway company the four "things" which he considers absolutely essential, his constituents will not complain about the way he protects their interests. These four "things" are a uniform rate of fare over every mile of road built with the city's credit; (2) a reduction of this uniform fare to below five cents as soon as circumstances shall permit; (3) the appropriation by the city of as large a proportion as possible of the gross earnings of the road, and (4) the dictation by the city of the character of the service given. These conditions are undoubtedly essential and the Interborough Company, like the Paris Metropolitan, should be able to grant them and still earn ten per cent. upon the invested capital.

ACCORDING to pretty definite news published during the past week, the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Co. is contemplating a new tunnel under the North River—one which will be more useful to larger numbers of people than the tunnel now under construction terminating at Hudson and Christopher sts. The proposed route of this new tube is from Exchange Place, Jersey City to the corner of Cortlandt and Church sts., in Manhattan, and is intended obviously for the accommodation of the New York business men who live across the river. Such a tunnel is undoubtedly a very much needed addition to the transportation system of the metropolitan district. The Pennsylvania tunnel is being constructed chiefly for the through traffic carried by that railroad, and will only be useful to those commuters who do business in the central parts of the city. The Morton st. tunnel of the New York & New Jersey Company will be useful chiefly to the families of New Jersey residents, who come to Manhattan to shop and go to the theatres. Its terminus, however, is badly situated, either for business men or their families; and the company will very much increase its own revenues and be of much more service to the public, in case it changes the location of the terminus to a site near some station of the west side southerly extension of the Manhattan subway, wherever that may be. A tunnel, however, with its terminus just east of Broadway, on Cortlandt st., would get as near as possible to the heart of the office building district downtown, and will draw passengers from all these districts in New Jersey served by the trolley lines. Commuters on any of the steam railroads, even on those whose train sheds are nearest to the proposed terminus in Jersey City, will probably continue to use the ferries; but the trolley tunnels by means of a properly organized express service should be able in the course of time to compete with the steam railroads for the transportation of people who live even in the suburban regions beyond Elizabeth, and should this tunnel be built it will effect, in the course of time, almost a revolution in the methods of transportation of these many thousand people. It is such a desirable addition to the transit machinery of Manhattan and New Jersey that it is sure eventually to be put through; but it looks as if, when it was well underway, that almost every desirable transit route stretching in any direction from Manhattan will have been preempted and marked for early use.

The Normal Basis for Tenement House Legislation.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The bills introduced in the present session of the State Legislature are properly of interest to a great number of citizens as well as of vital importance to a wide diversity of interests. The professional builders and brokers who make money in the occupation of building and trading in tenements are entitled to patient hearing. Deference to their demands can hardly be withheld if their contentions are right and the public welfare remains safeguarded. There is another element and a numerically much stronger one, namely, the tenement dwellers, whose voice is not raised so vociferously in the halls of legislation, and then largely only through representation by charity and philanthropy. These are the two main contending factors who occupy the center of the stage in debate. There is, however, a third factor in the situation which deserves the most serious consideration at the hands of the Legislature at least, if not from the two elements first mentioned, because looking after the affairs of this last is not so particularly the business of either of them. This factor may be said to be comprised of all those people who must be housed somewhere. As this includes pretty nearly everybody, the interests of this body are paramount to all other considerations. But, as everybody's business is nobody's business, this element is practically without special champions and enjoys only so much representation in the discussion as its political representation, the Legislature itself accords to it.

In Manhattan, the special features of building activity since the passage of the Tenement House amendments a year ago have been twofold; a marked decrease in buildings designed for family occupancy, and a marked increase in "hotel" buildings, particularly of the "bachelor" variety. It would be idle to indulge in speculation or prophecy as to the relation or effect of the law to this fact. Too many other causes and conditions affect the result. It is not idle, however, to analyze the law as it stands, and investigate the manner of possible amendments in order to relieve a situation which has become in many respects intolerable. A special classification of the family apartment, as a type of tenement, is imperatively demanded by the conditions existing in Manhattan at the present time.

The main difficulty here is with the definition, which should place the family apartment about midway between a legal "tenement" and a "hotel," and still remain sufficiently distinctive for legal purposes and for departmental administration.

To illustrate the necessity of amendment in this direction let us assume that an owner desires to improve a 50-foot lot on any cross-street 60 feet wide. The height of the building is limited to 90 feet, which equals eight stories. He can cover 70 per cent. of the lot with his building if he builds a "tenement." But if he builds a "hotel" he can build to a height of thirteen stories upon the same 70 per cent. of lot area. The tenement investment could not pay, but the "hotel" proposition looks very attractive. Upon the same "free-air" space, four times the number of persons will live in the "hotel" as would occupy the "tenement." The only difference would be that the occupants suffer the inconvenience of dining in the common dining-room, having meals served in their own rooms, or dining out. This condition of affairs is even better exemplified in case of lots on Madison or Lexington avs. Take a corner lot, from 25 to 40 feet by 100. This "tenement" could be built according to the width of the avenue, nine or even ten stories in height. But the minimum dimensions of courts permitted, destroy the plan so effectively that these lots are worthless for buildings housing families. Such a building would be fireproof, and be occupied by not more than two persons to every three rooms. The only plan arrangements on the rear court would be bathrooms, stairs, elevators, kitchens and possibly a servant's room. All the living apartments would be on the street or avenue. And yet with a maximum of light and air and a minimum of tenants, these buildings are practically impossible. Apartments would rent from $1,200 to $3,000, but the people who would willingly pay for such luxurious living quarters must live in a semi-public hotel or in the suburbs instead.

Could there be any real objection within the spirit, if not the letter, of the tenement house act, to permitting the erection of "family apartment hotels" in place of the "bachelor apartment hotels," now so frequent? Give the same court area and three stories less in height with an occupancy of less than one-half in numbers, how much of objection remains to such kitchens as would be provided for these apartments? Would not this remaining objection be much more than offset by the general advantage alone of buildings of lesser height?

This evolution would be perfectly normal to the moving motive of past tenement-house legislation, and to the progress of the art of living in cities as well.

If any fundamental principle or theory is at all discernible concealed among the somewhat chaotic building laws, it is that the tenement laws have been framed, consciously or unconsciously, upon the basis of numerical occupancy; upon numbers of tenants; the law appears everywhere to deal with densely packed crowds. The law fixes the minimum area of a room; it speaks of minimum cubic feet in a room; of cubic feet of air per person; of number of stairs used and their number of feet in width in relation to number of rooms; of width of passages, halls and corridors all in proportion to numbers of rooms, and directly or indirectly to a corresponding presumed number of persons. Now it is manifestly inequitable and unreasonable that a law which deals mainly with conditions where the occupancy consists of two or more persons to a room should apply arbitrarily to widely different circumstances controlled fundamental by the fact of occupancy by but two persons or less to three rooms.

A new definition covering apartment houses, therefore, must be framed sooner or later upon this fundamental basis of numerical occupancy already recognized in the tenement law, but in one direction, the worse one, only. An amendment in this direction would provide a perfect solution, completely within the spirit of tenement legislation, equitable under varying conditions to property-owners and taxpayers, beneficial to the city, as encouraging the erection of buildings of lesser height, of advantage to the home-seeker, who must go without until some change is made, and finally, the dissolving of unfortunate conditions, some features of which afford a distinct premium upon immorality.

J. F. HARDER.

A Bill Discriminating Between Apartment Houses and Tenements.

The following is a copy of the bill introduced by Mr. Farrell and referred to by Mr. Harder, discriminating between apartment houses and tenements. It is proposed to amend the tenement house act to read as follows:

Section 1. A tenement house is any house or building or portion thereof, which is rented, leased, let or hired out, to be occupied or is occupied as the home or residence of three families or more, living independently of each other, and doing their cooking on the premises, or by more than two families upon any floor so living and cooking, but having a common right in the halls, stairways, yards, water closets, privies, or some of them. An apartment house shall be taken to mean and include every tenement house which shall be intended for, or used as the home or residence of seven or more families or households living independently of each other and in which every such family or household shall have provided for it an apartment consisting of a kitchen, separate bath room, with set bath tub, a water closet, and at least four rooms in addition thereto, and which is intended to be occupied and is occupied by no greater number of persons than is equal to the number of rooms of each apartment counting every room of seventy or mort square feet of area.

Sec. 2. Section fifty-eight of such act, as amended by chapter three hundred and fifty-two of the laws of nineteen hundred and two, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 58. Outer courts.—Where one side of an outer court is situated on the lot line, the width of the said court, measured from the lot line to the opposite wall of the building, for tenement houses sixty feet in height shall not be less than six feet in any part; and for every twelve feet of increase or fraction thereof in height of the said building, such width shall be increased six inches throughout the entire height of said court; and for every twelve feet of decrease in the height of the said building below sixty feet, such width may be decreased six inches. Provided that such increase or decrease shall not apply to apartment houses located on a corner lot or plot fifty feet or less in width. Except that in tenement houses hereafter erected not exceeding three stories and cellar in height and which also are not occupied or arranged to be occupied by more than six families in all, or by more than two families on any floor, and in which also each apartment extends through from the street to the yard, the width of an outer court situated on the lot line shall not be less than four feet in any part provided that the length of such outer court does not exceed twenty-four feet.

Sec. 3. Section seventy-six of such act is hereby amended to read as follows:

Sec. 76. Percentage of lot occupied—No now existing tenement house shall hereafter be enlarged, or its lot be diminished, so that the house occupy more than ninety per centum of a corner lot, or more than seventy per centum of any other lot, the measurements in all cases to be taken at the ground level; provided that the space occupied by fire escapes of the size hereinbefore prescribed shall not be deemed a part of the lot occupied. Except that every apartment house hereafter erected, located on any other than a corner lot or plot shall not cover in the aggregate more than eighty per centum of the area of such lot or plot at and above the second story floor level, if not more than five stories in height, and one and one-quarter per centum less for every additional twelve feet or portion thereof in height. And on a corner lot or plot when covering an area of not more than three thousand square feet, it shall not occupy more than eighty-five per centum of the area of such lot or plot at and above the second story floor level. In case any such apartment house is to occupy a number of lots, the commissioner having jurisdiction may allow free air space, proportioned as herein stated, to be distributed in such manner as in his opinion will equally as well secure light and ventilation.

Old-Law Building in New-Law Time.

HOW MR. SEAGRIST ACCOMPLISHED THE FEAT—HIS NEW TENEMENTS IN 42D STREET.

A case in court in which Perez M. Stewart, as Superintendent of Buildings for the Borough of Manhattan and City of New York, and Robert W. De Forest, as Tenement House Commissioner of the Borough of Manhattan and City of New York, were defendants, and which contained elements of new importance and interest, was on Monday of this week, terminated in favor of Francis S. K. Seagrist. the plaintiff and respondent, in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, by the city officers consenting to a judgment. Two years ago this month, Mr. Seagrist owned five lots on the north side of 42d st, west of 8th av, Nos. 317 to 325. They were occupied by inferior buildings, which he had decided to replace. On the 15th of March, 1901, plans and specifications were submitted to the Commissioner of Buildings, providing for the erecting of five "separate and distinct" tenement houses, as the department claimed. Whether they were separate and distinct or constituted one operation merely, was a question at issue. Each house was to have ground dimensions of 25x86 ft., five stories, and 59.11 in height, with a store on the ground floor and apartments for 13 families above.

The plans and specifications were approved by the Department of Buildings on April 3, 1901, nine days before the Tenement House Act went into effect, and the owner commenced the excavation for two of the buildings, Nos. 319 and 321, immediately. But about June 15th he suspended work, and did not resume until on or about March 25, 1902, when he also began excavating for the other three houses. The reason assigned for the delay was that three of the old buildings, Nos. 317, 323 and 325, were under lease, and Mr. Seagrist did not come into full possession of them until about the date when work was resumed. The first tier of beams was not set in any until long after August 1, 1901, which was the limit set for operations under the old law.

When in the usual course of business the department served a notice of violation of the law upon Mr. Seagrist, he at once began an action to enjoin the Building and Tenement House Departments from interfering. The laws applicable to the manner of erecting, lighting and ventilating tenement houses at the time of the filing and approval of the plans were contained in Title 7 of Chapter 19, of the laws of 1897, known as the Greater New York Charter, and the Building Code. Section 4 of the Building Code, which still applies to all buildings, including the buildings in question, provides as follows:

"Before the erection, construction or alteration of any building "or part of any building . . . is commenced the owner or lessee "or agent of either . . . shall submit to the commissioner of "buildings a detailed statement in triplicate of the specifications "... and a full and complete copy of the plans of such pro-"posed work . . . and the erection, construction or alteration "of said building . . . or any part thereof . . . shall not be "commenced or proceeded with until said statements and plans "shall have been so filed and approved by the said commissioner of "buildings . . . and any approval which may be issued by a "commissioner of buildings, pursuant to the provisions of this "section, but under which no work is commenced within one year "from the time of issuance, shall expire by limitation."

With the exception of tearing down old buildings and doing a little excavating on lots Nos. 319 and 321, for which acts no plans or approval thereof are required, no work whatever was done on any of the lots for over a year after plans for the new buildings had been approved. Section 4 of the Building Code is still in force, but the provisions of the Building Code and the Charter with reference to the light and ventilation of tenement houses, etc., were superseded by the Tenement House Act, which went into effect on April 12, 1901, and its amendment on April 25 of the same year.

The authorities claimed that the plans violated the Tenement House Act in many ways, and Section 4 of this act, in effect April 12, 1901, provided as follows:

Sec. 4. "Buildings in Process of Erection—A tenement house not "now completed, but upon which work has been actually com-"menced, after approval of the plans therefor by the department of "buildings, shall be subject only to the provisions of this act af-"fecting now existing tenement-houses."

An amendment to this section went into effect April 25, 1901, providing that a tenement house, the excavation for which should be commenced in good faith on or before the first day of June, 1901, and the first tier of beams of which should be set on or before the first day of August, 1901, would be subject only to the provisions of the act affecting now-existing tenement houses, provided that the plans were filed before the tenth of April.

The departmental authorities declared that the excavating for Nos. 319 and 321 was not begun in good faith, and that Mr. Seagrist had not complied with the law. But Justice O'Gorman was of the opinion that Mr. Seagrist had begun and carried on but one operation, that all five buildings came under the old law. Therefore, he issued an injunction against the Building Superintendent and the Tenement House Commissioner, restraining them from interfering.

Mr. Seagrist then proceeded with his work as originally planned. It is admitted that the completed work is a marked improvement to the neighborhood. Meanwhile the city authorities appealed, and the points in their case were these:

1. The respondent did not commence any work embraced in said plans and specifications, or under the approval thereof, within one year from the issuance thereof. The approval, therefore, expired by limitation on April 3, 1902.

2. Section 4 of the Tenement House Act constitutes a proper exercise of the police power, and is constitutional.

3. The affidavits show that the respondent has not brought himself within the provisions of Section 4 of the Tenement House Act, and is not entitled to build in accordance with his present plans.

4. Even if the order appealed from be not reversed, it should at least be modified so as to permit the appellants to enforce against the respondent those provisions of the Tenement House Act which apply to existing tenements.

In the opinion of the departments, the order enjoined the appellants from enforcing any of the provisions of the Tenement House Act, many of which apply to buildings in existence at the time the law went into effect.

Much to the disappointment of the city authorities the Appellate Court did not enter into the case deeply, nor discuss any of the points raised, except in so far as to modify Judge O'Gorman's order to the extent that conformity to the old law was made mandatory. Inasmuch as the buildings are all up, and no important purpose would be served by carrying the case farther, the appellants consented to the entering of judgment against them before Justice Truax on Monday, after the respondent had waived all claims to costs. In view of the fact that Mr. Seagrist was not physically interfered with, and probably would not have been by the Building Department, the necessity for his injunction proceedings were not apparent. But when the proceedings were actually begun the city officials concerned thought the opportunity was present for obtaining a judicial determination on important points. The final result is that Mr. Seagrist has the distinction of having built a row of old-law tenements in new-law time.

Death of Howard Walton.

Howard Walton, junior partner in the firm of A. W. McLaughlin & Co., died at his residence, 117 West 58th st, on Sunday, March 15th, in his 32d year. The funeral services, conducted by Rev. W. S. Rainsford, were held from St. George's Church, on Tuesday, at 10 o'clock, interment following at Ridgewood, N. J.

Mr. Walton was ill but about ten days. His condition, apparently not serious at first, grew rapidly worse toward the end, and so suddenly did death occur at last, that few of his friends or business acquaintances knew of his illness. Mr. McLaughlin, unfortunately, was absent on an extended vacation in the Bahamas, and notwithstanding every effort, was unable to reach the bedside of his dying friend and partner, with whom his relations were so cordial.

Mr. Walton was a graduate of St. Paul's, at Garden City; President of St. Paul's Alumni Association, and a member of the Lawyers' Club. He was a son of E. A. Walton, President of the Citizens' Insurance Co. His early business training was with the Barbour Bros. Company, leaving them in the spring of 1892 to establish a real estate business on his own account, which he successfully conducted until 1897, when he became associated with A. W. McLaughlin & Co. In 1901 he married Miss Edith Brevoort Potts, daughter of William Rockhill Potts, who survives him.

Although a young man, Mr. Walton had made no inconsiderable impression on the business world. His magnetic personality, ready tact, and cordial manner made him a universal favorite, while his grasp of a proposition and forceful method of presenting it inspired the respect of all with whom he came in contact. He was uniformly courteous and considerate of his friends and business associates, by whom his memory will ever be held in affectionate regard, more especially by his co-workers in the office of A. W. McLaughlin & Co., with all of whom his relations were so harmonious.

Partial Settlement of the Delancey Street Matter.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment resolved yesterday to widen Delancey st, as the main approach to the Williamsburgh Bridge to a width of 150 feet, the additional space to be taken from the property on the south side.

Also to widen Suffolk st, both north and south to the bridge, to a total width of 100 feet, the new space to be taken from the property on the east side and the widening to extend between Houston st and East Broadway.

Moreover, it was decided to have a plaza at the entrance of the bridge, 200 feet wide, and to extend one block west to Suffolk st, where the widening of Delancey st will begin.

In regard to a new street, sometimes referred to as an extension of Delancey st, between the Bowery and Elm st, the Board desided to postpone action.

The estimated cost of the improvement is $3,750,000.

The matter of laying out an extension to the approach of the Blackwell's Island Bridge, in Queens, was referred to the engineer of the Board to report. The Board also adopted the pending proposition in regard to laying out an approach to Bridge No. 3 in the Borough of Brooklyn.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has postponed further consideration of the Staten Island ferry matter for four weeks.

Mayor's Hearing on the "Decorative Projections" Ordinance.

As announced in our last issue, Mayor Low gave a public hearing on Tuesday last upon the ordinance passed by the Board of Aldermen which proposes to allow decorative projections on buildings, so long as the same do not extend beyond the stoop line, subject to the approval of the Superintendent of Buildings and Borough President. The hearing was attended by many property-owners and occupied some two hours' time. The daily newspapers reported rather sensational accounts of the hearing, but in order that our readers may correctly understand the meaning and effect of this ordinance, should it receive the Mayor's approval, Mr. William J. Fryer, who attended the hearing and spoke in opposition to the ordinance, was asked as to the facts leading up to this ordinance and his opinion of its merits, said:

"Like most questions, there are two sides to the desirability of an ordinance of this kind. In the main those who appeared in opposition to the ordinance were opposed to it in form and substance. On the other side were those who unqualifiedly approved of it. My own position was rather unique at the hearing, for I was opposed to the form, but not to the substance, believing that it is desirable to bestow certain privileges on owners who desire to make their buildings attractive by projections beyond the strict building line, provided equal rights are conferred upon all, and each is restricted in such ways as to work no damage to adjoining or adjacent property. Here is an ordinance that purports to be a general ordinance, when in reality it is a special ordinance, and it is conceded that it was passed to directly apply to one particular property—the single lot on the south side of West 42d st, between 7th and 8th avs, upon which a high building is now being erected to form on its first story a passageway to the auditorium of the New Amsterdam Theatre, on the north side of 41st st. At the sides of the first story entrance on 42d st, close to the dividing lot lines, have been built stone pedestals projecting four and one-half feet out from the building line. These pedestals are about fifteen feet in height and are to support caryatides or female figures of heroic size, supporting in turn an entablature and semi-circular cornice above, the whole rising to a height of nearly fifty feet from the sidewalk. These decorative projections may be in the nature of adornments to the city, but any one can understand that they cut off the angle of light and sight from the lower and most valuable stories of the property immediately adjoining. When the plans for the building were in the Bureau of Buildings, the Superintendent of Buildings objected to these projections beyond the building line, and thereupon the owners agreed to obtain a permit for their construction before building them, and with this proviso the usual building permit was granted. As a matter of fact, no permit could be obtained from any department for such projections beyond the building line, and the owners proceeded in their own due time to build them without any authority and contrary to their express agreement. The owner of the adjoining property on the west, Ex-Park Commissioner Samuel McMillan, and other property-owners on the same block, took early steps to have the building of the projections stopped. The theatre owners then had this ordinance prepared and hurriedly passed, believing that it would legalize their projections. The Board of Aldermen have no right, under the present charter, to pass a special ordinance, and so under the guise of a general ordinance the desired object was sought to be obtained.

"In a lifetime's experience with building laws and ordinances I never knew of a greater disregard of public and private interests than is proposed by this ordinance. The city is to receive no compensation from space occupied in the street, and adjoining owners are in no way to be safeguarded in their rights. By contrast see the new Bay Window Ordinance, which provides that when a bay window is to project more than one foot beyond the building line the consent of all the adjoining property-owners on the same side of the street within a distance of fifty feet from the centre of the bay window must first be obtained, and compensation must be paid to the city of from one to five dollars for each square foot of area covered by such bay window beyond the building line for each and every story through which it is to be carried. Then, too, bay windows are limited in their total width to seventy-five per cent. of the width of the frontage of the building on which they are located, and usually have angular sides. Reference might also be made to the area and vault ordinances under wihch the city receives compensation, and all owners are put on an equality for the privileges granted.

"A proper ordinance that will give an owner the right to extend beyond the building line with decorative projections—not meaning cornices and bond courses, nor meaning projections of inclosed spaces—will need to be a lengthy one and skilfully drawn. If it is a right thing to be allowed—and it is right in my opinion—then it should be positive and direct and apply to any and all property. Why should an owner, either one with or without political influence, be required to get the consent of two public officials before he can do that which has been granted to his neighbor?

"I think that almost any kind of decorative projections centrally placed and within the area line could be allowed if confined in width to one-third of the frontage of a building in the true interests of the city. By that rule a building having a frontage of one hundred feet would be allowed a length of thirty-three and one-third feet for the decorative projections, and in such a case no consent from adjoining property-owners would be necessary if a rule was also established that the consent of all the adjoining property-owners within a distance of fifty feet from the centre of the decorative projections was made a precedent condition. The matter of height to be allowed for such projections would also have to be worked out, so that above twenty or thirty or forty feet above the curb level the faces of the buildings would be within and not beyond the now established building lines. The city should be paid for the privilege of occupying land which belongs to it a price in each case proportionate to the assessed valuation of the lot. Just how such an ordinance should be worded is a matter for deliberation and thought and cannot be suggested offhand.

"But if similar rights are conferred on every owner as is proposed to be conferred on the owners of the New Amsterdam Theatre by the ordinance now in the hands of Mayor Low, or in the words of that ordinance, to allow 'decorative projections that do not extend beyond the stoop line,' but which may extend the entire width of the building, and with no limitation as to height, then in effect a new building line is being established and the streets are to be materially reduced in width when proprty-owners generally avail themselves of the privilege. Surely that is not what is desired, even by those who are most enthusiastic in favor of a beautiful city. To say that there now exists many violations in different parts of the city as flagrant as the theatre projections is no answer to the objections to this ordinance.

"At the hearing I urged the Mayor to veto the ordinance in question, and at a future time to favor an ordinance properly prepared that will allow decorative projections within prescribed lines. The remarks made by the Mayor at the closing of the hearing showed that his line of thought was similar to my own. The Revised Ordinances of 1897 badly need a complete overhauling, and this work should be done without delay and by men who comprehend the subjects treated therein."

Legislation at Albany.

PROVISIONS OF THE MORTGAGE TAX BILL—A NEW WAY FOR THE CITY TO ACQUIRE WHARF PROPERTY.

The Mortgage Tax Bill made its appearance in the Legislature on Thursday, being introduced by Senator Green and Assemblyman Dickinson. The Senate bill goes to the Committee on Taxation for a hearing, and the same with the one in the Assembly. The bill provides for the taxation at the rate of four mills per annum of all mortgages resting upon real estate where the property is situated within the State of New York, except United States loan mortgages, mortgages owned by the United States, or by a corporation or association organized exclusively for charitable, religious or educational purposes.

The situs of the mortgage and the debt or obligation secured thereby is by the statute declared to be where the real estate upon which the mortgage rests is located. Where the mortgage pays the tax imposed by this bill it is thereafter exempted from all other taxation.

The tax accrues as of 9 o'clock on the first day of July in each year, beginning in the present year. Notice of the amount of the tax is given in September, after the lists have been corrected, and the tax becomes due and payable on the first day of October and is payable at the office of the county clerk or register where the mortgage is recorded; and in case of the mortgage covering property in two or more counties, the tax is payable at the office where the mortgage was first recorded.

Careful provisions have been made for ascertaining the amount actually secured by the mortgage as of the first day of July in each year. In the first instance, it is ascertained by the county clerk or register of the county. If dissatisfied with his determination, provision is made for an appeal from his finding to the state board of tax commissioners.

During any portion of the year after the first of July a tax is to be paid upon the mortgage to the recording officer for the part of the year from the date of its being offered for record to the first day of July next succeeding.

In the drafting of the bill particular attention has been given to that class of mortgages known as building and loan mortgages, which run for a short time, and upon which the money is advanced in partial payment. Such a mortgage will pay only for the part of the year in which it continued in existence, and only upon such amount of money as has actually been advanced from time to time.

Due provision has been made so that after the first list prepared this year has been finally corrected obsolete mortgages, of which there must be many undischarged of record in the State, will not appear upon the list assessing the mortgage tax. The tax in the first instance is always to be collected by the recording officer and by him paid over to the county treasurer or city chamberlain. Quarterly one-half of this sum, less the fees of the local officers, is to be transmitted to the State Treasurer. The remaining one-half in Greater New York is to be held by the city chamberlain subject to the disposition of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. In the counties outside the city of New York it is to be apportioned annually by the boards of supervisors to the city or town in which the mortgage property was located, and in that city or town it is to be divided one-half for school purposes and one-half to assist in the payment of the annual taxes assessed against the property in that town or city.

FOR THE ACQUIREMENT OF CERTAIN WHARF PROPERTY.

Mr. H. Conkling has introduced in the Assembly a bill, which is now before the Cities Committee, to amend the city charter relative to the acquirement of certain wharf property on East River, by inserting a new section, which in part is as follows: In all proceedings hereafter taken by the commissioner of docks of the City of New York for the acquirement of wharf property or lands under water and uplands in the City of New York, if said property or lands are situated between the northerly side of Whitehall st and the southerly side of Montgomery st, upon or adjacent to the East River in the City of New Yrok, or if wharf property or lands under water to which rights, terms, easements or privileges are appurtenant, is or are, required for ferry purposes in accordance with any plans heretofore adopted and approved or which may hereafter be adopted by the commissioner of docks and approved by the commissioners of the sinking fund, it shall not be necessary for the commissioner of docks to make any attempt to agree with the owners of any such property, upon a price for the same, before commencing the proceedings authorized by section eight hundred and twenty-two of this act.

ELM STREET.

A bill introduced by Senator Riordan, legalizing the opening and extension of a new street in the Sixth Ward of Manhattan Borough, from Chambers st to Reade st, also provides that the cost of acquiring the necessary land shall be a charge upon the city at large. This would amount in practical effect to an extension of old Elm st, which now ends at Reade st. The opening through the block uncovers almost a direct thoroughfare from the City Hall to the proposed plaza that is to mark the beginning of the Delancey st approach to the Williamsburgh Bridge. Elm st as now laid out is expected to be graded and paved in the early summer. For six years it has been practically closed, first because of the widening operations, and, secondly, on account of the subway work.

Assemblyman Wood's bill, relative to commissioners in dock condemnation proceedings, provides that "in any such proceedings of a difficult or unusual character in which the court is satisfied that the same has been prosecuted with reasonable diligence, the said court may, upon taxing said cost and expenses, make such additional allowances to any or all of said commissioners as may to it appear just and equitable, upon such proof as may be submitted concerning the nature and extent of the services thus rendered by the commissioners; such extra allowances not, however, in any instance to exceed the aggregate per diem compensation hereinbefore provided for."

Senator Hawkins has handed up a bill provided that the real estate owned by any religious corporation actually dedicated and used by such corporation exclusively as a place of public worship and located in the City of New York, as now constituted, shall be exempt from all assessments for public improvements.

The Governor has signed Senator Elsberg's bill providing that the minimum tax for school purposes in New York City shall be three instead of four mills per year on each dollar of assessable valuation.

Mayor Low has approved of the Sinking Fund Relief Bill, one effect of which will be to reduce the tax rate to $1.45. The Mayor says that the city, powerful as it is, cannot afford to tax itself from $8,000,000 to $16,000,000 a year more than is necessary. If it must so tax itself, it cannot provide for its needed growth.

The Bronx Gas and Electric Company is seeking through a bill introduced by Mr. Ullman, for permission to supply gas and electricity throughout the city.

The directors are: George P. Bester, of Bloomfield, N. J.; Howard Slade and William H. Siegel, of New York; Clinton Graham, of Flushing; Robert Maroney, Charles H. Aron, James Davidson and A. F. Richter, of Brooklyn, and A. B. Proctor, Jr., of Boonton, N. J. The route of the road, will probably be up Cortlandt st. to Church st., and up Church to the corner of Dey st., where the main station of the railway will probably be located. From the Dey st station it is considered probable, according to well-informed persons, that the company will run two spurs, one to a connection with the main rapid transit subway in Broadway, and the other to continue the crosstown route eastward and under the East River to Brooklyn, with a station at Broadway and Ann st.

The building at 495 Fulton st, on the northwest corner of Bridge st, was sold by Charles P. Durlando to Strauss & Charig, the builders, for $110,000. This is one of the highest prices ever obtained for property in that neighborhood. The sale is subject to a lease of the J. M. Horton Ice Cream Co., which expires on May 1. This tenant occupied it for twelve years. The building is three stories high and is on a lot 23.6x82.

William H. Stryker sold for the City Realty Company to Grace Evangelist Lutheran Church, of Brooklyn, a 2-sty frame building on a plot of four lots at the southeast corner of Bushwick av and Weirfield st, Brooklyn. The church will alter the building for occupancy and eventually replace it with a new structure.

Wm. H. Scott has sold to Mrs. Rosa Oppenheim the 4-sty store and flat No. 219 Reid av. The property is between Hancock and Jefferson sts, and is 28.4x70x100. The broker was A. T. Gunn & Co.

Leopold Weil has practically concluded negotiations for the sale of Jesse I. Strauss, of the Arlington apartment house, at 62 and 64 Montague st, for about $150,000.

A natural effect of new-law reconstruction in East Side tenement districts is higher rents, and naturally, too, tenants object. A meeting of protest, largely attended and vigorously voiced, was held in Forsyth st one night this week, under the auspices of the Eighth Assembly District Democratic Education Club. The political connection is significant, but the increase of rents is an old story. In a growing town this must be expected, as part of the onward march of improvements. Supply and demand will continue as herctofore to regulate such things; mass meetings cannot.

Material Market.

The annual meeting of the Association of Dealers in Masons' Building Materails took place on Thursday of this week at the association rooms, 18 Broadway, the polls being open from 3 to 4 o'clock. Promptly at 3 o'clock the Chair announced that the polls were open, and appointed Messrs. Frank L. Holmes and Theodore C. Wood as tellers. The president, secretary and treasurer delivered their annual reports. The treasurer's report was particularly gratifying, as it showed a very large balance on hand.

To the secretary and treasurer were given a vote of thanks for the able manner in which they had performed the duties assigned to them. Other matters of importance also received the attention of the body. The regular ticket was elected, and is as follows: President, Francis H. Howland; vice-president, John A. Philbrick; treasurer, Nathan Peck; directors, Francis H. Howland, John J. Bell, Nathan Peck, William H. Schmohl, Wright D. Goss, John A. Philbrick, Nathaniel Wise, William K. Hammond, John B. Rose, William T. Hookey, Aaron E. Aldridge, John G. McNamara, Chas. E. Murtagh, Daniel Darrow and William H. Barnes.

BRICK.

The requirement for this material during the present week has not been so strong as in former weeks, owing to the suspension of work on a number of buildings because of strikes of workingmen. The arrivals at the same time have been large, due to the natural desire to ship after a long closed season, and also, it may be, to a thought in the minds of some manufacturers that it may be well to have large stocks here to anticipate certain possibilities connected with the labor question.

Prices of common brick are lower on the whole than last week. A few sales of the highest grade have been made at $6, but $5.75 is the ruling price for the best, and for others, from $5.12½ to $5.50 are the figures for cargo lots.

The meeting of the Association of Brick Manufacturers at Haverstraw, on Wednesday, was unusually well attended. It was one of the most enthusiastic that has ever been held by the organization. Most of the time was taken up in discussing the labor situation, particularly at this city.

The Brick Handlers' Union of Haverstraw has given assurance that they will give no trouble to the manufacturers this spring. The men say that the Haverstraw union was formed for their own protection against the stand taken by the New York City handlers. They were obliged to organize. This assurance is given by parties directly interested in the handlers' union.

LATH.

The season having but just opened for lath, the conditions prevailing during the winter have not materially changed. The stocks which dealers laid in last fall remain in large part to confront wholesalers and supply the immediate demand, which is comparatively small. Shipments are arriving from the East, but prices stand up well in the face of a supply that may be termed absndant.

CEMENT.

The demand for Portland cement is almost unprecedented for this time of the year, and an unusual number of large contracts will take cement from the local market. Prices are quoted a little higher on the whole.

The Association of Portland Cement Manufacturers has just issued, from the president's office, Philadelphia, a report of the committee on new uses of cement, presented by its chairman, Mr. T. H. Dumary. The report enumerates about twenty-five different uses for cement, some of which are novel and others of which are extensions or adaptations of well-known constructions. Taken in conjunction with the standard use of Portland cement for all kinds of masonry and concrete work, and the growing substitution of concrete for ashlar masonry, it indicates the extent of its practical application and explains why the production of so many large mills has of late years often failed to keep pace with the demand. A partial list of the new uses of cement mentioned in this report includes protection of structural steel by a Portland cement wash, or by dense stone or cinder concrete mixed wet and applied after the steel is thoroughly cleaned by scraping, pickling, sand blast or equivalent process; concrete piles to replace timber in mining shafts and tunnels; hollow concrete blocks to replace brick work; injected grout to construct foundations and other masonry below the surface in inaccessible quicksand; concrete piles cast in steel shells, driven into the ground; butts for wooden telegraph poles; burial vaults; veneering for dwelling houses; railroad cross ties, which are stated to cost three times as much as oak, and to last twenty-five times as long; reinforced reservoirs for oil, water, etc.; storage tanks with skeleton steel construction to contain dry material; slow-setting concrete to exclude water from mines; ballast tanks on board ship; fuel bricks made with coal dust; wheel tracks on concrete beams proposed for an automobile track between New York and Chicago.

The Labor Situation.

Builders are inclined to take a more hopeful view in regard to labor matters. Less is heard now than a fortnight ago about a general strike on the first of May. By that time, it is thought, the ironworkers will have given in to the American Bridge Company, and then the employers of other firms handling iron will not be in favor of breaking the peace. It is now understood that the bricklayers, reconsidering their former intention, are disposed to permit matters to rest. No demand as yet has come from them.

BRICK-HANDLERS MAKE TROUBLE.

Upon the opening of navigation to Haverstraw some weeks ago the men who load bricks on the barges which bring them to this city struck for new terms, they having been organized by delegates from the brick-handlers' union of this city. Some of the manufacturers acquiesced for the time being. Since navigation has been open to the upper Hudson brick boats have been arriving with crews that are working under the old arrangement. On Thursday a body of walking delegates waited on manufacturers and representatives here and notified them that the requirements of the local or metropolitan union would be enforced. One of the rules is that there must be at least one of the local handlers working on each boat wnile it is being discharged.

Some of the boat-owners who refused to accede to this, as their boats are fully manned and need no local assistance in discharging the cargo, were informed by the board of walking delegates representing allied trades, at the behest of the brick-handlers, that unless they submitted to the demands all operations would be stopped at any building at which their bricks were delivered. This threat has been made good in a number of instances; in fact, wherever boycotted brick has been laid down.

It is immaterial to the local brick-handlers' union whether their men are employed on the boats or not; but each boat must pay wages to one of their men whether he works or not, while the unloading is going on. One builder, whose work had been stopped, came down to the pier where his bricks were being unloaded and said to the captain: "I cannot have my business interfered with. I want you to hire one of the strikers at my expense. Pay him whether he works or not, so that work can proceed at the building."

On Thursday the walking delegates drove away the trucks that were being used in discharging a cargo, the truckmen seemingly being in sympathy with the handlers. Most of the manufacturers who are sending cargoes to this market at present yield to the demands, but only temporarily. It is believed that at the meeting of manufacturers of the Hudson River Association on Wednesday a course of defensive action was resolved on, the nature of which will become apparent in about a fortnight.

It is charitable to suppose that reasons publicly assigned are not the reasons actually existing for some things that trade unions do. Glaziers at work on the Brooklyn Institute of Art and Sciences were ordered to quit this week by their walking delegate rather than unscrew and remove the iron mouldings in the frames of the large windows, so as to insert the glass. The delegate said it was the ironworkers' business to unscrew the mouldings, and the glaziers' to fit in the glass, when the ironworkers should put the mouldings baek in place. Thus are sharp distinctions made in mechanics as well as in society. Sub-rosa, it is said that somebody clothed with variegated authority used it in this manner to score one to the account of revenge.

The plasterers working on Public School No. 5 in Astoria struck this week because the employer discharged one of their number for doing what the walking delegate told him to do, and refusing to do what the employer required. The contractor, John Langley, has appealed to the Central Board of Education.

The most serious effect of the strikes of the structural ironworkers is the delay of subway work by holding up operations on the power house at 58th st and 11th av. John B. McDonald says that the strike is in direct violation of an agreement which he made with the leader of the ironworkers last November. The International Committee doubtless overruled the local union, for it is well known that the members of the latter are not in sympathy with the movement. The sub-contractors at the power house are Terry & Tench. The recently-organized National Association of Manufacturers and Erectors of Structural Steel and Iron Work are to investigate the strike against the American Bridge Company and endeavor, probably, to bring the men to terms.

CONDITIONS AND PROSPECTS AT THE OPENING OF SPRING—APPREHENSIONS OF EMPLOYERS REGARDING LABOR TROUBLES FADING—A BIG YEAR OTHERWISE EXPECTED.

Next week will see the real beginning of the spring building season, and some notice of conditions and prospects may properly be taken at this time. Among builders and dealers in building materials, who for awhile were depressed by fears of serious labor troubles, a feeling of renewed confidence can be observed. Indications that the threatened hurricane will not reach us are strengthening; the only interruptions to business may after all be like April showers, short, mild and local. The attack of the ironworkers upon the American Bridge Company, premature and fruitless as it is, will have the effect, many think, of dissuading other unions from taking any rash steps; and the close of April should find them in a mood to listen to the voice of reason. All the elements of discretion and fairness are opposed to an assault of a general character against property interests at this time by powerfully organized trades already well compensated in privileges and money in proportion to the value of services rendered and the ability of those interests to pay. Rather do they demand a year of uninterrupted peace and liberty to work, now that opportunity offers. Working hours and wages ought by this time, after many years of effort and a long series of successful "strikes," to be quite well regulated, so far as the principal building trades are concerned.

Builders and dealers who have made comparisons with their records find that spring business opens in about the same volume as in the corresponding week last year. But for timidity on account of the heretofore threatened labor eruption it would naturally have ere this exceeded last year's record, as lines independent of local conditions find that they have more contracts on hand than they had a year ago.

New York Central's Terminal Plans.

42D ST.—McKim, Mead & White, No. 160 5th av, are among the architects invited to submit plans for the new terminal for the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad, which will be situated between 42d and 45th sts and Vanderbilt av and Depew pl. Last week the State Assembly passed the bill authorizing the company to make these improvements. It is understood that the plans will embody only the train yards, shed, passenger depot, offices, etc., necessary and not a theatre, department store and hotel as was reported. The site is not confined by the above-named thoroughfares, but may extend beyond, including property already owned by the company. H. Fernstrom, chief engineer, refused further information regarding the project.

In Other Cities.

TRENTON.—A new city hall is projected here. It developed at the meeting of the committee of Seventh Ward citizens appointed to examine the property on the proposed Perry st site for the new city hall that these properties are assessed at $30,000, and have an area of 31,000 square feet, as against 26,000 feet for the proposed East State st site. The third site proposed, on the northwest corner of Broad and Perry st, has 38,000 square feet and assessments on the properties aggregate $25,000.

SYRACUSE.—Gordon A. Wright, architect, is preparing plans for a new factory building here, for Lyman C. Smith & Bros. Co., typewriter manufacturers. It is to be a large structure of the most improved type and will contain many improvements that have not been embodied in the construction of other new factories in Syracuse.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.—McKim, Mead & White, No. 160 5th av, have in preparation plans for an immense athletic stadium to be built on the Soldiers' Field, for Harvard University, at Cambridge, Mass. The structure will be of the most solid materials—stone, brick, iron and concrete; tests of the last named are now being made. The plan will probably be that of an elongated horseshoe with the opening facing the Charles River. In this open space movable wooden structures may be placed when the seating capacity of the building is exceeded. Provision will be made for nearly 80,000 spectators. Beneath the seats will be dressing and assembly rooms. Within the horseshoe will be a gridiron, practice fields, running track and space for the field events. The stadium is the memorial gift of the class of '79, members of which have subscribed $100,000 toward its erection. The entire cost will probably be in the neighborhood of $200,000. The university will bear the cost of the foundations. Next year is the 25th anniversary of the class of '79, and it is planned to dedicate the completed building at the 1904 commencement. George B. De Gersdorff, architect, who has the work in charge, is drawing preliminary sketches.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—The extension of the General Electric Company's plant will involve a new building, 150x600, one-half the length to be 3 stories high. Plans are complete, but no contracts have been let.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

Spring comes next week by the calendar.

March might be much worse for building than it is.

Oh, for one year of uninterrupted work, free from strikes.

The Hudson Cement Co., at Catskill, N. Y., when an enlargement is completed, will employ close to 500 men.

Maybe the ironworkers will not want any more trouble this year after they get through with the American Bridge Company.

The big 20-sty "Whitehall" building, opposite Battery Park, is being leased from May 1, though it would seem that the contractors have a long way to go in the interim.

The A. T. Snyder Cement Works, at Lawrenceville, Ulster County, N. Y., which has been idle for a year, is making preparations to start up under the superintendence of William Snyder.

Fred. Ebeling, architect, formerly at 97 7th st, has formed a partnership with H. E. Meyer, the firm to be known as Ebeling & Meyer, with offices in the Germania Bank Building, corner of Bowery and Spring st.

Clarence Jones, who was for twelve years connected with the office of O. D. Person, builders' supplies, at 160 5th av, died on Tuesday at his home, 251 W. 128th st, aged 30. He was a native of Highland, Ulster County, N. Y.

James Holmes & Co., being the lowest bidders, are expected to receive the contract for the big sewer to extend from Flatbush to Bay Ridge, their bid being $361,043.

The Cooper-Wigand-Cooke Co., engineers, contractors and manufacturers of ironwork for buildings, structural and ornamental, have changed their offices to 152-154 West 34th st, on account of the Pennsylvania Railroad improvements.

The Butcher Polish Co., 356 Atlantic av, Boston, Mass., has issued a booklet giving a full description, with directions for use, of their Boston Polish, for furniture, floors and interior woodwork. The Boston Polish has been on the market for many years, and is widely used.

New York, like the world in general, is being created all the time; but one wishes sometimes that he could see the principal thoroughfares all unobstructed for once. It will be a great relief when Park Row and City Hall Park are smoothed out, and it is promised that they will be in about six weeks.

The plans for the extension of Riverside Drive are now in the hands of the engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, who's report upon them is being awaited. The estimated cost is $1,500,000. President Cantor is anxious for the work to begin, but the majority of the Board favor greater deliberation.

The shake-up in the Building Department this week was in line with the general plan of improvement in public affairs. Mayor Low wants to see the people served in the best possible manner. Numerous changes have been made in the assignments of building inspectors, and a stricter enforcement of the law can be expected.

Bids were opened last Saturday, by Public Works Commissioner Redfield, for about $800,000 worth of asphalt contracts, in 23 lots. The bidders were the Eastern Bermudez, Cranford, Uvalde, Brooklyn, Alcatraz and Interstate asphalt companies. The 4th av contract, the largest, will go to the Alcatraz Company. The bids ranged from $1.16 to $1.80, but most were around $1.20.

The Tidewater Building Company, whose offices are located at Nos. 25 and 27 West 26th st, have, owing to the demands for more space made upon them by their largely increasing business, taken the entire street frontage of their present offices, which gives them about double the space they have hitherto occupied. With the increased space and light, the firm will be in a position to better facilitate the important details of the large building contracts under their supervision.

The lathing and furring work in the new R. C. Church on East 96th st; new Parochial School for All Saints Church, Madison av and 130th st; apartment hotel, at 142-146 West 49th st, for Hallahan & Ahern, and the Reynold mansion, at White Plains, was done by Martin J. Monahan, of 1123 Broadway, contractor for fireproof partitions, suspended ceilings, iron furring and metal lathing. Mr. Monahan was formerly superintendent for the W. P. Tostevin Construction Co.

A large and elaborately appointed library building was opened with appropriate ceremonies this week, at Roseton, on the Hudson. The building represents the munificence of the Rose Brick Company, and their desire for the welfare of their employees, to whose use and enjoyment it is dedicated, in memory of the founder of the village and brick company, the late John H. Rose, father of the head of the John B. Rose Company, of this city. The building is conveniently and beautifully situated on an elevation commanding a wide view of the bay.

G. I. Rockmore, of No. 280 Henry st, contractor for metal ceilings, side walls and wainscot, is long established and experienced. He has on hand an exceptionally heavy stock, including the newest and best designs from which to select, so as to promptly supply his numerous customers. Recent contracts satisfactorily completed or in hand include the new mercantile structures, No. 103 Bleecker, 264 Spring, 158 and 160 Greene, 9 Jones and 14 and 16 Wooster st, for G. H. Pigueron, owner and builder; Nos. 23 and 25 Lispenard st, for W. G. Pigueron; 8½ to 12 Jones st, for James Stanton, after plans by F. C. Zobel; 155 Rivington st, for Adolf Mandel; Nos. 91 and 93 Hester st, for Samuel Sass, of Sass & Smallheiser, and 165 East Broadway, for N & L. Jarmulowsky. Mr. Rockmore will gladly submit estimates to reliable persons. His telphone call is 3439A Franklin.

Engine House Project Postponed.

The municipal administration has apparently decided to select some other site for a fire-engine house than the block in Chambers st, between Centre and Park Row. The contract for building was not awarded at the appointed time, owing to a flaw in the specifications, and the authorities took advantage of the opportunity to give more consideration to the objections of adjacent property owners. On Thursday the Comptroller's office notified N. F. Walsh, the real estate agent in Chambers st, that the improvement, so far as that site is concerned, had been postponed, and that Mr. Walsh might resume his position as agent of the premises, the occupants of which will not be dispossessed. The petition of the interested property owners is of interest at this time:

To the Honorable Seth Low, Mayor of New York City:

Dear Sir: We, the undersigned property owners, interested in many real estate holdings, beg leave to call your attention to the sentiment expressed in the printed article, an extract from the Record and Guide, hereunto annexed.

We feel that to spend the public money for the erection of a fire house on the site described would be the direct cause of injuring real estate values in the immediate neighborhood, thereby acting as a direct hardship upon us.

We can add but little to the printed article other than to register our positive disapproval to erecting a fire house upon this site.

Accordingly we petition your Honor to exert the power you hold to prevent this direct attempt to injure real estate values, prevent this serious loss to us, also prevent a sacrifice of valuable city property and a wanton waste of public funds. Yours respectfully,

INTEREST ON BALANCE OF PURCHASE MONEY.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question: Purchaser signs a contract to buy property bringing little or no income; title to pass on the first day of April, 1903, but to close as of the tenth day of March, 1903. Kindly state whether the seller is entitled to six per cent. interest (rate of interest not being mentioned in contract), from March 10th to April 1, on the balance of purchase money, above the mortgage, which was on the property?

Answer.—Not unless it is so stipulated in the contract.—Law Editor.

For Impartiality in City Contract Work.

The charges which Comptroller Grout has made against Fire Commissioner Sturgis interests builders as indicating the intention of the administration to adhere to the letter of the law in awarding contracts. The Comptroller deemed it his duty to call the Mayor's attention to the violation of section 419 of the charter, which provides that work which in its several parts involves the expenditure of more than $1,000 shall be by contract. This violation occured in November and December last on some ten fire-houses for sums ranging from $1,500 to over $3,000 on each house, and it is intimated that the invitations to bid were restricted. The Comptroller says the investigation has so far been confined to contracts for water-warming apparatus, but he awaits further orders before investigating the work done by masons, carpenters, plumbers and others. While the total sum involved is small, it is important to know that the city administration is alert in enforcing the administration of a law designed to guard the interests of all contractors alike. The matter is in the hands of the Mayor, and the Fire Commissioner has been asked for an explanation.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in seetion 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

to a building estimate is to specify M F Roofing Tin. It is the best roofing material —perhaps just a little more costly at first; but it will last more than half a century; will not rust, or leak. It is the world's standard for roofing tin.

M F Roofing Tin

is made by the old-style hand process. It carries a very heavy coating of pure tin and new lead. Every sheet is carefully inspected and only perfect plates sold. This (MF) mark stamped on every sheet. Ask your roofer, or

Vol. LXXI. MARCH 28, 1903. No. 1828

THE stock market continues to be affected by the high rates for money and the uncertainty of the labor situation. The steady decline in prices which has continued all this week, not only brought little or no outside buying, but its persistence and direction showed that there was moderate but steady liquidation from some quarter or quarters, particularly in the high-priced issues. That times are changed is apparent from this fact and the way in which new options are received by stockholders. Not very long ago such announcements as have been made in the current month would have put prices up materially; now they have only served to depress them. It is true they have come at a time when money is dear and we cannot judge of their actual effect until the stringency passes as it should soon do, and rates are nearer the normal of late years. Still there is no ground for expecting extreme ease for a long time to come, in fact, until either the volume of money is increased or the business to be done reduces itself to the capacity of the funds that now exist. Where a few years ago high rates were known to be due to quickly passing causes, it will be low rates that will be so regarded for the future and the change will not only check speculation in listed securities but operate against quotations as well, especially where there is a substantial disparity between current rates for money and the return on the security.

CONSOLS continue to make the feature of the foreign market news. The drop in the price to a small fraction under 90 this week, though directly occasioned by the report that a further issue was contemplated in connection with the Irish Land bill, serves to illustrate what we said last week in relation to the movements of this important security. Our conclusion, that present conditions would compel a modification in the terms under which public loans must now be issued, is supported by the reported price of the coming guaranteed Transvaal 3% loan of £35,000,000; this, it is said, will be 98. A three per cent. British loan, in all respects as good as Consols, at a discount of 2% will be something that was undreamt of a few years ago. Preparations for this loan account in part for the continued high rates for money in London and may postpone the relief the market is expecting with the opening of the coming month. Regarding general business conditions those who are looking for improvement, lay much stress upon the economic influences of the new programme involving the expenditure of $55,000,000 for new construction. This with the exemption of the amount appropriated for one cruiser, which will be constructed in one of the Government's yards, will all go to private concerns, distributed on the Thames, Tyne, Clyde, Mersey, etc. No less than $50,000,000 will be expended in the shipyards. It is worth recalling the fact that a similar policy of naval expenditure started the last industrial boom which may be said to have ended only with the Boer War, and there is, therefore, good ground for anticipating that like consequences will follow the making of this one. A factor in the situation that more directly concerns the world at large, is the Rand gold production which gives signs of having lost its impetus in the direction of increase. In February, 196,513 ozs. were reported against 199,279 in January. February was a shorter month and fewer mines made returns, but the month has an ante-bellum record of 404,335 ozs. and what the world wants to see, especially in these days of mitigated stringency, is something of the rapid progress made before the war interrupted work at the mines. Germany is in ample funds and a lender to both Great Britain and the United States. Rates for money are lower at Berlin than elsewhere and reports from the centres of the great industries indicate that conditions are rapidly growing better. Austria has effected a conversion of her common rente successfully so far as domestic capital is concerned, but foreigners as a rule accepted the repayment offered, though the amount so demanded, though large in itself, was but a small percentage of the total.

The Last of Tenement House Opposition.

THERE was very little comfort to be derived by the opponents of Tenement House reform from the delegations that made their way to Albany on Thursday last. It must be perfectly plain now to everybody who really wishes to get at the facts, that the entire community, excepting a negligible quantity, has "got behind" Mr. de Forest and the Tenement House Law. In spite of the obvious, however, some individuals of a sanguinary temperament may believe it is still possible to break down the law by the aid of the Legislature. However, even this delusion, wherever it exists, must be dispelled by Governor Odell's most positive declaration made on Thursday, when he announced that as long as he remained Governor he would refuse to sign any bill that was in any way inimical to Tenement House Reform as understood by the friends of the movement. It is impossible for an Executive to put himself on record in stouter or plainer terms, and with this assurance of the Governor's, the last gap is closed in the defense of Tenement House Reform.

It is certainly a very gratifying result. It draws the curtain on the first stage of a movement that is entirely creditable to those who promoted it and to the community that supported it. It would not be fair, however, to leave the statement at this point, without recording how largely the victory has been the personal triumph of Mr. de Forest. If Mr. de Forest could not have succeeded without the support of those who have seconded him, loyally and with enthusiasm, it is equally certain that Tenement House Reform would not occupy the established position it does to-day had it not been even more than fortunate in the selection of its first administrative official. Mr. de Forest is the one fact, in a long controversy, about which there has never been two opinions. If Governor Odell can say that the signing of the Tenement House Law has afforded him more personal satisfaction than any other official act of his, one may feel that Mr. de Forest's still greater satisfaction cannot be augmented by any word of ours or of his fellow-citizens. It has been said that no one who needs a monument should ever have one. In that sense, Mr. de Forest is entitled to a rising vote of thanks from New Yorkers irrespective of politics or opinions of any kind.

The Present Situation of the Mortgage Tax Bill.

IT seems scarcely worth while to argue the question of the mortgage tax bill on its merits as a desirable addition to the tax system of the state. It is not proposed for any such purpose; it is not defended by any such arguments; its passage is not being pressed on any such grounds. The Governor himself has admitted that the mortgager will pay the tax; and that it is in effect double taxation of real estate. He has fixed upon, as a means of raising revenue, partly because, as he believes, it cannot escape a properly drawn law, partly because it will be a great revenue producer; and partly because he believes that although it is double taxation it will, by removing the uncertainties of the present situation really enable mortgagors eventually to borrow money as cheaply as they do now, if not more cheaply. But of these different reasons the first is really paramount with the Governor. He has a fixed idea that he must get rid of the general tax levy of the state at any expense and by any means; and as apparently he can do so only by taxing real estate indirectly rather than directly, he is foolish enough to make this attempt to cure a small evil by creating a larger one. And he was, until recently, determined to force his proposals through by the most drastic means of coercion he has at his command.

We believe, nevertheless, that the passage of the bill can be prevented, but only by making the Legislature and the Governor understand what a disastrous thing the enactment of such a law would be for the Republican administration of this state. Not only would it instigate an immense amount of litigation, not only would it disturb the money market by the calling in of all mortgages which become due in the event of such a tax, not only would it create an amount of confusion in the whole money lending market, which would have unfavorable effect upon all kinds of business, but what is worse, for the Republican administration, is that it would arouse the resentment and opposition of the hundreds of thousands of thrifty people in this state, who own land, but cannot afford to do so without turning part of its value into working capital. These people are in general the moderately well off members of the community, the intelligent and industrious middle class, who are rarely bound inflexibly by party lines, and who would express their resentment at the polls. If the Legislature and the Governor can be made to feel the opposition of this class, if they can be made to understand that they are not as hitherto merely taxing merely a few leading institutions, but are really threatening the interests and arousing the opposition of one of the most numerous, intelligent and energetic classes in the community, it is inconceivable that they should continue to pursue their present suicidal course.

This judgment that the mortgage tax can be defeated provided the opposition to it is sufficiently energetic and persistent in its protests is made the more plausible by the fact that the money which would be raised by the proposed mortgage tax will not be needed by the state, not at least for many years. The increase already effected by means of a change in the inheritance tax law and the proposed increase in the excise rate would of themselves be sufficient to wipe out the general tax levy of the state. If it was deemed prudent to raise between one and two millions of dollars a year more, so as to begin providing at once for the possible canal loan, that could be done without friction by a revival of the recording tax on mortgages proposed last year. Further than that Governor Odell does not need to provide. He will have redeemed his pledges, and he will have arranged for paying interest on the first large batch of bonds which may be required for the canal improvement. What further responsibility he has, it is difficult to understand—particularly when the attempt to raise unnecessary money would be attended by so many uncertainties, and would arouse such violent opposition. It surely would be a big price to pay for a few million dollars of superfluous revenue.

As stated in the beginning the Record and Guide has argued this matter entirely on the basis of expediency, because it is on such grounds that the passage of the bill is chiefly urged at Albany; but before leaving the subject we cannot help expressing our regret that in spite of the fermentation, which Governor Odell has introduced into the subject of state taxation and in spite of his lively interest in the matter, he has not accomplished anything in the direction of reforming the worst faults of the present tax system. In trying to abolish the general state tax levy he has made a change which may help to decrease the direct tax charges upon real estate, but which in other respects has many disadvantages. In respect to the injustice and absurdity of the general property tax he has never uttered a single word; neither has he shown any comprehension of the true principles upon which a system of state and municipal taxation should be based. In short his tax reforms will leave the tax methods of the state in essentially as confused and inequitable a condition as that in which he found them, and we shall be just as far as ever from a thorough-going reform which would distribute burdens equitably and would not bring in its train the embarrassment and loss of these continual agitations.

VERY encouraging reports come from all over the country regarding the outlook for building this Spring, subject to the many differences with labor now under consideration being satisfactorily settled. While 1903 does not promise to equal 1901 in this respect, there is a possibility that it may improve upon 1902. There is not only a greater amount of work in hand in the big cities like Chicago, Pittsburg and St. Louis, but that projected is of large proportions, and only awaits the settlement of the wage and trade conditions to be put into plans. In Pittsburg alone, some eight or ten of these waiting undertakings represent $7,000,000 worth of construction.

MAYOR LOW has come out with a plan of his own, which, he believes, has the advantages of providing both for a much needed transit terminal near the City Hall Park, and for a economical and sufficient site for a new municipal building. This plan is in brief that the city take title to all the land in the four triangles, which it does not now own, bounded by Duane street, Centre street and Park Row, that the lower part of this space be used as a terminus for the subway, the tunnels to Brooklyn, to the Manhattan ends of the Williamsburg and Manhattan Bridges, for the elevated roads, and the Brooklyn Bridge, and for the Second, Third and Madison avenue surface lines, and that above this terminus the city erect an office-building tall enough to accommodate all the city departments now occupying rented offices down-town. The Mayor believes that this site will be much more economical than the proposed site on Chambers street and Broadway, that the improvement will pay for itself, and it will solve several knotty problems in a comprehensive and sufficient way. About the economy of this site as compared with the Chambers street-Broadway site, there can be no doubt, for as the Record and Guide recently pointed out, a building situated to the west of the Hall of Records would cost the city twice as much in interest as it would save in rentals. On the other hand we do not altogether relish the idea of the city going into the business of building sky-scrapers, and there can be no doubt that as a matter of looks, and as an attempt to give the city a municipal building worthy of its metropolitan aspirations, that the Chambers street site is to be preferred. But no matter what becomes of the idea for a municipal building, these triangles should certainly be used as a transit terminal.

The Real Estate Situation.

There have been more sales reported during the past week than during the week before, but business has not regained the activity of a few weeks ago, and it is more professional in character than it was at the end of February The general conditions which affect the situation are chiefly the mortgage tax bill and the difficulty of borrowing money. Of these the danger from the first is distinctly less threatening than it was last week. Indeed it may be asserted with some confidence that in case the increase in the liquor tax is passed very probably the mortgage tax bill will be dropped, or at the worst, changed into a recording tax. As to the second it is probable that for a long time to come borrowers of money on real estate will be unable to get what they want, unless they offer exceptional security or pay an exceptional price; and while this fact will embarrass operations, it will have the advantage of making them conservative at a time when, were money less difficult to borrow, the danger would distinctly lie in the direction of reckless speculation. Property-owners will heave a sigh of relief at the announcement that the Governor has signed the Sinking Fund relief bill, and that the tax rate for the coming year promises to be 1.45 or less. They will note, however, with the utmost regret, that under the new assessment it is personal property more than real estate which is relieved of taxation. The assessed valuation of real property is in the aggregate about one-third greater than it was last year, while the assessed valuation of personal property will be only about one-seventh greater, which means that the city will derive from the personal property about $3,000,000 less than it did last year, which $3,000,000 will have to be paid by real estate. If the assessment of personal property could have been increased at the same ratio as that of real estate the tax rate would have been ten points lower. However the tax question is comparatively less important than formerly, because the average parcel of rented real estate is yielding a very much better income than it did two or three years ago. All over the city dwellings, apartments and tenements have an extremely small proportion of vacancies, and this is particularly true of the apartment house section immediately north of the Park, which in 1900 appeared to be very much over-built. The most active kind of trading is now taking place in such apartment houses—particularly in those which are seven stories high. Flats of this kind have a great advantage as income-producers over the six-story buildings to which the new tenement house law restricts builders, and they are naturally in great demand. The number of new tenements and flats planned continues to be very large and very well distributed. It is an interesting fact, which points to an increased prosperity among the Jews of the most crowded district, that a distinctly more expensive class of living accommodation is being offered for rent in that vicinity. Flats as distinguished from tenements are projected in fairly large numbers on the more important streets. Altogether it appears certain that from one cause or another New York will have an unusually large amount of housing accommodation added to its stock during the current year.

Characteristics of the Week.

The plans of the Hudson and Manhattan Tunnel are being gradually unfolded. It has secured, at prices which only a few years ago, would have made people gasp, practically the whole three block fronts on the west side of Church street stretching from Fulton to Liberty streets, an area which implies a very large terminal and the expectation of handling an enormous traffic. It is scarcely credible that a tunnel with such a large and expensive terminus will be used exclusively by the trolley roads. It could be made to pay, only in case it secured practically the whole commutation traffic of the Jersey Central, Lackawanna and Erie; and it would be such an enormous convenience to these commuters that some arrangement will surely be made to run trains continuously from the terminus over the tracks of the steam railroads to Elizabeth, Newark, the Oranges and other centres of suburban residence. Very certainly the railroads that lack that accommodation are sure in the long run to lose a large part of their suburban business. The effect of the station on surrounding property will be very considerable. A convenient connection would undoubtedly be made with the Manhattan Subway, and these blocks on Church street would become a centre of street traffic second only in importance to the neighborhood of the Brooklyn Bridge. Since commuters do a good deal of retail buying on the way to the stations, property thereabouts will become more valuable for purposes of retail trade, while it is very probable that the railroad company will try to use the land it is now acquiring, not only as a station, but for one or more office buildings, which again will tend to bring the district to the west of Broadway into greater prominence as a possible site for tall business buildings. Apropos of such buildings, the statement that five stories will be added to the Empire Building is extremely interesting. The Empire has been one of the most popular of these structures, because of the superb light and air which it commands, and it is no wonder that its owners are preparing to follow the example of the owners of Lord's Court, and add as many stories to their building as the structure will stand. The present tendency obviously is in the direction of even taller buildings wherever height can be advantageously added; and we shall expect the average new building in the financial district to be nearer 25 than 20 stories, and to cover a larger area than ever, for the taller the building the greater the necessity becomes for more space. The Commercial Cable Company is a serious loser at the present time, because its management permitted the adjoining property, now occupied by the Blair Building, to be acquired by other owners. The rents in the Cable building have had to be lowered materially in consequence of the loss of light. It is mere folly to erect such buildings without absolutely securing the enterprise from losses of that kind.

SO much is written about the progress of municipal art in New York and the other cities of this country, that some sudden revelation of utter indifference to the most rudimentary principles of civic æsthetics always comes with a shock of painful surprise. Such a shock was furnished by the proposal on the part of certain prominent lawyers possibly to erect a new county court house in the City Hall Park, provided that it should not occupy an area larger than that of certain other buildings previously destroyed. But the great object of destroying these buildings is to gain additional park space, and to free the City Hall from the confinement which the erection of these buildings in its immediate vicinity brought about. The destruction of the old Hall of Records has made so great an improvement in this respect that it has very much accelerated the demand for the tearing down of the brownstone buildings now situated in the park; and the occupation of the space so gained with another building of greater height and imposing design would be not merely repeating the error already made, but doing it in the face of all the light that has recently been shed upon municipal æsthetic proprieties. Fortunately, however, the probability is small that the error will be repeated. The newspapers have testified almost unanimously against such a sinning against the light; and the Art Commission which, if it does not possess any initiative in such matters, at least has the power of veto, would unquestionably refuse its consent to the situation of another big building in the park and in the immediate vicinity of the little City Hall. The Justices of the Supreme Court and the lawyers using the Court House are entitled to a new building as soon as possible; but the building should be erected only as part of a general scheme, which will include a new municipal building, and it should be erected on land especially condemned for the purpose.

How the Stevens Law Will Work.

The recent amendment to the Transfer or Inheritance Tax Law in this State, taxing real estate passing by will or inheritance to lineal relatives at the rate of 1% upon the amount received, when it is of the value of $10,000 or more, will have far-reaching effects. A tax on the transfer of real property, unlike that on personal property, will be collected with but little difficulty, and evasion will be impossible.

New York, in making this amendment to its Inheritance Tax Law, follows the lead of other important States in the same direction. Pennsylvania, Illinois and Massachusetts are a few of the States in which similar statutes are in force. One of the interesting results of this piece of legislation is that a widow's right of dower in her husband's estate will be subject to tax as well as a husband's right of courtesy in his wife's estate.

It has been estimated that the tax to be realized from this source will amount to $500,000 a year; but a careful examination of the many estates which have secured exemption as to real estate during the past year in the Surrogate's Court of New York County and of the other facts in the matter leads to the conclusion that THIS ADDITIONAL TAX WILL PROBABLY BE NEARER $2,000,000 A YEAR, and will be borne by those counties in which real estate is of most value. The entire assessed valuation of real property in the State of New York for 1901 was in round numbers $5,000,000,000 (the total personal property $600,000,000). If we assume, therefore, that the real property in the State of New York is transferred, say once in a generation of twenty-five years, there will be a yearly transfer of real property of the assessed valuation of $200,000,000, upon which there will be a tax of $2,000,000. In this computation neither the possibility of a 5% collateral inheritance tax nor the value of property in its nature exempt for purposes of taxation under this act is considered, so that the result is conservative.

The counties of Greater New York and Erie combined contain real estate of the assessed valuation of $3,500,000,000, or SEVENTENTHS of the amount of the valuation of real estate in the entire State, and these counties will pay more than a corresponding portion of the tax. THIS IS EQUIVALENT TO AN ADDITIONAL TAX OF $1,500,000 A YEAR UPON THE REAL ESTATE IN NEW YORK, ERIE, KINGS AND QUEENS COUNTIES.

The exemptions under this law in the rural counties will vastly exceed those in the above-named urban counties. The transfer of the average farm will be exempt, the transfer of the metropolitan lot will be taxed, because the average farm or village dwelling is worth less than ten thousand dollars, and the New York City house a great deal more. This fact was recognized by one of the city members of the Legislature who attempted to secure an amendment reducing the amount under which exemption might be secured from $10,000 to $2,000.

Moreover, it is apparent that the burden of this tax will gradually be shifted more and more upon the cities, and especially upon New York City, where the values of realty are rapidly advancing.

Of all the new tax measures this one seems to have caused least public discussion and comment in spite of its important bearing on real estate values.

Views on the New Real Estate Association.

PROBLEMS OF ORGANIZATION AND LINES OF WORK THAT SHOULD BE FOLLOWED.

Perhaps the most difficult point that the Real Estate Association of New York will be called upon to decide relates to the basis, plan and scope of organization. There is a great unanimity of opinion, as the Record and Guide has found, that a strong central body of property-owners and representatives is imperatively required, and no doubts whatever regarding the immeasureable benefit that would flow therefrom. But how far is it the purpose to include existing local organizations and their members, and shall the Real Estate Association of New York be a body of representatives, or a simple congregation of individuals; and if the latter, how shall the present leaders ensure the perpetuation of their ideas?

Again, it is asked, Is it to be a trade organization like the New York Stock Exchange, an honorary one like the Chamber of Commerce, or one like the Merchants' Association? How will the new Association make its voice heard, and along what lines should it work? The by-laws that have been proposed by the committee on permanent organization provide "that the officers shall be a president, three vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, all of whom shall be members of the board of directors and elected by that body. The board will consist of thirty members, five groups of six each, one group to be retired annually, and at least a majority of the board members must be real estate owners. Membership in the association, with annual dues of $5, will be open to all residents of the city. The standing committees will be an executive committee, a finance committee, a committee on law, legislation and taxation, to consist of seven directors, three of them lawyers in active practice; a committee on public expenditures and improvements, to consist of five directors, and a committee on grievances."

An endeavor on the part of the Record and Guide to obtain representative views on the general subject elicited the following expressions:

Hon. J. Edgar Levey, ex-Deputy Comptroller of the City of New York, said.

"The Real Estate Association of New York should cover a field which is to-day entirely unoccupied. It should be the means whereby the powerful influence which springs from effective organization can be exerted in regard to questions of taxation, public improvement and expenditure, which affect general, rather than special, interests, and should afford an opportunity whereby each and every taxpayer in New York City can realize that his individual voice is a direct factor in the formation and growth of such influence.

"We have, to-day, excellent local organizations of property-owners, which safeguard the interests of particular districts; we have likewise excellent organizations of a similar character which voice the sentiment of trade or professional opinion; but nowhere is there to be found an association which can undertake to speak with direct authority from the general body of taxpayers. Considering the fact that every other taxpaying interest, corporate or otherwise, such as the railroad, shipping, life and fire insurance and banking interests, is effectively organized and represented, this situation is readily seen to be anomalous, especially in view of the overwhelming percentage of all taxes paid by real estate owners.

"The Real Estate Association of New York should not seek to supplant, or displace, such effective local agencies as the West Side Association, nor such excellent professional organizations as the Real Estate Board of Brokers, but should work independently, though in harmony with them. Its lines should be along the course heretofore mapped out by the Merchants' Association, as an active agency for the enforcement of its members' interests, rather than imitate the more honorary and passive attitude of the Chamber of Commerce, or the more purely trade relations of the Stock Exchange. With its light annual dues and its readily recognized positive advantages to the property-owners, attracting a large membership, and with the active support already secured from the most representative real estate owners of the city, the new association would seem to have been born under the most propitious possible auspices."

Mr. Noyes, of Lovejoy & Noyes, 62 Cedar st, said: 'One thing is certain; if there is one particular interest needing protection and co-operation in New York City it is real estate. There should be a comprehensive organization, one of the duties of which should be to watch state and local legislation, like changes in the building laws, and in the regulations of the health department. Among the many regulations put through the state health department some are apt to be unwise, a burden not only on the taxpayer, but also on the owner, more so for the reason that local conditions are not always understood at Albany.

"From a broker's standpoint, I think it would be a mistake to make it purely a business of trade association. To make it efficient, it must contain a large proportion of owners, as well as of real estate brokers, the voice of owners being more important and commanding than the opinion of agents or brokers. The association should be able in a strong way to put before the public and before legislative bodies their views for or against proposed legislation, and they can do this by appealing to their tenants, for what is detrimental to owners has a like effect upon tenants, who ordinarily must pay the taxes and costs. Tenants would be as interested as the owners themselves in resisting oppressive legislative intentions.

"The influence of a strong association such as proposed would secure laws favorable to real estate as well as obstruct objectionable measures. But in order to obtain a working organization it cannot be limited to brokers, but must, as I have said, take in as many of the owners as possible. Being thus composed, it would have the financial ability to employ representatives to any extent, to scrutinize legislation and do other needful work. By all means it should be equipped with a press bureau."

Mr. L. Napoleon Levy, 20 Broad st, said: "The trouble in the past has been that there were too many small organizations without a leader. We should have a strong and comprehensive organization, to embrace the local ones. I should say that every existing association of property-owners should send representatives to the central organization, which should have salaried attorneys and agents to represent it at Albany and otherwise.

"Everything relating to real estate, including local improvements, the laying out of new parks and streets, the granting of franchises for street railways, all these should receive consideration from the Real Estate Association of New York. Incalculable benefits would flow from this, and I should have it go farther and take notice of the councils of government."

Mr. James Libbey, of 7 Pine st, commented favorably on the new movement, and considered that it was high time something was being done to protect real estate from wrongful impositions. "What we should have is an income tax," he added. "I don't believe in taxing mortgages, for that makes the borrower bear the additional burden, and drives capital away from investing in real estate.

"I should have an organization like the Chamber of Commerce, and I think if you take in all the large real estate operating companies, that protects the small interests adequately. Let the big realty companies such as the United States and Century, and others that might be named, represent the rest."

A WORD FOR THE BOARD OF BROKERS.

Bryan L. Kennelly, 7 Pine st, said: "I think that the Real Estate Board of Brokers of the City of New York should represent all real estate owners of the City of New York, and should other people connected with realty and construction companies, title insurance companies, etc., desire to act in conjunction with the said Board of Brokers, I know that they would be only too glad to have them do so; but the legislature, in my opinion, would give more attention to the regular representatives of New York real estate than they would to any outside association."

I. H. Kuhn, 111 Broadway, said: "Taking the view that its primary object is for the protection of New York City property interests, it will in all probability prove to be very advantageous, and an organization of great strength. I would take in every property-owner in the city."

W. S. Patten, of 111 Broadway, spoke well of the idea, and considered that it might be of great benefit to property interests generally. He understood that the new association would take in all the local organizations of taxpayers, and if united and determined would exert a great influence.

EVERY PROPERTY OWNER SHOULD BE INTERESTED.

J. Clarence Davies said: "My ideas in relation to the organization of real estate interests in the city is that it should combine in one central organization, which would represent the entire real estate interests of the city. This can best be done as it is done in the Bronx. That is to say, we have a central organization known as the Taxpayers' Alliance, which organization is composed of delegates of property owners and real estate interests of the local organizations. Thus the central organization voices the sentiment of the entire real estate interests of the borough, and every property-owner in my opinion should belong to a local organization and thus strengthen the hands of the central organization, which should represent the entire real estate of the city. As for the real estate brokers themselves, the Real Estate Board of Brokers was organized for their mutual benefit and protection.

"As their interests largely co-ordinate with the interests of the property-owner, and as the broker is by practical experience in the best position to judge of the necessities and interests pertaining to real estate, the Board of Brokers should be largely represented in the central organization of the kind suggested, besides which a large majority of the real estate interests of the city are in their care.

"One thing in my opinion has always seemed to me particularly peculiar: Every man, woman and child in the city is more or less interested in real estate, either as tenant or owner, and real estate pays 90, perhaps 95 per cent. of the taxes and cost of the carrying on of the Government; but in spite of this fact there is perhaps no other interest that has so little to say or so little influence in legislative action as the paramount and enormous realty interest.

"The cause of this in my mind is the lack of organization and sufficient publicity not having been given to matters relating to real estate and its interests."

WHAT MAY BE DONE THROUGH ORGANIZED EFFORT.

J. P. and E. J. Murray, 2034 3d av, remarked: "In our opinion real estate owners should organize to protect their mutual interests after the manner of all other classes of people. We believe that the best way to thoroughly organize is by means of local organizations, which should have discretion as to the plan of organization, dues, meetings, etc. These various local organizations could be represented in a central organization through delegates chosen after the manner of the United Real Estate Owners' Association.

"The plan of this central organization is to charge a per capita tax to each local organization affiliated with it, and to allow one delegate for each twenty-five members. In this way much good is effected, because the central organization is not hampered with purely local matters and matters of general interest are much more vigorously prosecuted by the united efforts of the local organizations. We are at present members of two such local organizations; the Twenty-third Ward Property-Owners' Association, which recently celebrated its fifteenth anniversary, and the Harlem Property-Owners' Association, a most energetic, wide-awake local organization, which was organized October 30, 1901.

"These two bodies and the United Real Estate Owners' Association were prominent in their discussion of many subjects relative to real estate during the past year, including the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel and the Central Railroad terminal, Rapid Transit plans for Manhattan, Bronx and Brooklyn, pernicious and unnecessary tenement house legislation, paving and lighting of streets, and the reduction of interest and arrearage of assessment from seven per cent. to six per cent., the legal rate.

"Opposition to the general introduction of water meters (which would cost the property-owners approximately $14,000,000), preferring instead the expenditure of a like amount to build additional reservoirs, so as to provide abundant water supply without restriction for family use. Opposition to plan assessing real estate at 100 per cent., virtually exempting personal property. Opposition to several schemes to benefit monopolies at the expense of property-owners, as in the case of ordinance requiring the use of patented devices for a fire alarm signal in all tenement houses, and the use of a house number which is manufactured by a monopoly. A vigorous protest by the Harlem Property-Owners' Association, endorsed by all the leading property-owners' associations of the city against the levying of an assessment on Harlem property approximating $1,000,000, for the purpose of reconstructing the Central Railroad's viaduct north of 106th st without the request of, or any benefit to, the adjacent property owners. The bill authorizing this work, and the manner of payment of one-half the cost would have been impossible had the citizens of Harlem been properly organized at the time of the introduction of the bill in the Legislature.

"These illustrations should convince any thinking property-owner of the necessity of joining and assisting by financial contribution, and personal assistance, some property-owners' organization."

SHOULD BE LIKE THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

James Kyle & Son, of 610 3d av, expressed the following views: "The time is ripe for a proper organization of the real estate interests of this city. Every owner and every reputable broker should be a member of such an organization. Its main purpose should be a careful investigation of all legislation affecting real estate; a protest from such an organized body would most certainly receive the proper consideration in our city and state government. The inducement offered to become a member would be a proper supervision of all matters affecting real estate, and the organization should be similar in many respects to the Merchants' Association. We heartily approve of the formation of such an organization, and would do our utmost to make a success of it."

The Normal Basis for Tenement House Legislation.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I had hoped that by no stretch of the imagination or of misunderstanding could anything contained in my communication of last week be construed as advocating an abrogation of the Tenement House Law. I sought to show how the effect of tenement regulations might be extended with safety to a great class of important building operations and to a large number of people who might desire to go a-housekeeping anywhere in Manhattan where property commands high valuation. Let me say right here that whatever is contained in my last communication and herein also is intended to apply within the principles contained in the present Tenement Law, and not one particle outside of them.

What I sought to make plain was that while the law proportions free air space to lot area, underneath this simple method lay the principle of really proportioning everything about a building to the number of persons occupying it. In a recent speech, Mr. Richard Watson Gilder, in support of the Tenement Law, declared that a given quantity of atmosphere will sustain only a certain amount of human life. He did not say that the atmosphere was necessary for the purpose of sustaining the life of the earth and rock composing the lot, nor of the brick, iron, wood and stone of which the building is constructed. The atmosphere is for "human life," and, according to Mr. Gilder, one hundred persons require exactly one hundred times as much air as one person, irrespective whether the occupancy be in a tenement or in a palace.

Proportioning the free air space to lot area is a convenient, but crude method. It presumes that the lot area is representative of the persons which can be housed upon it and it is practicable only under simple conditions. Under the complication of a variety of buildings, which has arisen in recent years, and which will inevitably continue to increase, it is insufficient and inequitable. The lot area taken in conjunction with an accepted height of building (formerly three stories, now six), is presumed under the law to provide domicile for a certain number of persons living in the most crowded condition possible. Upon this the fixed ratios of free air space are based. These ratios have been found to be far from the mark, when applied indiscriminately to buildings of two and three stories, and again to those from eight to twelve stories, where the condition of crowding is not a factor, and where tenement conditions do not and could not exist by reason of plan arrangement alone.

Besides the principles of proportioning free air space to individuals there are two other great principles now embodied in the Tenement Law; one, control of occupancy, and the other continuous surveillance as distinguished from temporary inspection during construction only. It is said that the Farrell bill would destroy the Tenement House Law, and that control of occupancy is unenforcible. "Occupancy" appears in two divisions—"kinds" and "numbers." Turning to the present law we find that control of kinds of occupancy constituted one of the brightest jewels of recent amendments. Chapter 334, Laws of 1901, was heralded far and wide as providing for the first time machinery of control of tenements against occupancy by "prostitution or assignation of any description."

If control over occupancy is unenforcible, are we now to understand that what was regarded as a most brilliant achievement in 1901 has already been demonstrated to be null and void in effect?

Control of numbers is already present in the law in Section 112 as follows: "No room in any tenement house shall be so overcrowded that there shall be afforded less than four hundred cubic feet of air to each adult, and two hundred cubic feet of air to each child under twelve years of age occupying such room." Brief as it is, this is probably the most remarkable paragraph in the entire law. As it stands, it is legislative rubbish, and unenforcible, it is true. But it embodies the illustration of great principles: continuous surveillance, control of numerical occupancy, and, most extraordinary, not only an apportionment of air space per person, but a differentiation between, and fixed allotment of cubic feet of air to adults and children.

Turning now to the "Agnew amendment" (approved by the administration), we find an even more astonishing state of affairs.

Section 1 provides a new amendment, that: "wherever the words 'is occupied' are used in this act applying to any building, such words shall be construed as if followed by the words 'or is intended, arranged, or designed to be occupied.'"

And again, we find in Section 3: "The said act is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as section five, and to read as follows:

"Sec. 5. Alterations and Changes in Occupancy. No tenement house shall at any time be altered so as to be in violation of any provision of this act.

"If any tenement house or any part thereof is occupied by more families than provided in this act, or is erected, altered, or occupied contrary to law, such tenement house shall be deemed an unlawful structure, and the department charged with the enforcement of this act may cause such building to be vacated. And such a building shall not again be occupied until it or its occupation, as the case may be, has been made to conform to the law."

Is not this significant? The present law recognizes "Unlawful Occupation," under Sec. 123, and now we are to have for the first time an "unlawful structure." Occupancy is to be controlled, and it has been discovered that a building can be compelled to be vacated very much easier than structural changes can be enforced. As a matter of fact, as far as control of tenements through occupancy being unenforcible is concerned, no simpler, more rapid, or more effective method of administration could possibly be devised. Could anything be simpler than to declare a building an "unlawful structure" over an official signature and send a squad of police to put the occupants on the sidewalk? They would not even be accorded the temporary hospitality on the Island which is extended to "vagrants" under similar circumstances. The mortgage may be called, the rent is uncollectible, water supply cut off, and the owner, agent, architect, builder and foreman put in jail. Meanwhile the house may be plundered, or take fire. All this because an inspector may have measured the height of a court wall with a shrunken tape and found it an inch higher than the law allows. Surely this goes much further than anything I had dreamt of. So swift and thorough is control by occupancy that it must indeed remain a question of serious doubt whether such an executive gatling gun should be entrusted in the hands of any official. Imagine such a power as the Agnew bill proposes to convey, at the service of an unscrupulous Tenement House Commissioner, would not his opportunities for collecting golden harvests of blackmail be even greater than those ascribed to the Police Department?

Continuous surveillance is a necessary and a comparatively new feature of the law, but it also is already established there.

It would be as easy to turn an "apartment" house into a "tenement" as it is now to turn a "hotel" into a "tenement." In fact, it is common knowledge that this has been done and undone, so that this is no new situation. The Farrell bill would bring relief and orderliness to it. The applicant would elect his own classification under Judge Bishof's ruling, and it would be the business of the department to prevent surreptitious transitions. This is readily accomplished under the powers which the department now has, even without recourse to the great and dangerous powers proposed by the Agnew amendment, particularly as the classification meets a live situation and falls into practical lines. If it be true that the new classification could not be controlled, then it must be equally true that the distinction between "hotels" and "tenements" is also uncontrollable, and every hotel could be inhabited as a tenement over night.

I think that the fact must have been overlooked, that the Farrell bill states that "An apartment house shall be taken to mean and include every tenement," etc., leaves it subject to all the tenement laws, except that in the two instances which it recites, the free air space is equitably proportioned to persons instead of arbitrarily to lot area, and leaves jurisdiction of apartment houses as a type of tenement with the Tenement House Department. My suggestions therefor are entirely in effect "that the Building Code be amended so as to place proper restrictions on the building of apartment hotels, etc." Chief among the many tenement restrictions which would thus be brought to bear upon family apartment hotels would be the one restricting the height to one and one-half times the width of the street.

I am entirely agreed that "people who are well-off, or even rich, are as much entitled to light and air, proper sanitary conditions, protection from fire, as people who are not so well-off," and am satisfied that the Farrell bill will provide these where in many instances they will not be brought into existence without it.

I do not suggest more stringent restrictions upon the free air space of apartment hotels and bachelor apartments, because applying the multiplication table to Mr. Gilder's theory I find that these are more than up to the legal free air factor, and do not require them.

With all this authority therefor upon the adequacy of control over occupancy, and that free air space is properly proportioned to persons and not to lot area, the Farrell bill appears in a new aspect. It would leave the factor of free air space to persons living in "apartment houses" about double that which the law apportions to persons living in "tenements," and in the case of an "apartment house" on a corner lot, the free air space would be all-out-doors, where no tenement can now be erected at all. Why should a drastic and arbitrary remedy aimed solely against conditions existing in the Ghetto and Brownsville, and which would be admittedly a disgrace to China, be permitted to affect other unblamable situations bearing not the faintest resemblance to them?

For two years Brooklyn and the Bronx have been clamoring for relief, and it is about to be accorded in a measure at least. Another condition exists in reference to the larger buildings for family apartments which in its economical and social aspects is fully as important and calls for immediate adjustment. It is hard to understand, therefore, how the enactment of the Farrell bill would be "pernicious." Upon the contrary, not to accord the benefits which would flow from the enactment of so reasonable and equitable a measure would be most intolerant and unprogressive.

For the Williamsburg Bridge Approach.

The Board of Estimate resumed consideration of the Delancey st extension matter on Friday, and passed a resolution recommending the opening of a new street from the Bowery, where Delancey st ends to Elm st, and taking in the triangular block between Elm, Marion and Spring sts for a plaza. This is supposed to complete the plans for the Williamsburgh Bridge approach, so far as this Board is concerned, and the matter now goes to the Board of Aldermen, where sharp opposition to the new street is expected. The new street will be 80 feet wide.

Some References to Legislation.

Senator Goodsell's railroad bill, the one which was called "mysterious," and which the Senator says was designed to encourage electric traction enterprises throughout the State, has been turned back to the railroad committee and mayhap buried. So indefinite was it that many viewed it as dangerous to public interest, and some metropolitan dailies furiously waved the red flag when they saw it coming; yet, Mr. Goodsell, and his friends for him, acquit the measure of all intention to harm anyone. Said one spokesman: "Senator Goodsell represents in the State Legislature two counties that are far behind almost all other counties of the State in the matter of trolley lines. The people of Orange and Rockland are anxious for electric railways and there are plenty of capitalists no less anxious to build them. But the present legislative enactments governing the promotion and construction of such railways, particularly the provision in relation to the consents of property owners, serve in many instances as an almost insurmountable obstacle to the carrying out of the most important enterprises. Senator Goodsell's bill embodies provisions essentially the same as those regulating trolley promotion in neighboring States, like New Jersey and Massachusetts, and its adoption will give a decided impetus to the building of electric railways without in any wise infringing upon the rights of the people."

Notwithstanding this sophistry, some of the things the Goodsell bill will do are these: Permit the use of four tracks in Amsterdam av. Confirm to the company rights in West st which are now disputed by the city. Validate proceedings in the creation of the Union Railway system in the Bronx which are now in dispute. Relieve the company of the obligation to observe the general provisions of the railroad law.

Assemblyman Everett has introduced a bill, which has been referred to the Committee on Cities, to amend Chapter 613 of the laws of 1896, entitled "An Act in relation to the widening and improvement of East 149th st from East River to Harlem River, providing for the raising of part of the expenses by assessment and part out of the fund known as 'the fund for street and park openings in said city,'" by providing that twenty-five instead of fifty per cent. of the costs shall be assessed upon "such lands, tenements, franchises, hereditaments and premises as shall be proportionately benefited." Objections must be fixed in writing within twenty days after the passage of this act.

Only opponents of the Mortgage Tax bill appeared at the joint committee hearing on Wednesday afternoon at Albany. Some very influential interests and associations were ably represented.

A bill is in the Legislature providing for the purchase by the city of the South Brooklyn and Manhattan ferry system, which, under the present management, is inadequate for the business. A delegation of the West End Board of Trade of South Brooklyn was in Albany yesterday urging the passage of the measure, which has the approval of Dock Commissioner Hawkes.

Sale of Bonds.

On Thursday, April 9, 1903, $2,500,000 New York city 3½% tax-exempt gold bonds (payable in 50 years) will be sold direct to investors. The bonds will be awarded to bidders offering the highest premium. For further information, see the advertisement of Comptroller Grout in another part of this paper.

Last fall when the architects of the New York Public Library erected an imitation of one of the white marble bays on the 5th av front, "to see how the real thing was going to look," the experiment was viewed and commented on with much interest. Architects cannot always know before hand exactly how their details will appear from a given distance, and sometimes they would much like to know. This was an innovation somewhat startling to the architectural world, but was, as the Architectural Record said, "so commendable an example that it seems likely to impose itself upon all owners and representatives of owners in charge of public and monumental architecture. Nay, so important is it," continued the commentator, "and so inexpensive in comparison with the results it ought to attain, that it would be no hardship for the prospective receiver of a commission upon millions to stand the cost of it himself." The satisfaction which the architects of the Library must have derived from the experiment were so apparent that another architect, Mr. Cass Gilbert, is following the example at the new Custom House, where a simulacrum of the white columns and entablature is being constructed for the purpose, as in the other instance, of enabling the designer to judge of his work.

To those who have never dodged the traffic of New York or London, an "Isle of Safety" conveys no special meaning or significance. But to make a long story short, said "Isle" is a resting-place in the middle of a thoroughfare where you can stop, rest your weary neck, swallow your heart, collect your other anatomy and proceed with caution to the other side of the street. —Southern Architect and Builder.

Material Market.

BLUESTONE.

The bluestone dealers see new reasons in the present labor situation for uniting in an association. Some time ago an effort was made to establish a bond throughout the trade, but it was found difficult to claim and hold general attention, and the society fell away. Now, with a different sentiment prevailing, a new combination, to be tangible and forceful, is germinating and will be heard from should any crisis arise in the trade.

The bluestone business is most active in the newer parts of the great city, where sidewalks are being laid for the first time, but there is more or less demand throughout the older sections also for a modest but necessary article.

Mr. A. D. Wands, general sales agent of the Hudson River Bluestone Company, remarked this week: "The present general condition of the market is very satisfactory. Stone is in good demand at an advance of from 5% to 10% over the prices of 1902, and we look forward to a busy season. Our prices for Sawed Bluestone are from $1.25 to $1.75 per cubic foot, according to sizes, and average about $1.50 per cubic ft. Promiscuous sizes of rough rock are 72c. per cubic foot, f. o. b., New York City, wholesale."

SECOND-HAND MATERIAL.

Leaders in this important line report a satisfactory opening of spring business, though not, on the whole, more intense than a year ago. Commonly it is said that but for the deterring influence raised by prophesies of general strikes on May Day, much more activity would now be manifested, and a larger number of mechanics would be employed. If there be a stronger call at the yards for one thing more than another, it is for lumber in good condition and in standard sizes. During the stress last fall for structural steel there was a persistent inquiry for second-hand shapes. The large yards seem to contain everything of lasting value necessary for the construction of a building, and can easily sell whatever is usable.

"We have more difficulty in getting the material than in selling it," remarked a large dealer. Another said that he endeavored to keep about three jobs, or contracts, for demolishing buildings, underway at the same time. In lumber, the material most frequently asked for is yellow pine timber, in sizes 12x12 and 10x10, together with hemlock joists. Last fall the material handlers organized a workingmen's union, but it was not recognized by the employers until the present month, and then not by all. Should no hindrance, financial or otherwise, arise, the dealers look forward to an exceptionally busy season.

LUMBER.

The winter just ended afforded abundant opportunity for handling lumber, and a good cut is the result of the season's work. There ought to be and unquestionably is a large stock in every necessary line; the word "shortage" ought not to be heard for several months at least. The worst drawback is expected in the department of transportation, on account of inadequate car service, but even this hindrance may not be so troublesome as last year, after all the endeavors to remedy it. Prices of course are ever tending upward. Local retailers report that trade for the past fortnight has been only fair, but still normal for this season of the year. Hardwoods are firm, though not especially active. Mahogany, quartered oak and poplar are firm at the highest prices quoted, when first quality is asked for.

BRICK.

A cursory view of the labor situation in this market gives the impression that peace reigns between the shippers of brick and the New York handlers' union. Though the barges arrive with full cargoes, the city handlers are permitted to put one of their number on each boat, to be paid whether he works or not. The manufacturers have thought best to yield to this imposition, but it may not be for long. Our information is that within a short time action will be taken that will test the power of walking delegates to lay their commands upon the brick industry.

In enforcing their rules the delegates frequently turn back truckmen coming to the boats for brick, and insist that the loads shall be carried in trucks selected by them. Rather than have work stopped at buildings and heavy losses brought upon contractors through their act, the manufacturers are enduring these tribulations. But one of them said this week:

"I find a general sentiment among employers in the building trades that the limit has been reached, and that they should resist further exactions at the proper time. For the present they wish to complete contracts now in hand without risking their fortunes, but before assuming new obligations they intend to have an understanding with the unions."

Bricks are in large supply, not only because of the suspension of work on many buildings, a consequence of the strike against the American Bridge Company, but also because of heavy shipments from the upper Hudson. Millions of bricks have accumulated in the market, but the manufacturers fancy there will be no over-supply when the full tide of business returns.

MACHINERY AND HARDWARE.

Machinery merchants and manufacturers, who had their doubts about the continuation of the fast business pace that has been set, now look for at least another year of it. Just at the moment contracts can probably be made to better advantage than will appear again this year, and engineers who have been conservative during the winter are said to be advising their clients to proceed with their plans for large works.

At the recent meeting of the New York Retail Hardware Association it was generally admitted that Builders' Hardware is the cornerstone of every hardware establishment in the country, from the biggest jobbing house down to the smallest shop. A merchant may not have in his store a variety of other things, but he must have Builders' Hardware. "Granting that," remarked a member, Mr. Henry R. Towne, of the Yale & Towne Mfg. Co.: "I think it is also a fact—and I say it to my sorrow—that Builders' Hardware is the most complex, troublesome and difficult line that the hardware dealer has to deal with. Speaking from the standpoint of the manufacturer, I can testify it is a business of infinite detail, and the detail is getting worse every year. A line which, in the large cities, both in the retail and jobbing houses, demands and receives the active attention of at least one expert, who is thought to have done his full duty if he can master the detail and complexity of this one part of the hardware business."

Mr. Towne's remarks in regard to ornamental hardware were particularly interesting. In part he said: "Of late the ornamental metalwork included in what we call Builders' Hardware has become a really important feature in the matter of decoration. That being the case, the man who builds a house, even if it is a modest one, costing only $5,000 or $6,000, and still more if it costs $10,000, $15,000 or $20,000, wants to have good hardware in it. Now, how is he going to get it? In the large cities he goes to one of the large retail establishments, and possibly can see in that establishment an exhibit room, sometimes as large as this room we are in, and containing a multitude of examples of the fine hardware of one or two or half a dozen makers, supplemented by the catalogues of all, from which he can intelligently select what he or his wife or both, or their architect, wants, and the thing is done. It then becomes the duty of the builder to see that the goods so selected are furnished in the right quantity and at the right time.

"But I know from experience, and have seen the thing growing for the last three or four years, that the same kind of demand is beginning to arise in places so small as to not make it reasonable or feasible for the local dealer to maintain an exhibit room, still less a stock from which to supply goods of this kind, and to enable the customer to purchase from it. Now, gentlemen, I ask what is going to happen under these conditions? How is that want going to be filled? The man will not go without his hardware; he is not going to take what his local dealer may want to sell him; sooner or later he is going to have what he wants. And here arises a question which interests me as a manufacturer. The logical, convenient and proper mode of procedure would be for that retail dealer to cater to his customer and assist him in getting what he wants. I assume that would be the disposition of all of you, for example, if the case I am stating should arise in your own business. But how are you going to do it? Some of you, perhaps, have not got the equipment or samples which would be required, and it is hardly probable that many of you have had so extensive an experience in this particular and newly-developed field as to be able to furnish all the information that is needed. You have got to get from some source that information, probably some assistance with it, and also such samples and goods as the case requires. I have put this case repeatedly to our jobbing friends and asked them what is going to be done under such circumstances. I have predicted that unless the jobber takes care of his legitimate customer—I am speaking now of a retail hardware establishment, whose location and business is not of a kind which makes it feasible, convenient or expedient to deal direct with the manufacturer and who buys, therefore, chiefly through the jobber—he will force the retailer, who is at present a friend and customer, and who desires to transact this part of his business through his jobbing connection, to go over the head of the jobber direct to the manufacturer."

The retail hardware trade throughout the State is not in the best condition, reports say, as building is not what it should be in the smaller cities and towns. Yet, there is a large volume of business in miscellaneous lines, and prices are at a high level.

LEADING ENTERPRISES OF THE WEEK IN NEW YORK CITY AND STATE, NEW JERSEY AND CONNECTICUT—HINTS FOR BUILDERS, CONTRACTORS AND DEALERS IN MATERIALS.

Tunnel Company's Purchases.

There have been numerous announcements of the properties purchased by the Hudson and Manhattan Railroad Co., but from an authoritative source we learn that they have secured the three block fronts on the west side of Church st, from Liberty to Fulton st. The individual parcels are as follows: Nos. 107 and 109 Liberty st; for the former they paid about $125,000; for No. 109 and the small strip fronting on Church st, Jefferson M. Levy got about $250,000, though it cost him something less than $100,000 in 1890, about the time the Havemeyer Building was erected, on the south side of Cortlandt st.

Nos. 29 and 31 have been sold, the latter by S. F. Benton and another; on the north side of the same street. Nos. 28 and 30, the former sold for about $275,000, and No. 30 for $150,000. Mr. Kennedy paid $105,000 for it in 1901. He has just purchased No. 33, on the south side, for $125,000; on Dey st Nos. 33 to 37 are included also. No. 32 Church st, Nos. 33 and 35 Dey are sold by Jefferson M. Levy for $250,000. They cost him $115,000. On the north side of Dey st, Nos 32 and 34, are sold by the Tuckerman estate, for about $200,000, and No. 36 brought $50,000. On Fulton st, Nos. 190 to 194 are included in the transaction. The Vail estate sells Nos. 192 and 194 for $90,000, and the Tuckerman estate No. 190, the corner for $75,000.

These are all the properties that have been secured for the terminal, and it is said all that will be wanted. The plans at present contemplate running the tunnel under Cortlandt st, with the stations both north and south of that street. There have been numerous other purchases in the vicinity, and all the property that was for sale in the block bounded by Church and Greenwich, Dey and Fulton sts, has changed hands. Horace S. Ely & Co. were the brokers for the tunnel company, whose purchases amount to about $1,850,000. It might be of interest to add that there is still a small parcel to be secured between Liberty and Cortlandt sts. Mr. Levy owned a plot fronting 35 feet on Liberty st, with a frontage on Church st of 117 feet. If published reports are correct, he has only sold 35x100; this would leave him a piece with a frontage of 17 feet on Church st about 3 feet on the southerly end and 2.11 on the northerly end, right in front of the southeast corner of Cortlandt st, and may be the only piece which the company still wants.

St. Peter's German Evangelical Lutheran Church.

LEXINGTON AV.—F. A. Minuth, 289 4th av, is preparing plans for a new church to be erected on the southeast corner of Lexington av and 54th st for the congregation of St. Peter's German Evangelical Lutheran Congregation, now located on the southwest corner of Lexington av and 46th st. The edifice will be 60x80, will contain cellar, basement or Sunday-School room, main auditorium, with seating capacity for 600 people and a gallery. The principal exterior feature will be a corner tower 130 feet in height. The new church will be entirely fireproof, having a skeleton construction of steel, walls of limestone, with granite base, and a roof of dark slate, with ornamental work of dark copper. The design is in the modern Gothic style. The floor will be of tile, the aisles laid with locking rubber tiles, and the chancel in mosaic stonework. The woodwork will be of quartered oak and the windows memorial stained glass ones. It is estimated that the cost will be not less than $100,000. Mr. Minuth also designed and built St. Paul's German Evangelical Lutheran Church, at Nos. 313-315 West 22d st.

A String of New Restaurants.

MAIDEN LANE.—Lipton's Red Lion Inn (incorporated), headed by Oscar M. Lipton, Nos. 135-137 Broadway, who have leased the 4-sty building at No. 83 Maiden lane, will make extensive alterations to the premises and open an English chop house on the ground floor. The building will also contain the company's offices, and a bottling department, besides an extra big kitchen. The company have also leased the following: Two floors of No. 42 Broadway, three floors of U. S. Arcade, at Fulton and Pearl sts; one floor on Graham Building, on the northwest corner of Church and Duane sts; the northeast corner of the basement in the Maritime Building, at Church and Whitehall sts; a space, 26x77, in the basement of the new Whitehall Building, on Battery Park. Possession will be acquired May 1. Restaurants on the Red Lion Inn plan will be opened in each of these places. Henry Ives Cobb, architect, No. 133 Broadway, has been commissioned to design the interior of No. 42 Broadway. It will be something new and original. Samples of Philippine and Cuban woods have been submitted for selection. Mr. Lipton states that Mr. Cobb will probably be the architect for all his new restaurants.

For plans filed see pages 621 and 639.

New Hospital Building.

16TH ST.—W. Wheeler Smith and Westervelt & Austin, architects, No. 7 Wall st, have filed plans for a 6-sty brick scarlet fever hospital, 140x61, for the City of New York, to be erected on the north side of 16th st, 607 feet east of Av C. The new structure will be entirely fireproof, and the second hospital in the city to have the entire floor-space laid with tiles. It is planned to accommodate 250 patients. Ample sun-parlors will be provided, and the roof-space not occupied by tanks, etc., may be enclosed and used for this purpose. The building will contain the latest appliances for heating, planned by Wm. J. Baldwin, civil engineer, lighting and for plumbing. It will be thoroughly equipped with children's baths. A special feature is the ventilation, no flue having communication with any other. The wards are so planned that each may be shut off from the rest of the building and all have access to an outside, enclosed staircase. No contracts have been awarded as yet, and the city will receive all estimates when the plans have been approved by the Building Department. The cost is estimated at $350,000.

"Newhall" Vault Light (Braun's Patent).—With this construction any size or shape of opening can be covered without the expense and delay of making special castings. It embodies all the necessary requirements to perfect vault lighting, viz.: strength to sustain heavy loads, greatest possible lighting surface, and neatness in appearance. The steel construction is formed of two Z-bars attached to opposite sides of the opening, which support the 60-degree angles. Across these angles are laid the steel strips, and the special prisms are then placed in position. This leaves a trough on each side of the prisms, which is filled with concrete, forming a smooth surface with the top of the glasses. This vault light is furnished either with or without the Universal Safety Tread; strips of the safety tread placed between the glasses, make a secure and safe footing on inclined sidewalks, or where there is heavy traffic. In bad weather most vault lights afford a very insecure and dangerous footing; but by use of the safety tread, this objectionable feature is eliminated. They are furnished and set by the New Jersey Foundry and Machine Co., 9 to 15 Murray st, New York.

A prominent retail lumber dealer, at a recent gathering of the trade, gave a touch of sadness to the occasion by expressing his profound conviction that the destinies of each dealer in lumber were still directed by that old and inexorable law of "the survival of the fittest." ## Ornamental Projections.

The following are the essential provisions of the ordinance in respect to ornamental projections passed by the Board of Aldermen last week:

Section 1. The Borough Presidents and the Park Commissioners having jurisdiction shall, subject to the restrictions of this ordinance, issue permits for the construction of ornamental projections which project beyond the building line, provided in the opinion of the officer having jurisdiction no injury will come to the public thereby. Permits for the construction of such projections, lying within any park, square, or public place, or within a distance of three hundred and fifty feet from the outer boundaries thereof, shall be issued by the Park Commissioner having juricdiction, as provided in section 612 of the charter, as amended by section 1, chapter 723, of the laws of 1901. Permits for the erection of all other ornamental projections shall be issued by the Borough President having jurisdiction.

For the purposes of this ordinance "an ornamental projection" shall be taken to mean and include all decorative projections on the face of a building beyond the building line, in the nature of porches, porticos, columns, pillars, pilasters, window sills, trims, lintels, cornices, gables, statuary carvings, bas reliefs, etc., which are erected purely for the enhancement of the beauty of the building from an artistic standpoint.

Sec. 2. Before the erection of any such ornamental projections shall be commenced, the owner of the building, or his duly authorized agent, shall make application in writing to the said Borough President or Park Commissioner having jurisdiction, on suitable blanks furnished by him, for the permit herein provided for, and shall file a plan and drawings showing the nature of the proposed ornament, with the dimensions thereof, the number of stories through which it is intended to be carried, and the number of square feet of area covered by that portion of the ornamentation projecting beyond the building line.

Each application shall be accompanied by the amount of compensation due the city for the privilege of erecting said ornamentation, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 3. Each application for the erection of an ornamental projection, which projects more than one foot beyond the building line, shall be accompanied by a certified copy of the last assessed valuation of the property, on which said ornamental projection is to be erected, which appears upon the books of the Department of Taxes and Assessments. Except as hereinafter provided, the amount that shall be paid as a compensation to the city for the privilege of erecting each ornamental projection, shall be, for each and every square foot or fraction thereof of area, beyond the building line, for each and every story through which it is carried, covered by said ornamental projection, at the rate of ten per cent. per square foot of the assessed value of the property on which the said ornamental projection is to be erected.

If such ornamental projection does not go more than one foot beyond the building line, and it is not carried higher than the sill of the second-story windows, then the rate throughout the city of New York shall be ten cents for each square foot or fraction thereof of horizontal area covered by said ornamental projection beyond the building line.

Sec. 4. Ornamental projections which shall extend not more than two feet beyond the building line, may hereafter be erected on buildings in the Borough of Manhattan situated on Broadway to the south of 59th st.; on 14th st., between Broadway and 6th av.; on 23d st., between 3d and 6th avs.; on 34th st., between 3d and 9th avs.; on 59th st., between 3d and 9th avs., and on 5th av., between 14th and 59th sts.; and on all other streets ornamental projections may be erected, provided they shall extend not more than one-fifteenth part of the width of the street they are upon, nor in any case more than four feet beyond the building line.

Sec. 5. The permits mentioned herein shall be issued in duplicate, one of which will be retained by the applicant, and kept at the building during the erection of the projection, and the other shall be filed by him with the plans for the building in the Bureau of Buildings. If it shall appear upon completion that the ornamental projection occupies a greater number of square feet, or has been carried through a greater number of stories than shall have been paid for, the applicant shall pay twice the sum previously paid for each square foot of area occupied by said projection, over and above the number of square feet paid for originally; but in no case shall said ornamental projection exceed the limit allowed by law.

Sec. 6. Permits granted pursuant to the provisions of this ordinance are revocable permits, and shall have the following clause printed thereon, viz.: "This permit is issued subject to revocation thereof, at any time hereafter by the Board of Aldermen of the city of New York, upon the recommendation of the officer having jurisdiction, when the space occupied by said ornamental projection or any portion thereof, may be required for any public improvement, or upon any violation of any of the terms or conditions upon which this permit is issued." A permit for the erection of an ornamental projection shall be deemed to have expired when such projection is taken down, and the space formerly occupied thereby shall no longer be used for the purpose for which the permit was issued, unless a permit for its reconstruction shall have been granted, as provided in section 8 of this ordinance. In case it is thereafter desired to erect an ornamental projection on the said property, the applicant shall comply with all of the provisions of this ordinance.

Sec. 7. Permits as hereinbefore described, and subject to the conditions therein attached, may be issued to the owners of all buildings having ornamental projections, which buildings have been erected or are being erected, and have ornamental projections thereon beyond the building line, without any authorization therefor.

Rights of Pier Lessees.

When it is understood that Senator Platt and Senator Depew, as well as Governor Odell, are stockholders in the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, a clearer and more amusing view of the matter now uppermost in the Dock Department is obtained. Governor Odell asked Commissioner Hawkes to recommend to the Sinking Fund Commission that the existing lease by the steamboat company of Pier 24, N. R., be cancelled and a new lease made, which, with renewal privileges attached, would be equivalent to a lease for a combined term of 26 years. The Governor is evidently afraid that some other company may bid the lease away from the Central-Hudson, and he thinks, or did think, that now is the accepted time.

A curious feature is that it was Senator Platt's favorite metropolitan newspaper, The Sun, which disclosed the proceeding to the public last Saturday; and another interesting, but less curious, circumstance is that Comptroller Grout cannot find any reason why he should support it or permit it to pass. You see the position, as they say in checkers. The Governor is a king checker, but Senator Platt blocks his game by publicly calling Comptroller Grout's attention. It has until now been supposed that Senator Platt was a very large stockholder in the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, but apparently his interest there is of less consequence than his political rivalry with the Governor himself. The steamboat Company's fears that it may be dislodged from the pier at the foot of Franklin st by a wealthier corporation, as for instance a transatlantic line, or possibly a great railroad company, have a substantial basis, and other steamboat companies are of the same mind. Ever since steamboats were invented the Hudson River boats have been discharging and receiving their cargoes at or near their present piers, and such long-established commercial connections as this represents cannot be ruptured without serious injury being done, not to speak of injustice. The milk, fruit, produce, meat and manufacturing business of the Hudson valley, which these little steamboat lines serve, should not be lost sight of by the city authorities; but in the natural course of events the great steamship and railroad corporations will acquire what they desire and the domestic river lines will have to be content with such landing places as may be left, which in the course of time are certain to be remote from their present desirable piers.

Obituary.

To many followers of the building trades the name of Albert G. Bogert is yet familiar. A generation ago he was getting no small share of the cream of the construction work here, but the closing years of his life were spent in pleasant leisure at Nyack, to which village he retired on quitting active business. His prominence in building is indicated by the statement that he built for A. T. Stewart the store now occupied by John Wanamaker, on Broadway, and also the Stewart mansion, at 5th av and 34th st. A year ago Mr. Bogert reviewed his business life in a conversation with the writer, and on being asked what advice he would give a young builder, he said: "Always do good work. I was unable to do any other kind, and when that became somewhat known I had all I could do, and I got the price of good work." Mr. Bogert related a number of instances where he was favored over other contractors because of his skill, and, as we fancy, his integrity. He was at the last a fine-looking white-crowned gentleman, an honor to his calling. The news report says that he was a member and former president of the Mechanics' and Traders' Association, a trustee, and for years treasurer of the Northern Dispensary, a director in the Greenwich Bank, a trustee of the Irving Savings Bank, and a member of the Holland Society. He is survived by a widow.

Questions and Answers.

AN EXORBITANT CLAIM FOR PLUMBING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have a house in Floral Park, Long Island, which I rent to a tenant. The water pump got out of order. I called in a plumber in the neighborhood to repair same. He said it was not much to do; it would take about one or two days at most. It was mostly laborer's work, as it wanted washers. He sends me a bill for seventy dollars. Now the pump cost me fifty dollars, labor and all, new. His bill is twenty dollars more than I can have it put in new. As I know this is an extortion I would ask you what you would advise me to do about it?

Answer.—Tender the plumber the amount which you think is reasonable for the work he has done. If he refuses to accept it, refuse to pay him anything; then if he sues you, you can put in the defense that the bill is exorbitant and that you have tendered what the work was worth.—Law Editor.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following: A employs B, who is a broker, to sell her house, naming price in the authorization, $6,750. C comes along and offers $6,400, which A accepts. Contracts are drawn and signed and deposit put up by C. A now refuses to sell, wanting $6,500 Is B entitled to his commission? Even that A does not sign a contract.

RESTRICTIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

You will favor me by giving an answer to the following questions: The deed for a certain piece of property contains a restriction, prohibiting the establishment of a butcher shop thereon. A (the owner) leases the property to B for a term of years. B rents part, by the month to C, to use as a butcher shop, B not mentioning the fact of the restriction. Subsequently C is compelled by law to remove. Can C hold B responsible? Is a monthly tenant expected by law to know the character of the title of the property rented?

Answer.—(1) Yes. (2) No.—Law Editor.

TRESPASS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

As a regular subscriber of your valuable paper for 17 years, I beg of you to answer the following question: Has the Rapid Transit Company the legal right to put a 30-inch gas main in an area (which, as I understand, every property-owner has a right to build for the purpose of obtaining light to his basement) tight against your building, thereby taking away this light, and seriously decreasing the value of the property? No doubt they can take away all vaults, but does this also apply to an area?

Answer.—This seems to be of the same class of unauthorized trespass as was recently abated in Bryant Park by the Commissioner of Parks.—Law Editor.

Masters and Men.

Through the estrangement of the ironworkers from the American Bridge Company, work is suspended to a greater or less extent on some thirty large buildings, including the 58th st power house and the two big hotels in 42d st. Not all the structures referred to are being erected by this company, but their iron is being used in all. The disinclination of the housesmiths to work prevents mechanics of some other trades from working, and thus it is that many bricklayers are idle and brick accumulates at the usual receiving points on the water front. Evidence is multiplying, however, that the strikers are weakening; they have not only asked for a conference, but in other places are assaulting the men that have gone to work for the company. The sympathy of all building contractors and material men is strongly with the American Bridge Company in this fight, for it is believed that if the company wins out other employers will not be molested for the rest of the year.

The labor strain throughout Westchester County, where both masters and men have comprehensive organizations, continues with the probability of general strikes next week. The demand of the workmen is for an eight-hour day, with increased pay and Saturday half holiday. The scale demanded by the men calls for $4 a day for plumbers, $4.20 for lathers, $3.60 for carpenters, $3.28 for painters, $4.20 for bricklayers, masons and plasterers, $3.28 for tinners, and $17 a week for bench men and men employed in running wood-working machinery. The employers have offered 50 per cent. of the advance, and the men have refused it. Among the towns affected are Yonkers, White Plains, Mount Vernon, New Rochelle, Port Chester and also Greenwich and Stamford.

The Granite Cutters' Union has secured an advance of from $4 to $4.50 for an eight-hour workday. By the terms of the agreement, the advance goes into effect at once. The stone business was marred considerably last year by strikes and delays, but the prospects for this year are much better.

The movement to widen Broadway, Flushing, from Main st to the Flushing Bridge, is being strongly opposed. George W. Pople, president of the Flushing Business Men's Association, says that when the petition asking for the improvement was circulated the signatures were obtained under the belief that the expense would be borne by the city at large. Counsellor C. A. S. Van Nostrand says the improvement will not benefit property owners nor beautify the street. Borough President Cassidy insists that, while the widening will not be a direct benefit to property owners, the improvement is necessary as an approach to the new bridge over Flushing Creek recently decided upon. It is understood, however, that he yields to the popular opinion and will endeavor to have the cost assessed upon the whole city.

Employment in the building trades, in England, generally is dull, and on the whole shows little change as compared with the previous month, but is worse than a year ago. From this an increase of immigration from the British Isles is to be expected. On Monday night a train of fourteen cars, "all English immigrants," as was said, left Weehawken, N. J., by the West Shore road, for western points.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed whereln all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenants against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, whereln, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is located in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description o fthe property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

March 20, 21, 23, 24, 25 and 26.

[1]Editor Record and Guide:

The three mechanics' liens filed hy the Hecla Iron Works against the premlses No. 476 Broadway, for $44,435; Nos. 84 to 90 Fifth Avenue, for $38,675, and Nos. 130 and 132 Fifth Avenue, for $37,432, I wish to state that these are contested claims. I have offered to pay the Hecla Iron Works every dollar due them, under our contracts, only asking that they make good to me part of my actual losses chargeable to them. They have rejected my proposition, insisting that I comply with their demands, under penalty of having liens filed. I have, therefore, decided to assert my rights under the contracts, and to let the proper tribunal decide the dispute.

HENRY CORN.

[2]Editor Record and Guide:

Lien filed by Wm. H. Boyes against Lorenz Weiher on 330 W. 95th st. property was for amount of work which was left unfinished by Wm. H. Boyes and finished up hy the Ideal Electric Contracting Co. according to the rules of the Dept. of Water, Gas and Electric Supply. Said amount of lien was paid to the Ideal Electric Contracting Co. LORENZ WEIHER, SR.

Editor Real Estate Record and Guide:

Referring to the various liens filed against premises Nos. 27 to 31 East 29th Street and 28 to 32 East 30th Street, The Woman's Hotel Company, owners, The Louis Weher Building Company, contractors, we would say that the lien of William Craig is for a contested claim for extra work, which matter had apparently been adjusted satisfactorily, when a lien was filed by him without further notice and which course precipitated the others. Some of these latter claims have been and others are being satisfied now. In the Craig matter we simply asserted our rights under a contract with him and intend to abide strictly by its legal construction.

The Permeability of Concrete Under High Water Pressures

There has been very little information published upon the degree of permeability of concrete when subjected to high pressures, and that which has appeared in the greater part of the technical papers contains much that is uncertain on account of the lack of admitted methods. Just recently, however, some experiments have been carried out at the Thayer Institute, United States Civil Engineering Department, which contain much that is of interest and of value. Two brands of cement, described in the specification as Nos. 1 and 2, were used in the experiments, No. 1 being a Portland cement and No. 2 a brand very highly lauded by its manufacturers, on account of its impermeability. The test cylinders were manufactured so as to contain 30, 35, 40, or 45 per cent. of mortar, this last having a composition which varied according to the proportion of sand contained in it, namely—one, two or three volumes of sand. Each cylinder was prepared in duplicate, and in addition to this cylinders of No. 1 brand were prepared with the proportions 1:2:4, 1:2.5:4, and 1:2.5:5. In all, fifty-six cylinders were tested. The gravel and sand were of the best quality obtainable in the neighborhood. The sand was passed through a riddle and gave 36 per cent. void. The gravel contained 33 per cent. void, and the largest stones had a diameter of about 1 inch. The size of the test cylinders was: height, 229 millimetres (9 1-6 inches nearly), and with a diameter of 254 millimetres (10 1-10 inches nearly). The end of a pipe 19 millimetres long (¾ inch), placed vertically upon the axis of the cylinder, had its extremity embedded at a depth of 102 millimetres (4 inches), thus leaving around the end of the pipe 127 millimetres (about 5 1-6 inches) of concrete. A rundle screwed into the bottom of the pipe prevented the water from rising the entire length of this latter. The greatest care was exercised in the manufacture of the cylinders. After having been moulded, they were allowed to remain under a damp cover for twenty-four hours, then they were taken from the moulds and placed in water for a month before being subjected to the tests proper. The cylinders were withdrawn from the water twenty-four hours before being tested, so that they might drain and dry thoroughly. By using the town water supply pressures of 1 kg. .406; 2 kg. .812; and 5 kg. .624 per square centimetre (19.3 lbs., 38.6 lbs., and 77.3 lbs. per square inch) were obtained. The test lasted for two hours. All the cylinders were weighed before and after testing in a vacuum balance, in order to prove the quantity of water absorbed or infiltrated. It was proven in the tests that certain mixtures were impermeable under certain pressures, namely, 1.406 kg. to 5.624 kg. per square centimetre, and also that all the cylinders in which the mortar was composed of one volume of cement to one of sand, the proportion of the mortar in the mixture being 30, 35, 40, and 45 per cent. of the whole, were impermeable, while even a certain number of the cylinders containing mortar composed of one volume cement and two of sand, in the proportion of from 40 to 45 per cent. of the mixture, gave similar results. Finally, the cylinders made up in the proportions of 1:2:4 and 1:2.5:4 resisted all infiltration. As a pressure of 5.624 kg. per square centimetre corresponds to a load of water having an area of 56.24 metres (61¼ yards nearly), and the thickness of the concrete offering the resistance to the infiltration was only 127 millimetres (5 1-6 inches), one may conclude that this test is sufficient to prove that all concrete having a similar composition will offer the required resistance to filtration in practice.

A Peculiar Property of Plastic Clay.

One of the properties of plastic or ordinary clay—such as is used in the manufacture of bricks—of which very little mention is made is that it will lose its cohesive properties if dried sufficiently to remove nearly all its moisture, and then if water is afterwards applied to it in considerable quantities will become almost liquid mud. On the other hand, clay which has not been so dried will not absorb more water, and will lose some of its outside particles only in washing.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P M.." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.
